Nixon Is Mentioned As GOP Nominee If Ike Dosen't Run But Many Leaders Undecided

By DONALD SANDERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Great indecision exists among professional Republican party workers over who would be the GAP's strongest candidate next year if President Eisenhower elects to return to private life.

Vice President Nixon was mentioned far more frequently than any other GOP figure by state Republican chairmen, national committeemen and national committeewomen reached by The Associated Press.

But almost two thirds of those replying to a questionnaire either declined to name a "strongest candidate" other than Eisenhower or mentioned from two to half a dozen men whom they termed equally good.

This uncertainty cannot be considered unusual. It was only five days ago that Eisenhower suffered a heart attack and thus set many party leaders to thinking for the first time about an alternaive.

Many Won't Speculate

Many of the 116 party leaders reached declined to speculate on a presidential nominee next year, if Eisenhower does not run, even though it was understood they would not be quoted by name if they did not wish to be.

Twenty-three named Nixon as being currently the strongest possible standard bearer next to Eisenhower. Some said he had gained this stature by his own efforts; others indicated they regard him as a logical successor now because of his position as vice president.

But 74 party leaders declined to voice any opinion, and 10 more mentioned up to a half a dozen possible candidates as strong, without ranking them in any order. more of those in the latter category included Nixon; several did not.

Others designed as the "strongest candidate" by two or more party officials were Chief Justice Earl Warren, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Milton S. Eisenhower; one each mentioned Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. William F. Knowland of California.

Similarly inconclusive were the party officials' replies to the question: "Do you believe Eisenhower should run again?"

More or less firmly, 5 said he should and 12 said he should not. The vast majority said he should if physicians tell him he is sound and would not be endangering his health.

USSR MAINTAINS SILENCE ON ARMS FOR EGYPT ISSUE

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union kept silent Wednesday toward an American-Britishrequest that the Communists help in limiting the sale of heavy arms to Egypt and the Middle East.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan broached the issue to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at dinner here last night following Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's announcement that Red Czchoslovakia had agreed to swap such arms for Egyptian rice and cotton.

Dulles and Macmillan repeated to Molotov their desire, expressed in a statement earlier Tuesday, "to avoid an arms race which would inevitably increase the tensions" in the Middle East. In their statement they added the hope that other governments would be guided by the same aim.

The Soviet foreign minister did not comment, other than to say he would communicate the U.S.-British view to Moscow.

Pointing up the specter of an arms race, Israel's ambassador to Washington, Abba Eban, hinted to newsmen there that his government might ask for U.S. weapons if Egypt gets the Red arms.

In their statement Dulles and Macmillan in essence said they want Middle Eastern countries to have sufficient arms to keep order at home and repel aggression from abroard—but not enough to disturb the Arab-Israeli balance of power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that Americans are smoking more cigarettes now that, in its view, the "main impact" of the cigarettes-health controversy apparently has passed.

Reporting on "the tobacco situation," the department said Americans 15 years of age and over will smoke an average of nearly 10 pounds of tobacco in cigarettes during 1955.

That would represent a 1.2 per cent increase over last year but fall 4.8 per cent shy of the 1953 figure—a record.

Grow basil in a pot on your kitchen window. Keep the soil moist and pinch off the small leaves so the herb will "spread." Basil is, of course, a must for tomato sauce; it is also delectable in green salads and in vegetable soups. If you use it in the soup, mince it and add at the moment before serving.

GOP'S DISLIKE FEE INCREASE FOR VEHICLES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republicans reacted cooly Wednesday to Gov. Leader's highway program, calling for increases in license fees of passenger automobiles and light trucks.

Chairman Wade (R—Cumberland) of the Senate Highways Committee said he favored increasing state aid for local roads from 36 million dollars to a biennium to 60 millions, but added:

"I'm not too sure that there is a need for increasing the fees for passenger automobiles and light trucks by as much as the governor asked."

Questions Figures

Rep. Smith, House Republican floor leader, questioned Leader's use of figures in his message to the Legislature Tuesday.

"Gov. Leader must give the Legislature accurate and honest information before he can ask for bipartisan support for his highway program."

The governor asked for:

1. Increased registration fee for Pennsylvania's 3 million passenger cars by $5 a year to $15.

2. Boost light truck registration fees from $16.50 to $20 for one-ton vehicles (R license tags); from $26 to $30 for 1½ ton (S); $35 to $40 for 2-ton (T). These trucks would be allowed heavier loads, (R) from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds; S, from 7,000 to 8,000 pounds and T from 11,000 to 12,000 pounds.

3. Increase the biennial allocation to municipalities for local road construction and maintenance from 36 million dollars a biennium to 6 millions.

4. Boost the borrowing capacity of the Highway and Bridge Authority from its present limit of 80 million dollars to meet whatever increased fund-matching requirements is set up by the federal government.

Under the Leader program introduced in the form of legislation in the House Tuesday night, the Authority would be able to borrow approximately an additional 23 million dollars in the next two years.

STRAWBERRY SYRUP

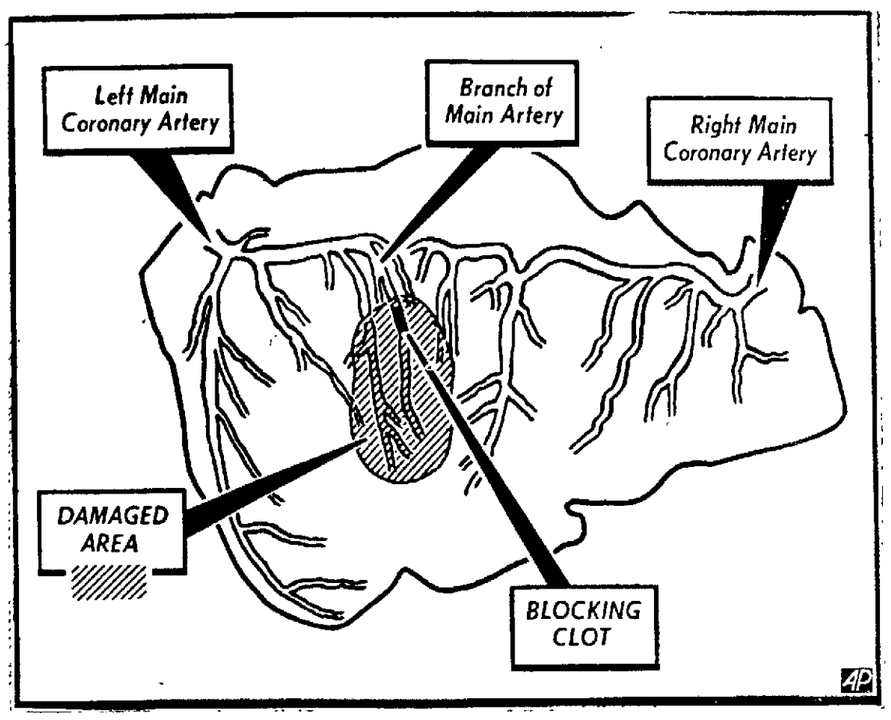

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—The nurse on duty at the University of Connecticut infirmary jumped to her feet when a student walked in, his white shirt splotched with red.

"What's wrong?" she cried.

"I'd like to have this sliver removed," the student said, holding out his hand. He explained the red on his shirt was strawberry syrup. He works in an ice cream shop.

If you have a swivel-blade vegetable parer that is razor-sharp, you can make attractive carrot fancies for a salad garnish. Pare the carrots and cut paper-thin lengthwise slices from them; refrigerate the slices, covered with iced water. The carrot slices will curl up into attractive shapes after a while and may be drained and used. Besides being used atop a salad, they are also attractive perched over black olives in a glass bowl.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A THROMBOSIS HITS

This is a simplified sketch of the human heart as it would appear if cut down the middle and folded outward—to show what happens when a coronary thrombosis occurs. In this case the blood clot, known as the thrombus, has formed in a branch of one of the main arteries. Like a plug, it has stopped the flow of blood to the heart. Shaded area represents the possible size of an area in the main heart wall which could be damaged because it has been deprived of its blood supply. (AP Wirephoto)

Hoover Commission Expires On Keynote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover Commission, whose keynote was economy in government, went out of existence Wednesday on a consistent note. It returned $83,000 in unspent funds to the Treasury.

During its two-year life, the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, received $2,848,534 from congress to finance its search for ways to streamline federal operations and cut expenditures.

The commission actually halted its work by law last June 30, but it was given another 90 days for liquidation chores. That time was up Wednesday.

OPERATE ON ACTRESS

BOSTON (AP)—Stage actress Katharine Cornell is scheduled to undergo an operation today for the partial removal of a lung lobe.

She entered New England Deaconess Hospital yesterday where her physician, Dr. Richard H. Overholt, described the ailment as a "small, chronic lung abscess."

The hospital said she will be able to fulfill a planned November tour.

WILSON STALLS ARMED SERVICE EXPENSE CUTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson was reported Wednesday to have concluded after a new survey that it would be militarily unwise for the armed services to cut their spending any further this year.

Informants said Wilson had assured Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes that the Defense Department would continue every effort — "look under every log" for more economy, as Humphrey has asked all government departments to do.

But they said the Pentagon chief also informed the administration's fiscal leaders that the only way savings approaching a billion dollars could be brought about in the military establishment would be by:

1. Cutting down the numerical armed forces strength, called the "force level."

2. Reducing contracts for planes, ships and other weapons and equipment, or

3. Through a combination of both.

Marie Dionne Will Enter Convent Again

QUEBEC (AP)—Marie Dionne, one of the quintuplets, is back at the Roman Catholic convent she left 16 months ago.

Authorities at the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament said Marie, now 21, had been permitted to return Sept. 12 as a novice instead of starting again as a postulant. She also resumed her religious name, Sister Marie-Rachel.

She first entered the convent in November 1953 but left in May 1954 because of poor health and extreme homesickness. She cannot become a permanent member of the order until she has served as a novice for two years.

Russia Is Given Warnings To Stay Out Of Arms Race To Win Middle East Favor

By A. J. GOLDBERG

NEW YORK (AP)—Two strong warnings by the West to Russia on Berlin and Middle East arms stood out today as the most significant outcome of the Big Three foreign ministers' meetings here.

A caution to stay out of an arms race for Middle East favor and stern notice that Russia's recognition of East Germany does not relieve her of responsibility for the Soviet zone of Germany proved, one authoritative informant said, "that we are not being lulled by words about the spirit of Geneva.

"When one party at Geneva by its acts starts muddling up tensions all over again, in other quarters, then the spirit of Geneva is being violated and we must say something about it," he added.

Outline Big Four Talks

The U.S., British and French foreign ministers concluded their talks yesterday on the framework for the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva beginning Oct. 27. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed readily to procedural details in private talks and at social meetings with his Western counterparts.

He even promised to tell his government of British and U.S. displeasure over reports that the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia figure in deals on arms for Egypt—arms the Egyptians said they could not get from the West because of excessive conditions they said the West demanded.

There were later reports that the Russians have offered to supply Saudi Arabia with arms.

Plans Other Issues

But on his side Molotov has served notice that he may ask the Big Four meeting in Geneva to agree to take up other questions besides the ones set for the ministers by President Eisenhower, Premier Bulganin, Prime Minister Eden and Premier Faure at the summit meeting in July.

A hint of that showed last night when the Soviet foreign minister talked with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan for an hour and 25 minutes in a meeting requested by Molotov, and opened up the question of pushing an election to unify Indochina.

Western sources also fully expect the Russians to demand a seat at the council table for East Germany—which the Ruslans announced last week would be recognized as a country—when the Big Four meets in Geneva.

That is a balking point for the West. In the official communique issued by the ministers after three sessions, they said that first priority is given unification of Germany by the West.

RULING ALLOWS ADDED LENGTH FOR TRANSPORT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader Wednesday signed into law a bill allowing trucks for transporting new cars to increase their overall length up to 30 inches beyond the maximum length for all other vehicles of the tractor-semi trailer type.

Other bills signed into law Wednesday will:

Eliminate the one-year residence requirement for persons filing for a divorce in Pennsylvania.

Authorize commissioners of first class townships to accept land given to the township for road purposes or street or park improvement.

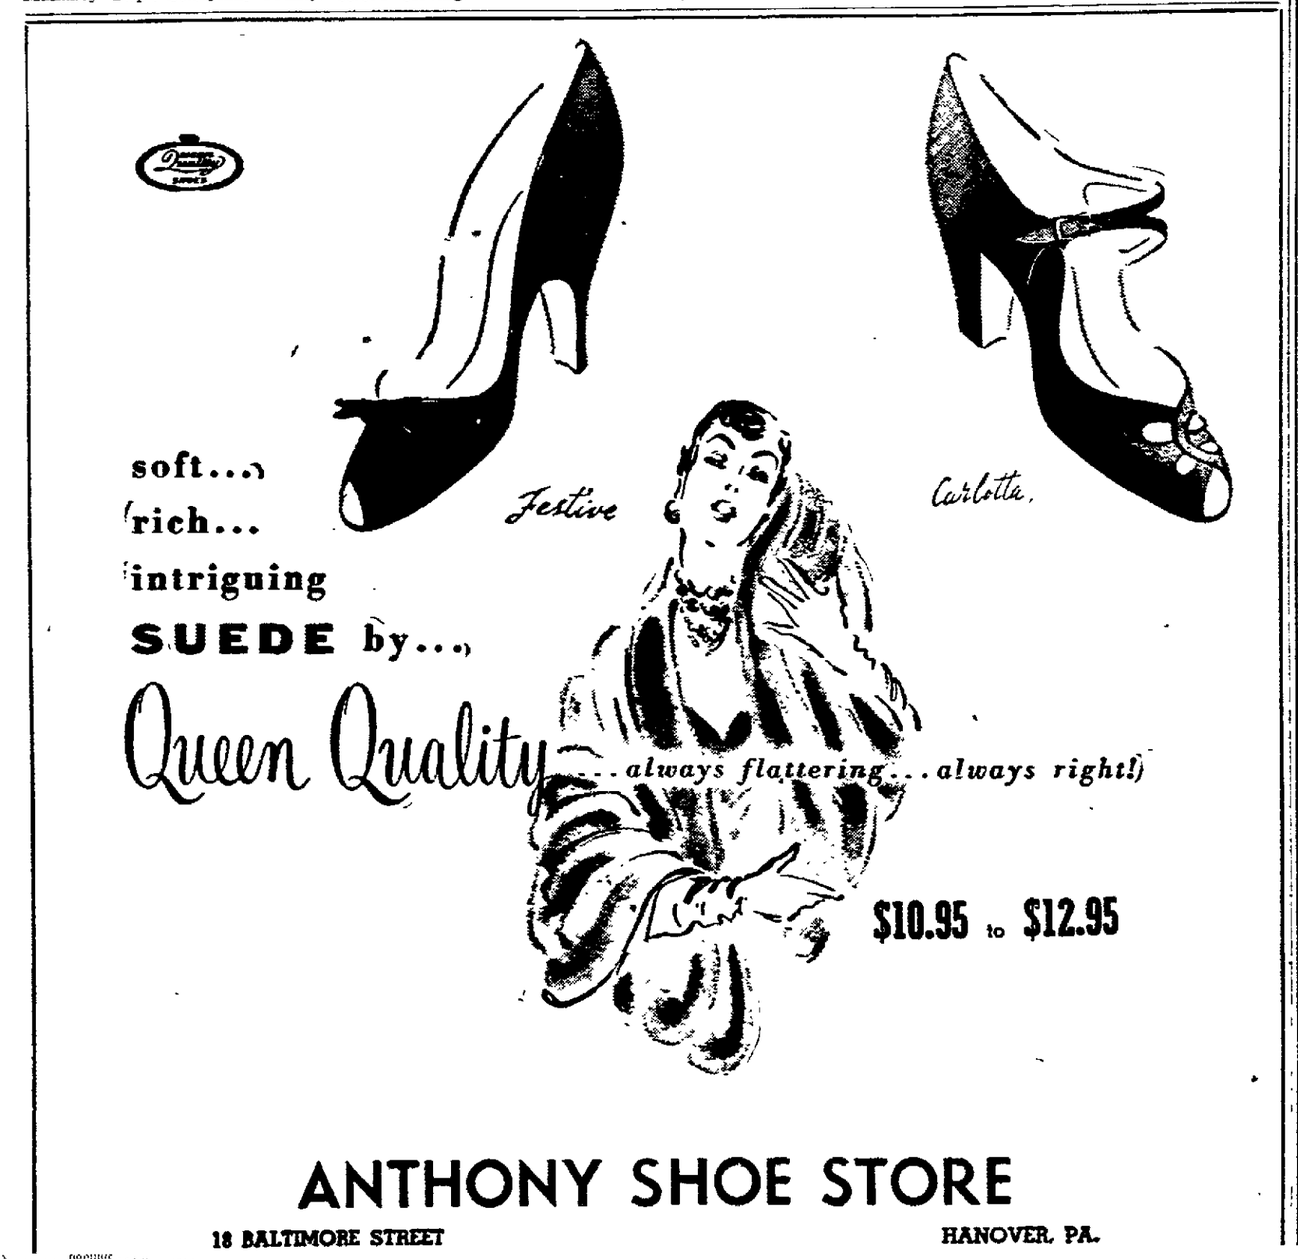

Appropriate $600 to Elk Township, Warren County, for road maintenance on the Cornplanter Indian Reservation during the next two years.

Create a board in fourth to eighth class counties for the valuation and assessment of property for county, borough, town, township and school tax purposes and provide for appeal of assessments.

Credit members of police forces of municipalities to credit time spent in the military service during the Korean conflict toward their pension or retirement eligibility.

Allow employes of third class counties who served in the military service during the Korean conflict to be eligible for the same retirement benefits of the county as those serving in other wars.

Pronghorn antelope can run at 20 to 30 miles an hour with ease.

President Is Without Pain; Has No Temperature; Morale Is High And He "Looks Good"

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

DENVER (AP)—An atmosphere of growing but still subdued optimism over President Eisenhower's heart condition spread through the Denver White House today.

James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said that Eisenhower has suffered no pain since Tuesday, that he no longer is running a temperature, that his morale is high, appearance good and there is no feeling of depression.

For 13 hours yesterday there was no need of an oxygen tent for the chief executive. At times during the day he listened to soft recorded music.

None of the outstanding heart specialists here or on call across the country is discounting the possibility of a relapse or even another attack. None will say, at this point, that the President is out of danger, "over the hump," or even that he is improving definitely and steadily.

No Complications

But for five consecutive days, they say, Eisenhower has been reacting normally and "without complications" to a type of heart attack from which the large majority of victims eventually recover.

The words "without complications" are the key, significant phrase. The absence of complications is encouraging to Eisenhower's physicians.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart expert who was flown in Sunday to examine the President, says that complications can come any time in the first two weeks after a heart seizure. That is the period in which an afflicted heart is discarding damaged muscle tissue and forming a scar.

Eisenhower still has nine days to go on that critical two weeks' period. His "moderate" coronary thrombosis—a blood clot in a heart artery—struck in the early morning hours last Saturday.

In Boston, Dr. White said last night that the latest report on Eisenhower was "good" and the return of the President's blood pressure "toward its usual level" was a "particularly good sign."

Hagerty disclosed that Eisenhower is being held to 1,600 calories of food a day because the doctors are "trying to keep him from putting on too much weight while he is inactive and lying in bed." Lately, Eisenhower has weighed around 175 to 180 pounds—slightly above the 172 pounds of his cadet days at West Point.

White, who is kept informed constantly of the President's condition, said that "we want to take a pound or two off." He said the chief executive "has a hearty appetite and we'll have to restrain it."

President Has Very Good Night

DENVER (AP)—A bedside bulleting reported today that President Eisenhower had "a very good night" last night.

A 7 a.m. Denver time report from two of the chief executive's physicians said that:

"The President had a very good night. He slept almost continuosly under the oxygen tent from 9 p.m. to 6:15 a.m."

This was from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal doctor, and Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief heart specialist at Fitzsimons Army Hspital, where Eisenhower has been confined since his heart attack last Saturday.

The doctors have been saying that rest and sleep are essential to repairing the chief executive's damaged heart and putting him on the road to recovery.

Thus the some nine hours of sleep last night appeared to be an encouraging sign.

CHEST DINNER TONIGHT WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN

More than 100 canvassers and other officials of the annual Community Chest drive are expected to attend the annual "kick-off" dinner for the Chest fund campaign this evening at 5:45 o'clock at the YWCA.

John C. Stahle, chairman of the drive, which begins Friday to raise $19,700, said the cost of the dinner has been donated by the service clubs of the community. Supplies will be presented to the volunteer solicitors conducting the campaign at tonight's dinner.

The drive will continue through October 10. Solicitors are asked to report collection each evening to the executive secretary, John Welschone, at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Plaza building so that the progress of the drive can be shown daily on four "thermometers" in Lincoln Square.

Six Share Funds

The drive seeks to raise $1,200 for the Civic Nurse Association, $2,500 for the Boy Scouts, $2,000 for the Girl Scouts, $3,000 for the library, $6,000 for the Recreation Association, $2,500 for the YWCA, $1,500 for the contingent fund and $1,000 to cover the campaign expenses.

Additional solicitors annaunced today include:

Mrs. Jay Brown, Mrs. Charles Kuhn, Mrs. Frances Reinberger, Mrs. Donald Fair, Mrs. Melvin Feidler, Mrs. James Oyler, Mrs. Joseph Kendlehart, Mrs. Charles Rodgers, Mrs. George Gilbert.

Mrs. Edward Plank, Mrs. Walter Dillon, Mrs. Arthur Black, Mrs. Earl Andrus, Mrs. William Musser, Mrs. Carl Prosser, Robert Fidler, Mrs. James Harness, Jack Hartman, Mrs. Clarence Cluck Miss Christine Coover, Mrs. Dolly Tonsel, Mrs. Violet Hill Mrs. Jacob Britcher, Mrs. Charles Weaver.

VFW CONDUCTS RECRUIT DRIVE OCTOBER 5-8

Uniformed guard members of the VFW post will man a "recruiting office" in the Majestic Theater lobby Oct. 5 to 8. Applications for VFW membership will be available in the lobby for eligible overseas veterans.

Commander John G. Rummel announced at Wednesday's meeting that a "Community Service Committee" will be appointed in the near future to act on community projects. This action follows the request of 21st VFW District commander. The post also voted to join other units in establishing an annual fund to provide the retiring district commander with a life membership in the affairs of the VFW National Home for Widows and Orphans at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Rummel announced that the annual nomination and election of officers will take place in March and April instead of having installation following the department encampment in July. A $1 per member assessment to be paid by the post was announced as having been ordered by the national encampment to construct a VFW National Memorial Building in Washington, D. C.

District Meeting

Post commanders and membership chairmen of the 21st District will meet at the local home on Oct. 14 at 8:30 p.m. The charter for the Adams County pup tent of the Military Order of the Cootie closes Oct. 1 according to Quartermaster Patrick D. McDermitt. Twenty-five members have applied thus far.

Guests at the meeting were Herbert White, Hanover, inspector for the 21st District and Roy Newcomer, Spring Grove post commander. A home association meeting followed the regular post meeting. The next post meeting will be held Oct. 12 at 8 p.m.

EDWARD R. ELLIS EXPIRES TODAY

Edward R. Ellis, 59, York St., died at his home this morning at 12:20 o'clock. Death was due to a mesentery thrombosis. He had been in ill health for the past five years.

Born in South Boston he was the son of the late Edward L. Ellis and Jane Enwright Ellis.

After working as an advertising salesman in South Boston for a number of years, Ellis moved to Downingtown near Philadelphia, where he was employed as a cost accountant for eight years. He later retired and moved to Gettysburg.

Surviving are his wife, the former Idella Norris, originally from South Boston; two daughters, Mrs. Russell G. Hall, R. 4, Gettysburg, and Mrs. David B. Hand, Riviera Beach, Florida; five grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Charles Divine, Richmond, Va.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock from the Dugan Funeral Home, Bendersville, with burial in the Bendersville Church Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Henry W. Sternat will officiate.

Friends may call Friday evening at the funeral home from 7 o'clock until 9.

A beautiful line of hats just received at Kuhn's Millinery . . . in beaver, felt, velour and velvet—in all colors! Caps and tams of all kinds. Prices are reasonable. 130 Chambersburg St. Gettysburg, Pa.

Betty Boyer Wins Apple Dessert Award

Students competed in an apple dessert contest Wednesday afternoon in the Biglerville High School's Home Economics Department. Eleven girls participated in the contest.

First prize winner, Betty Boyer, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Frederick Boyer, Aspers R. 1, a twelfth grade student will enter the county contest next month. Sue Bucher, the runner-up, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Bucher. She is a ninth grade student.

Mrs. Wilmer Bream, Mrs. Donald Shetter and Mrs. Nevin Frantz were the judges.

TO AWARD MANY CASH PRIZES IN SPOOK PARADE

Prizes will be awarded in seven categories at the annual Halloween parade sponsored by the Gettysburg Association of Clubs on Oct. 26 at 8 p.m., it was announced today. The complete prize list follows:

Best appearing drum corps: 1st, $100; 2nd, $75; 3rd, $50; best appearing bands: $100, $75, $50 with a judges' prize of $25 also to be awarded and transportation expenses to be given high school bands not winning prizes.

Largest costumed marching groups: $50, $25, $15, $10; drill teams: $40, $25, $10 with teams having an opportunity to drill before judges' stand; floats: $75, $50, $25; juveniles' decorated vehicles: 9 prizes totaling $40; individual costumes: 18 prizes totaling $70.

Arrange Parade Route

With 200 invitations in the mail, Police Chief Jack Bartlett has worked out a new parade route to prevent congestion such as happened last year in Lincoln Square. At the same time detours have been arranged to carry traffic through the city during the parade.

The parade will form as usual in the Springs Ave. section, using Reynolds, Howard, and Hay Sts. radiating from Springs. Children will form at the Acme Market parking lot. The parade will move east on Chambersburg St. to Lincoln Square, south to West Middle St. and west to Hay St. It will disband at the point of formation.

Drill teams will be stationed in the last division of the parade so that drills before the judges' stand will not halt the entire parade.

Rain date is October 27.

ROY A. WEANER TO AGAIN HEAD ASC COMMITTEE

Roy A. Weaner, Gettysburg R. 4, was re-elected chairman of the Adams County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee Wednesday evening at a meeting of representatives from five of the six districts into which the county is divided. The meeting was held at the ASC office, York St.

Howard Schwartz, Littlestown R. 1, was renamed vice chairman and Charles Cashman, New Oxford R. 2 was re-elected a member of the board.

Named as first alternate was William J. Zepp, York Springs R. 2. Ivan Kindig was selected second alternate. Zepp replaces Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R. 4 and Kindig succeeds Bruce Wetzel, Biglerville R. 2.

Five of the six representatives from the community committees were present. The sixth, Vernon Rife, of the New Oxford area, had three loads of corn to place in a silo and asked to be excused.

District 1, the Fairfield area, was represented by Francis Weikert, Gettysburg R. 2, who has been moved up from vice chairman to chairman of that district following the resignation of Howard Diehl. Glenn Black, Gettysburg R. 1, represented the Gettysburg area; Ivan Kindig, Littlestown R. D., the Littlestown Area; William Zepp, the York Springs district, and Clarence Oyler the Biglerville area. Mr. Zepp served as chairman of the election meeting.

Officers Elected At Dorsey-Stanton Post

At the regular meeting of Dorsey—Stanton Post 986, American Legion, presided over by 1st Vice Commander James W. Mauston, the following officers were elected for the 1956 term: Commander, Robert S. Saunders; 1st vice commander, George Miller; 2nd vice commander, William Lyles; adjutant, James Mauston; finance officer, Eugene Timbers; historian, Joseph Carter; sergeants of arms, Walter Allen and Thaddeus Polk.

Help Students At 2 Schools

Gettysburg school tots have added protection now that the borough's three women police are in charge of school traffic at entrance schools. Mrs. Helen D. Helfrick and Mrs. Ethel Ditzler are stationed at Lincoln School at the Hanover St. and York St. crossings. Mrs. Betty Bartlett, wife of Police Chief Jack Bartlett, directs school traffic at Springs Ave. at the Meade School. Another police officer helps at Meade on Buford Ave.

To date the policewomen have had the situation well in hand.

Mrs. Betty Bartlett, 168 Ridge Ave., wife of the town's police chief, is shown stopping trafic to permit Douglas Rambo to run across Springs Ave. at Meade School.

Mrs. Ethel Ditzler, 224 York St., beams approvingly as Linda Dunkelberger and Caroline Musselman hurry across York St. at Lincoln School.

NAME OFFICERS OF CARE CENTER ADVISORY UNIT

Miss Bettie Y. Livermore, secretary of the Adams County Child Welfare Services, was elected president of the advisory board of the Day Care Center Wednesday afternoon at a meeting in the office of the superintendent of schools at the court house.

Meeting with Miss M. Elizabeth Rutledge, county supervisor of special education, the advisory group named Dr. Joseph J. Baker, vice president; Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, secretary and Rev. Herman Steumpfle Jr., treasurer.

Much of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the housing needs for the school. Now located in the former Female Academy building on E. High St., the center has 12 students and a possible enrollment of 21.

Need More Room

Because of the small size of the building, difficulty is found in providing sufficient room for the students and equipment, it was pointed out. If the enrollment is to reach 21 larger quarters will be needed.

The Center opened two years ago with the establishment of an Adams County Retarded Children Association which set up arrangements for the center under state supervision. With the development of the school it was decided last summer that the center could function most successfully under supervision of the Adams County School Board. It was then decided to continue the association that had started the project in the form of an advisory group.

The next meeting of the advisory board will be held next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock at the Child Welfare office.

PUSH PLANS FOR FASHION SHOW

Plans for the annual fashion show of the Beta Sigma Phi were outlined Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Epsilon Delta Chapter of the sorority at the Beta Sigma Phi rooms on Lincoln Square.

Miss Nicki George and Mrs. Mary Degnan, co-chairman said the show, under the title of "Guys and Dolls" will be presented Wednesday evening, October 12, at 7:30 o'clock in the VFW home on E. Middle St.

Pat Orrin will serve as master of ceremonies for the presentation of men's, women's and children's fashions from Tobey's, Lippy's and The Jack and Jill Shop. The proceeds will go to the charity fund of the sorority. A number of awards will be made.

Mrs. Magnus Flaws Jr. conducted a program on invitations.

Mrs. Donald Becker, president presided at the meeting. The next meeting will be held October 18.

Mother Declares Daughter Who Stole Baby From Crib Abandoned Her Own Child

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vigorous prosecution was promised today for Betty Jean Benedicto, blonde wife of a Filipino lodging house keeper, who snatched 2-day-old Robert Marcus from his crib at Mt Zion Hospital here 10 days ago.

Robert was returned in good health to his deliriously happy parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, in Stockton early yesterday. That was shortly after the 27-year-old Mrs. Benedicto had been spotted with the baby by a sharp-eyed deputy sheriff at the prize fights in Stockton Tuesday night.

While the deputy investigated her story that the infant was hers, Mrs. Benedicto telephoned Dr. Marcus in San Francisco that she would deliver Robert to him in Stockton.

Their heartaches past, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus, parents of two other children, planned to take their baby home today to suburban Daly City.

Mrs. Benedicto was held under guard in a psychiatric ward in San Francisco Hospital after collapsing.

Her story of motherly love and an irresistible maternal instinct was denounced yesterday by her own mother, who said Betty Jean had abandoned her only natural child—a daughter—10 years ago.

Mrs. Benedicto said remorse and sympathy for Robert's mother, Mrs. Hanna Marcus, 29, who was desperately ill, prompted the return of the child.

Dist. Atty. Thomas C. Lynch and his chief deputy, Norman Elkington, said they would seek an indictment for kidnapping when the county grand jury meets Monday night and would prosecute vigorously.

The only reason Mrs. Benedicto returned the child, they declared, was because she was convinced that her capture was imminent.

Mrs. Benedicto said she took the child after telling her husband Marcus a series of lies, leading him to believe she had borne a child in a southern California hospital late in August.

She told him the child was ill and she had had to leave it in the South, but he insisted strongly she had to bring home a baby or confess her hoax, she said.

FURTHER PLANS FOR U.N. WEEK HERE OCT. 17-24

Plans for United Nations Week, October 17 through 24, were outlined Wednesday evening at a meeting of the committee in charge held at the Methodist Church.

Rev. Robert Knechel, general chairman for the program headed by the Kiwanis Club, said this year's program will mark the tenth anniversary of the United Nations, established October 24, 1945, at San Francisco.

Efforts will be made to secure participation by 10-year-old children, especially those born Octo-

Girl Scouts Will Camp Over Weekend

Plans for a weekend camp were outlined Monday evening by Senior Girl Scout Troop 4 at a meeting in the Girl Scout office in the First National Bank building.

The Scouts will camp at the County Girl Scout camp near Fairfield Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and remain in camp until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon when they will participate in the dedication exercises to be held at the site by the county Girl Scout council. They will sleep overnight in the camp barn.

Additional work on the weather badge continued. The Scouts made barometers. Later the unit plans to visit the Pennsylvania State University fruit laboratory, at Arendsville, to hear a talk on the weather recording equipment there. Mrs. Harold Culp leader, presided at the meeting assisted by Mrs. Frank Hewetson and Mrs. J. B. Collins.

MRS. A. STORM, COUNTY NATIVE, DIES WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Annie V. Storm, 83, wife of Lewis A. Storm, 30 N. Franklin St., died Wednesday night at 10:15 o'clock at the Warner Hospital of complications. She had been admitted to the hospital Monday and had been ill for about a year.

A native of Adams County, she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hemler and had resided in the county all of her life. She and her husband, to whom she would have been wed 62 years on November 22, had resided at 30 N. Franklin St. for the last 25 years.

A member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church and of the Rosary Society of that church, she is survived by her husband, six children, 37 grandchildren and 46 great-grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Leo Redding, Gettysburg R. 2; Carrol Storm, Bonneauville; Howard Storm, Gettysburg R. 1; Mrs. Robert Steinberger, Gettysburg; Ralph Storm, Cedarville, N. J., and Mrs. Lawrence McGlaughlin, Biglerville.

Funeral Monday

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Sleack, York, and Mrs. Charles Slentz, Harrisburg, and a half sister, Mrs. Stella Storm, Harrisburg.

Funeral services Monday morning, with meeting at the Bender Funeral Home, Carlisle St., at 8:15 o'clock followed by a high requiem mass at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church at 9 o'clock with the Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane officiating. Interment in the church cemetery. Friends may visit the funeral home Sunday evening after 7 o'clock. The rosary will be recited at the funeral home Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

DOZING WOMAN UNHURT IN TV FIRE IN ASPERS

Mrs. May Goode, Aspers, office manager of the Cooperative Fruit Growers of Adams County, narrowly escaped death late Wednesday night when she awoke to find her television set, drapers and a window frame about five feet from her ablaze.

When she returned from a meeting Wednesday night, Mrs. Goode turned on her TV set and stretched out on a sofa to watch telecast before retiring. She dozed off and awoke to find flames leaping from the rear of the set, and heavy black smoke rolling over her.

Aspers firemen said that had she remained asleep for ten more minutes in all probability she would have perished in the conflagration.

Damage was estimated as more than $2,100. Charles Gulden, Aspers fire chief, credited Mrs. Goode's presence of mind in pulling the electrical plug connected to the television set with keeping the fire loss down.

Use Fog Spray

After pulling the plug she called the Aspers fire department at 11:30 o'clock.

The flames destroyed the television set, drapes and venetian blinds and a window frame. The flames leaped 14 feet to set fire to drapes and blinds in another portion of the room, and badly damaged the wall.

Firemen used carbon dioxide extinguishers and a fog spray. Water damage was kept at a minimum. Firemen said they estimated there was "less than a quart of water on the floor" when the fire was extinguished.

Much damage was caused by smoke which poured through the seven rooms, hall and bath of the house. One room, on which the door was closed, was only slightly damaged however. Clothing was also damaged by the smoke.

The house had been remodeled, in June. Firemen estimated damage to the house at $1,200, and to property, the TV set, etc., as at least $900. The fire, they believe, started from a short circuit in the TV set.

CATCH BURGLAR AT CROSS KEYS DRIVE-IN LOT

Two state policemen from the local substation, on a routine patrol at the Cross Keys drive-in theater, this morning at 2:30 o'clock flushed burglars while they were inside the projection-lunch room building in the theater lot, and in giving chase, captured a 17-year-old youth while his accomplice escaped.

The two officers, Robert P. Brady and John J. McKenna, were on the normal "midnight" patrol out of the local substation and following usual procedure, as they neared New Oxford, pulled into the drive-in and drove through the lot to the building near its center in a routine check to see that all was well within the structure.

Spot Men Running

As the officers car approached within a few feet of the structure, the headlights fell on two men running from the door of the building. The officers leaped from their vehicle and sped in pursuit.

The 17-year-old juvenile, who resides near Hanover, was captured before he reached the end of the lot. The other burglar was lost as the officers sped through fields and woods after him.

Returning to the building, the officers found that the door to the structure had been forced open and that apparently the burglars had been attempting to open vending machines in the building. The 17-year-old youth was placed in custody.

APPLE DESSERT CONTEST TO BE HELD HERE OCT. 24

Gettysburg will be the site October 24 of one of an expected "five or six" pre-State semi-finals in the fifth annual apple dessert contest, Mrs. Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, chairman of the state-wide contest, announced today.

Last year 27 counties participated in the state-wide event and it was found that 27 county winners taking part in one contest proved extremely difficult to judge, Mrs. Griest said. As a result a number of pre-State semi-finals are planned this year to reduce the number of entries in the state finals. The state championship contest will be held October 29 at a school yet to be selected.

Sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association and the Appalachian Apple Service, the contest is open to all students in home economic departments of the state's high schools.

The contestants use any apple dessert recipe with fresh apples as the base and principal ingredient and in which there is a crust of dough. Among the entries have been apple pandowdy, apple cobbler, and apple pie. Batter such as is used in cakes is barred from the contest.

Assisting Mrs. Griest in the direction of the contest are Miss A. Louise Halbach, co-chairman, York County homemaking advisor, and Miss Margaret Brant, Carlisle, homemaking advisor for Adams, Cumberland and Perry Counties.

Some of the schools have already held their own contests selecting winners to enter county events.

NEW MERCURY AUTOMOBILES ARE DISPLAYED

Low-silhouette styling in all three series, more massive appearance from the front and new sweep side mouldings feature the new 1956 Mercury. New color and fabric combinations make interiors more luxurious than any previous Mercury. The new models are now on display.

Besides increasing its total number of models to 13, Mercury for 1956 has extended to the Monterey and Custom series its low-silhouette styling pioneered last year in the Montclair. The new Monterey and Custom coupes are almost two inches lower than last year. In addition, the regular Monterey four-door sedan and the Custom four-door and two-door sedans are lower than previous models. A newcomer to

THANKS MANY WHO AIDED BOY SCOUTS ON TREK

Attorney Eugene R. Hartman, chairman of the Black Walnut District Boy Scout Committee, today expressed his appreciation and thanks to those who assisted in the recent trek to the Washington area.

Hartman addressed a letter to committeemen which read in part as follows:

"The district chairman would like to commend Lieut. Col. Donald G. Williams, district camping chairman, for the excellent manner in which he set up the program, accommodations and meals for the scouts on the recent trip to Washington. It was, by far, the best organized, most educational and most recreational trip this district has ever had. I am sure I can speak for the parents as complimenting Col. Williams for making arrangements for the scouts to sleep in barracks, rather than on the damp ground Saturday evening.

"The district chairman also wants to commend the United States Air Force for their gracious acceptance of 120 scouts and in going out of their way to feeding, sleeping and entertaining us during our trip.

Commends Others

"Much praise is also due Dr Frank T. Watson, district commissioner, for the orderly manner in which the trek was planned, regulated and led and for the excellent patch that he had prepared to award the boys for attending.

"The district also extends its thanks to the Gettysburg Construction Company and to Kerrigan's Paint Shop for the use of trucks to carry the equipment on our trip and to C. William Zhea and Edwin Motter for driving those trucks. Wolf's Bus Line, who furnished the transporation, were more than accommodating in shuttling us back and forth to the various places our program called for visiting, and last, but by no means least. The district chairman wants to commend the scouts themselves for their excellent conduct during the trip.

"There was not one occasion of any scout stepping out of line, and on Sunday morning when they went to church, all you parents would have been proud of the appearance of the boys and the manner in which they conducted themselves during both the Protestant and Catholic services. Their conduct during the whole trip and their courteous attention to the leaders at all times showed good home training on every parent's part and that the results of the scouting program in Black Walnut District are beginning to make an impression on all the boys."

REBELS SPARK DEMS REVIVAL WITH SUPPORT

By BRUCE HENDERSON

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Argentine provisional government moved today to broaden its support and give a shot in the arm to the nation's slowly reviving democratic political life.

Interior and Justice Minister Eduardo Busso announced a four-party "consultative junta" would be formed to advise Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi and his Cabinet until a new Congress is elected.

Busso said four parties—the radical, Democratic, Socialist and Progressive Democratic — had agreed to serve on the junta. Each was expected to contribute four representatives.

The minister made no mention of ousted dictator Juan Peron's Peronista party or of the Communists. But he added that representatives of labor, business and industry probably would be included on the junta.

In the 10 years after Peron seized power, the dictator's steady war on his opponents all but killed off the opposition parties. In the last 189-member Congress, 12 Radical deputies were the only non-Peronistas.

Election Delayed

It appeared that the junta would serve for some months. Lonardi has promised to hold elections as soon as the electoral process can be arranged, but this is expected to take considerable time. The more delayed the election, the more chance the anti-Peron parties will have to reorganize against any Peronista attempt to get back in.

The government's roundup of potential troublemakers continued. Federal police last night arrested Alejandro Leloir, wealthy, 49-year-old president of the Peronista party's Supreme Council. Reliable sources said several other Peronista party leaders would be picked up soon.

Peron himself still was a virtual prisoner on a Paraguayan gunboat anchored three miles off Buenos Aires. As yet there was no explanation of the delay in his departure for Asuncion and exile, promised him earlier by Lonardi.

Lonardi issued a promised decree of complete amnesty for all civilians and military men sentenced for political crimes and uprisings against the Peron regime.

Society To Observe 75th Anniversary

The 75th anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of Christ Lutheran Church will be observed with a special program Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Mrs. W. C. Waltemyer has written a pageant depicting development of the society since its founding in 1880. Historical highlights will be dramatized.

Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. W. R. Sammel. Miss Anna Grimm will sing several vocal selections. Hostesses for the social hour are Mrs. John Kaltreider, Mrs. Clarence Smith and Mrs. Charles Smith.

The executive committee in charge of the program is composed of Mrs. Reginald Deitz, Mrs. A. R. Wentz, Mrs. Herbert H. Schmidt, Mrs. Clarence Smith and Mrs. Waltemyer.

Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. D. Maurice Leppo, McSherrystown, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Leppo, who is the former Emma A. Ackerman, were married Sept. 28, 1905, in the rectory of St. Mary's Catholic Church, McSherrystown, by Father Hemler.

To celebrate the golden wedding anniversary, their children held a luncheon Sunday for the immediate families at the Leppo home in McSherrystown. Open house was held following the luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leppo have resided in McSherrystown for 50 years and at their present address since 1941. They are the parents of 12 children, 10 of whom are living. Their children are Mrs. Joseph E. Miller, Leon Leppo and Lester Leppo, McSherrystown; LeRoy Leppo, Hanover R. 1; Mrs. Harry Meckley, York; Mrs. Melvin Schildt, Littlestown; Mrs. Robert S. Neary and Lawrence Leppo, Gettysburg; Mrs. George W. Smith, Hanover, and Robert Leppo, Bronx, N. Y.

ARGENTINE LEAD BULLETIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Unofficial reports say deposed President Juan D. Peron left by plane last night for Spain. These reports, which are unconfirmed, say Peron was to change planes at Rio de Janeiro.

Peron has been aboard a Paraguyan gunboat for more than a week, and the supposition had been that he was going into exile in Paraguay. But the new government of provisional President Eduardo Lonardi had been described as opposed to letting Peron stay in that neighboring country too long.

As the report that Peron had gone to Spain circulated, the government took steps to broaden its support and give a shot in the arm to the nation's slowly reviving democratic political life.

Defense Will Take Expense Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey reportedly has urged the Defense Department to conduct a "never give up" search for waste, extravagance and duplication in an effort to trim defense spending.

This, rather than a reduction of military force or equipment levels, was said yesterday to have been Humphrey's suggestion after Secretary of Defense Wilson decided it was unwise from a military standpoint to cut service spending more than already contemplated.

Wilson was said to have agreed to the campaign against waste.

The immediate goal is billion dollr reduction below the present 34-billion-dollar level of defense spending, as part of a drive toward a balanced budget by next June 30.

State Official Cites Need For Classrooms

HARRISBURG (AP)—An official of the state Department of Public Instruction said today that more than 16,000 additional classrooms will be needed in Pennsylvania public schools by 1960.

"On the asi sof actual and estimated increases in public school enrollment from 1953 through 1959, it would appear that 16,215 additional classrooms will be needed by the beginning of 1956", said John J. Hertz, director of the Bureau of School Administration.

Hertz addressed educators attending the 35th annual Education Congress sponsored by the Public Instruction Department.

In another address, Carl D. Morneweck, chief of child accounting and research, said that in the last 20 years the proportion of state money allocated for the current expenses of education has increased from 38 per cent to 49 per cent.

VISIT COUNTY PROPERTIES

The Adams County Commissioners Wednesday afternoon visited Littlestown area properties on which appeals from assessments had been made. No decisions were reached on final assessments pending a "cleanup meeting" after all have been visited.

NEW OFFICERS PRESIDE OVER BOARD MEETING

The first meeting of the newly appointed members of the Adams County Board of Public Assistance who were confirmed by the State Senate on Sept. 13 was held Wednesday evening at the board office on Washington St., with the following officers in charge: Chairman Stanislause E. Krichten, McSherrystown; vice chairman, Rev. Charles E. Held, Gettysbuwrg R. D.; secretary, Mrs. Kermit Hereter, Gettysburg.

Others in attendance were: Leslie V. Stock, Biglerville; William Weidner, York Springs, and Mrs. Donald Myers, executive secretary of the Public Assistance Board. Rev. Held, Mrs. Hereter, and Weidner are newly appointed.

Board members reviewed plans to attend a workshop to familiarize them with their duties which has been called by State Secretary of Public Assistance Mrs. Ruth Grigg for Oct. 11. Assistance Boards from 6 counties, Adams, Lancaster, Dauphin, Chester, Lebanon, and York, will attend the dinner meeting scheduled for 6 p.m. in the Brunswick Hotel, Lancaster.

Literature Distributed

Two members of the assistance board, Mrs. Vivian Hamm, New Oxford, and Evan M. Appler, Littlestown, were absent from Wednesday's meeting. Mrs. Myers distributed literature and statistical reports on county assistance activities to be board members.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 10 to prepare members for the workshop.

NEGOTIATE WITH FOUR UNIONS AT ELECTRIC PLANT

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Westinghouse Electric Corp. resumed contract negotiations with four unions representing more than 70,000 employes.

The major union is the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, bargaining agent for 44,000 workers in 28 Westinghouse plants.

Negotiators for the CIO-IUE seek a "substantial" pay increase for members now averaging $2.10 an hour.

Tied in with wage talks is discussion of conditions under which the firm may make job studies of day workers (non-production service employes).

Started National Strike

This issue touched off a national strike by the CIO - IUE against Westinghouse Sept. 12. It ended three days later with an agreement to include the issue in contract bargaining.

The CIO-IUE is free to strike Oct. 15 if settlements are not concluded on both issues.

Other unions meeting with Westinghouse are the United Electrical Workers (independent), representing 12,000 employes; the federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, representing 13,000; and the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, representing 1,500.

Demands of these unions have not been made public. All reportedly seek wage boosts.

150 Dairymen Will Visit Here Oct. 27

Approximately 150 dairymen and their families from New Jersey are scheduled to visit here October 27, according to word received by County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettle.

Edward T. Oleskie, assistant extension specialist in dairy husbandry in New Jersey, wrote Zettle that the dairymen from his state plan a three-day tour through Maryland, W. Va. and Pennsylvania, which will include a visit to Gettysburg October 27.

The group plans to arrive here here about 9:30 a.m. and after touring the field and viewing the electric map at the National Museum will lunch at the Hotel Gettysburg, according to present plans, before continuing to York.

Second Polio Shots Start About Oct. 17

Adams County's grade school youngsters will receive their second Salk inoculations for the prevention of polio about the middle of next month, it was announced today by Dr. C. G. Crist, county health officer.

The second shots are expected to be given about October 17, the exact date and program for which will be announced later.

Dr. Crist said he had received word from state officials the vaccine will be available by that time. All youngsters submitting to the inoculations will again be required to present permission slips signed by their parents.

STOCK PRICES MIXED

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed today after a higher start. The general tendency was lower.

There was a spread of 3 points lower to a point higher in the list. Many leading issues showed small changes either way.

Going lower were U. S. Steel, Santa Fe Railroad, General Motors, Goodyear, Standard Oil (NJ), Sears Roebuck, du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, and General Electric.

Higher were Hiram Walkers, International Nickel, Johns-Manville, Eastern Air Lines, American Telephone, United Air Lines, Youngstown Sheet & tube.

LAWMAKER'S WIFE ORGANIZES HER SPENDING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Aime J. Forand, wife of the Democratic congressman from Rhode Island, guesses the reason her sister clubwomen put her in charge of exacting and responsible club duties is because she's "such a fuss-budget."

"I have my pocketbook all organized," she told me. "It holds separate little coin purses, sometimes as many as four. One is for my house money, one for my own spending money. Another holds a little surplus fund. There's one I never touch. It's for emergencies. I call it my mad money."

Now and then, the congressman's wife puts aside an extra $5 from her household account to build up a fund "to buy something special, like china or silver."

"With it," she told me, "I bought all of my beautiful Minton china service. Now, I'm buying my silver. You don't feel it that way."

Has Many Hobbies

Mrs. Forand, whose husband is now serving his ninth term in Congress, is a woman of many hobbies. "All my whole life is a hobby," she says, "for everything is interesting to me.' She's especially interested in gardening, her association with the solons' wives' Congressional Club for the good fellowship it brings, and she likes to cook.

"I'm especially proud of my pies — any kind of pie," she adds, "It's my pie crust that always brings me the compliments." Guests invited to the Forands' small dinners and picnic parties in the carefully tended yard of their suburban Washington home also praise the hostess's New England Chowder — "the kind with the tomatoes."

Always Liked Politics

The congressman and his wife have been interested in politics since their courting days. Rep. Forand, who nerved as secretary to two former Rhode Island congressmen who later became judges, was first elected to Capitol Hill in 1936. He had to quit school at 13 and took a 60-hour, $4.50-a-week job in the textile mills of his district. He got his secretarial training at night, his wife said.

Mrs. Forand has helped her husband in all his campaigns, and like her husband made speeches and radio talks in French. People of French descent make up the state's second largest population and comprise a large portion of the Congressman's district of 350,000 voters.

WHITE DONKEY AUCTIONED OFF BY DEMOCRATS

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A white donkey is heading for Pink Hill, N. C.

He's the little fellow bought in absentia at the recent auction here of the Women's National Democratic Club by the girl who was running the show, Mrs. Martin L. Friedman, wife of a local lawyer who was a White House staff assistant during the Truman administration.

The donkey was one of many items, some of historical importance, offered in the club's annual "White Donkey Sale" which brought the club around $5,500. It was the donation of Frederick Zeehandelaar, New York business man, who imported it from Mexico.

Mrs. Friedman bid $75 and much to her surprise, won it. Having no use for a live donkey around here, she decided to send it to the four children of her sister, Mrs. Hazel Stapleton, who makes her home with her father, The Rev. N. P. Farrior, Presbyterian minister, at Pink Hill.

"The National Democratic Donkey," as Pink Hillers intend to call it, was one of 289 items on sale.

Wilson Cane Is Tops

Bringing top money, $625, was a gold-headed cane that once belonged to President Wilson.

A coonskin cap donated by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) brought $35; one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's handkerchiefs brought $44; a pair of Cordell Hull's monogrammed silver compotes, $40; an original flower painting by Mrs. Dean Acheson, wife of the former secretary of state, $75; two 18th century globes, donated by Stanley Woodward, former U. S. ambassador to Canada, $105.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) paid $45 for a silver and glass inkwell used by Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House; an autographed album of Margaret Truman's records brought $15; and an autographed lithograph of Adlai Stevenson, donated by the former presidential candidate, $42.

A childhood doll, donated by Tallulah Bankhead, daughter of the late speaker of the House, was brought by Mrs. James P. McGranery, wife of the former attorney general.

The sale began at 10 a.m. and lasted far into the night. Rep. Kenneth Gray (D-Ill), accomplished former auctioneer, presided over the evening session, adding much to the liveliness of the occasion with his tobacco-market shoutings.

When a polka-dotted bow tie, donated by Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams of Michigan, brought an initial bid of $2, typically Rep. Gray harangued: "We don't want to rent it, we want to sell it." The bidding went up to $7 when it was finally sold.

APRONS THAT MATCH PLEASE YOUNG COOKS

Associated Press Women's Editor

Little girls don't mind covering up their pretty dresses when Mom outfits the whole family in matching wrap-around aprons, decorated to the taste of the wearer.

For helping in the kitchen, keeping clean before a party or just saving on laundry problems, the cover-up apron is the answer to a busy mother's needs.

Though the aprons are made from separate patterns, they are exactly alike with snug front buttoning, brightly constrasting binding and big cobbler pockets. The individual touches come from the applique decorations — an apple and a glass of milk for little sister, an ice cream soda and a cupcake for big sister nd a doughnut and coffee for Mom.

Loal sewing center experts suggest you select lightweight denim in gay colors, perhaps making two aprons each for the children. The grown-up apron requires three yards of 39-inch fabric, the smaller sizes proportionately less.

You can make full use of the attachments for your sewing machine in making these aprons. The buttonholer will make quick work of the buttonholes; the automatic zigzagger will take care of stitching on the appliques; the multi-slotted binder will save hemming and facing by stitching on the bindsmoothly and quickly.

Transfer designs for the appliques are included with the patterns. These may be ironed onto the scraps of the fabric used for the appliques. When cutting out the designs, be sure to leave an inch all around each piece. Baste the cutouts in place and stitch around the design with the automatic zigzagger set for a narrow satin stitch. close to the line of stitching Be sure to put on appliques before attaching pockets to aprons.

Governor Says Ten Possible Tax Sources Are Available For Compromise Money Bill

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader contended today that "an area of 10 possible tax hources" still exists for working out a compromise tax program with Republicans.

Although declining to identify the sources, he declared it definitely did not include either a sales tax or a classified income tax.

In urging Republican leaders to yield in their demands for a state sales tax, Leader said:

"All the Republicans have given me is an ultimatum and no alternative. That ultimatum is 'scrap my program and take two per cent sales tax or else'."

The Democratic-controlled House injected a graduated income tax into the tax deadlock this week by passing a proposal for a constitutional amendment permitting that levy in Pennsylvania. The constitution now prohibits such a levy.

Want Income Tax

A long-time Democratic objective, Gov. Leader has termed a graduated income tax such as is levied by the federal government as "the fairest of all taxes."

Consequently, Democrats are expected to press for approval by the Republican-controlled Senate of the graduated income tax in any agreement on a compromise tax program.

However, that levy, itself, cannot be considered in solving the present tax stalemate, since it must be passed by two sessions of the Legislature and then be approved at a statewide referendum before it could become effective.

The state's one per cent sales tax expired Aug. 31 and Senate Republicans beat down Leader's proposal for a classified income tax.

Set Tax Rate

Meanwhile, Speaker Andrews fixed at "between 5 or 7 per cent" the rate of a state tax he is proposing on the amount of federal income taxes paid by Pennsylvanians.

"I hope that the House Ways and Means Committee will approve my plans at the next full working session of the House," he said in an interview.

Rep. Readinger, house Democratic floor leader, is considering recalling the House to such a session Oct. 12. The decision, however, has still to be made.

In telling of the area of possible taxes at a Pittsburgh news conference last night, Leader refused to say whether he would sign sales tax legislation if it were passed by the General Assembly but he has repeatedly voiced his opposition to any such measure.

Opposes Sales Tax

A two per cent sales tax as proposed by the Republicans, he said, just "won't do the job" that confronts the state in trying to balance the budget.

Legislative leaders of both parties will meet again Monday and Tuesday in the next compromise tax session—this time to review budgetary needs as provided by the non-partisan Pennsylvania Economy League.

Although both the House and Senate adjourned yesterday until next Wednesday, the Democratic-controlled House will meet only in a token session. Between now and next Dec. 5, Readinger said, the House will be in "a practical working recess."

Seek Car Tax Boost

This means, Readinger explained that the full membership would be asked to come to Harrisburg only when "important" legislation is ready for action. He placed in this category Gov. Leader's highway program, including a $5 a year boost in automobile license tags.

Andrews said his income tax bill, submitted to the House last week, would be amended in an effort to meet most objections from opponents who claim it is unconstitutional.

Judge Robert E. Woodside of the State Superior Court, when attorney general in 1953, ruled that this type of levy violated Pennsylvania's basic law.

Andrews contended, however, that his ruling has no bearing on the bill and that the final say on its constitutionality belongs to the State Supreme Court.

Yield $300 Million

At seven per cent, the levy would yield about 300 million dollars a biennium.

Meanwhile, Chairman Kessler (R-Lancaster) of the Senate Finance Committee scaled down by 11 million dollars a Republican plan to cut the governor's proposed budget of $1,800,000,000.

He declined to be specific on the cuts pending actual amendment of the House-passed appropriation bills next week. Originally, the GOP senators said they planned a 131 million dollar budget reduction.

Meanwhile, the governor signed new laws continuing for two more years 272 million dollars in business taxes. The levies, part of the existing tax structure, call for renewing:

1. The five per cent corporate net income tax to yield 230 million dollars.

2. The 6-mill temporary aspect of the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities to bring in 11 million dollars.

3. The postponement of Pennsylvania manufacturers exemption from payment of the five-mill tax on capital stock for 28 million dollars.

BABY'S KIDNAPPER

MALE STUDENTS CAN TAKE NAVY TESTS DEC. 10

The 10th annual competitive examination for high school seniors who desire to attend college and train for careers as naval officers will be held throughout the nation on December 10, the Navy announced today. Application for the NROTC are now available, but must be received by November 19, the announcement added.

Successful candidates will start their naval careers in colleges and universites across the country in 1956, with substantial financial assistance from the government. After a normal college education, graduates will be commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps, for active duty with the Fleet throughout the world.

Training Cruises

Male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible to apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Persons who attain a qualifying score will be given the Navy's rigid midshipman physical examination next February. From the pool of qualified candidates remaining in competition, approximately 1,800 young men will be selected for appointment to the NROTC, and the college of their choice.

Students enrolled in the reguglar NROTC program will spend their summers on training cruises with the fleet, and will receive $600 annual retainer pay until commissioned. In addition to the normal college curriculum, the midshipmen will study a planned course in naval science. All tuition, fees, and books will be furnished by the Navy.

This college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty in the Navy and Marine Corps. Such candidates will be selected under a separate quota established for the services.

Applications are now available at all high schools, colleges and U. S. Navy Recruiting Stations, or from the chief of naval personnel, Washington 25, D. C.

Children Guests At Circus Friday

The VFW will entertain the children of Paradise School and Hoffman Orphanage as their guests at the Mills Bros. Circus Friday afternoon.

Commander John G. Rummel said that the post will benefit from all ticket sales prior to the date of circus. Money raised will be used for the building and charity funds.

The circus tent, erected in the field opposite the jail on Biglerville Rd., will accommodate 4,000 persons.

The Lutheran World Relief's annual Thanksgiving clothing appeal will be held from November 20 to 27, it was announced today by Bernard A. Confer, executive secretary of the LWR, the National Lutheran Council's material aid agency.

"In our complex world the simple deeds often carry special significance. To him who goes cold, a clothing gift makes an effective witness. Given to a needy person without asking anything in return, clothing makes plain our Christian concern," he said in an appeal to all Lutheran congregations," he said.

Truck tolls on the Penna. Turnpike will soon be determined by the combined weight of a vehicle and its load rather than by allowable gross weight and license classification, the system of fare classification now in use.

The Turnpike made this official announcement today with the expressed opinion that the the new system is fair and equitable. It will eliminate certain inequities and clasification difficulties that developed coincident with the new Pennsylvania Truck Weight Legislation.

Of particular interest to truckers is the fact that transport vehicles returning unloaded after a heavy shipment will automatically revert to a lesser weight class and a lesser toll rate when traveling empty. Similarily, a truck filled to its dimensional capacity with lightweight products will automatically have a lesser toll rate than one loaded with heavy materials. An example would be to compare a truck loaded with electronic tubes with a truck of the same make and model loaded with structural steel.

Switzerland has a section of railway which is dismantled during the winter and rebuilt the following spring. The steel bridge carrying the electrified metre-gauge Furka-Oberalp Railway across the Steffenbach Ravine is particularly exposed to avalanches. The bridge, which is near Tiefenbach Station, has been destroyed by snow-slides so many times in the past that it is now taken down, along with standards and overhead equipment, and stored during the winter. All traffic over the eleven miles between Realp and Oberalp ceases early in October and resumes early in June.

French National Railways lately came up with another "first"—a driverless train. In France, for the first time in railroad history, a train was operated entirely by remote control. The unmanned locomotive which pulled the train was of the same design as that which this year broke the world's speed record.

As part of a campaign to popularize the use of India's national language in place of the many dialects spoken throughout the provinces, the government's Railway Ministry is compiling a pamphlet listing railway terms in Hindi. So far, terms from A to H have been published, and copies of the pamphlet have been distributed to state governments and railway administrations. To further the plan, directories, notices and other printed matter in railway stations and on trains will be in Hindi.

An unpopulated railroad switching point in the desert region of southern New Mexico gave its name to the world's first successful explosion of an atomic bomb. The initial blast, which took place ten years ago, July 16, 1945, is known as the "Trinity" explosion because the railroad switching point of that name was the nearest spot to the steel tower where the first A-bomb was detonated.

TEACHERS OPEN INSTITUTE FRIDAY

Three hundred fifty school teachers and administrators are expected to attend the 99th annual Adams County Teachers Institute at New Oxford High School Friday.

County Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle said today the sessesions will be held on daylight saving time despite the fact that New Oxford's school system has reverted to standard time.

The program will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning with a band concert. Mrs. Betty Jane Moul will lead group singing during the program and Edwin C. Starner wil be accompanist. A talk by Dr. Paul E. Schmoyer and a meeting of the Adams County branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association will feature the morning sessions. In the afternoon the teachers will divide into groups for sectional meetings.

WEAVER ISSUES SPECIAL WEEK PROCLAMATION

Burgess William G. Weaver today issued a proclamation designating the week of October 2 as "Employ The Physically Handicapped Week." His proclamation follows:

"The physically handicapped are a definite part of our society with a just and rightful place in the social and economic life of our community and commonwealth. Therefore, it is necessary that they be given an equal opportunity with our so-called normal citizens to earn a livelihood that will give them a definite share in this American tradition.

"The employment of these persons not only is desirable socially but it provides a savings to government — the taxpayers of our community, state and nation. Work performance records show that a physically disabled person need not be vocationally handicapped. When a disabled individual is prepared and trained properly, and given selective placement, he can utilize to the utmost his capabilities.

Special Week

"Many of our governmental agencies, especially the Bureau of Rehabilitation and the State Employment Service, have been active throughout each year in promoting the welfare, rehabilitation and employment of the physically handicapped. Their efforts can be made more successful with the wholehearted cooperation of labor, industry, private groups, civic and fraternal organizations and individual citizens.

"Now, therefore, I, William G. Weaver, burgess of Gettysburg, do hereby designate and proclaim October 2 through October 8, 1955, as Employ the Physically Handicapped Week. I urge that our citizens use this opportunity to become better acquainted with the work achievements of the physically handicapped and to provide additional jobs so more of these persons can become self-sufficient."

Janice Sanders Is Apple Pie Queen

Miss Janice Sanders, a member of the Senior Class of Fairfield Joint High School was chosen the "Apple Pie Queen" of Fairfield Joint High School in a contest held Tuesday at the school. Second in the contest was Miss Marie Pryor, a Junior Class member. Catherine Gladhill and Lulu Stem were others who competed.

Those four members of the Home Economivc Class were chosen for the final contest from elimination contests held at the school. Each girl baked a pie following a recipe of her own choosing. The contestants were judged on the following. First, method of preparation, which included the arrangement of ingredients, sequence of work, techniques used and the ability and ease of workmanship; second, quality of product, including general appearance, texture and flavor; third, personality which included the ability to express herself during interview, posture, poise and grooming.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. George B. Inskip, Mrs. A. W. Geigley and Mr. Berghaus. Miss Sanders will represent her high school at the county contest to be held at a later date.

The pallbearers were: Hubert Wise, Samuel Stanton, Charles Beatty, Vincent Hill, Joseph Keith and William Keith.

COUNTY GIVEN $82,157 BY U.S. IN FOUR YEARS

Adams County has received $82,157 in matching funds from the federal government for Civil Defense purposes during the last four years, according to "The Keystone Defender," publication of Civil Defense in Pennsylvania.

The record shows the county received $20,676 in 1952; $48,763 in 1953; $6,786 in 1954, and has $5,932 approved for the current year in matching funds for the purchase of equipment used in Civil Defense.

Purchases made by the county units, with the federal government paying a portion of the cost, range from fire engines to radio transmitters, fire sirens and rescue trucks.

Some counties sought no matching funds. Franklin County made no applications in 1952 and 1953 but received $26,802 in 1954, and $4,120 this year. York County asked for none in 1952, but secured $97,800 in 1953; $67,756 in 1954, and $2,658 this year.

The table shows the following amounts in matching funds allocated to Pennsylvania during the four years: 1952, $5,762,146.40; 1953, $3,374,586; 1954, $1,773,644, and 1955, $1,565,936. The figures indicate that Pennsylvania counties and state spent at least that much additional for equipment in order to obtain the matching funds.

Two Properties Are Transferred

Richard S. and Edith V. Staub, Union Twp., sold to Charles E. and Evelyn C. Reed, Littlestown R. 1, for $5,300, a property in Union Twp.

William M. and Patricia Ann Rosensteel, Straban Twp., sold to James H. and Charlotte R. Waite, same place, for $464 a lot in that township.

STUDENTS GET FLYING LESSONS IN ARIZONA HIGH

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — When King, 18, got his high school diploma he went down to the airport and got his private pilot's license.

He was one of 522 students in College Aviation Department which is as much a part of the public schools as the physics, English or art departments.

The Phoenix schools are among the few with full-scale flying as a regular part of the curriculum. The set-up is accredited by the Civil Aeronautics Authority which says this is the kind of aviation education it would like to see open to all Americans.

The staff, four full-time instructors, four part-time instructors, a secretary and a director, is paid on the regular faculty scale, out of school district taxes. The department's offices and classrooms are at the airport. Maps and charts line the walls and the atmosphere, says Director Irvine B. Watts, "is strictly aviation." The department's laboratory hangar has seven light planes and three heavier planes for advanced students who are working for a commercial pilot's license.

The planes are serviced by aircraft mechanics students at Phoenix Technical High School ACAA-approved instructor checks out their work.

500 Licenses, Ratings

Students pay about $150 in a school year to use the planes. More than 500 licenses and advanced ratings have been awarded to Phoenix Flying School students by the CAA since 1949.

In 26,000 hours in the air, the only blot on the school's safety record is a broken landing light run over by a nervous student. Cost: $11.67. The pilot is now flying four-engine Constellation reconnaissance planes for the Navy.

Watts says not one student has ever become lost on a flight. He credits this record to careful ground instruction.

When a teen-ager reports for flying, he gets an hour of ground instruction, then an hour in the air — right away. For every hour in the plane there's an hour on the ground, studying maps, navigation, meteorology and theory of flight.

After the students get the thrill of their first solo flight, they go back to dual instructors for three hours so the instructors can keep them away from bad habits.

Some students drive out to the airport in expensive sports cars, more show up in jalopies held together with string and baling wire. Kay James, 19, who soloed a year ago, attends because she "just likes to fly." William Mattingly, 20, has been flying only one semester, but he's out to be a commercial pilot.

Dan Armer, just out of the Air Force, is a structural engineer. He figures flying will help him in his work. Jay Brashear, 24, a reporter-photographer for the Phoenix Gazette, has a private license and is training for a commercial rating. He says: "You never know when you'll have to get to something in a hurry."

Watts says reliability and self-confidence come naturally to a young pilot who has taken his plane on a 100-mile flight over open country, with only a map and a compass to guide him.

He pointed out Mike King. Only a few days before Mike won his wings, he came back to the classroom, dispirited over a bad landing.

"No alibis for him," Watts said. "That kid is learning how to profit by his mistakes. He came up to me and said, 'I just didn't do anything right . . . I guess it's back to more dual work for me until I straighten out.'"

What's behind this? Watts puts it this way:

"When you're up in the air you're alone. You're your own boss and you're free — free with life and death, maybe yours or somebody else's.

"Even at 18 years old the kids don't forget what that means."

Shilen Resigns Post; Takes Air Force Job

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Health Department Wednesday announced the resignation of Dr. Joseph Shilen, director of the Bureau of Industrial Hygiene and a department employe for 15 years.

Dr. Shilen said he had accepted an appointment as chief of the preventive medicine and occupational health services branch at Olmsted Air Force base at nearby Middletown.

PARENTS' PRIDE ENCOURAGES YOUNG MUSICIAN

CHICAGO — A parent's pride in a child's accomplishments is an important encouragement for a budding musician.

Dr. John C. Kendel, vice president of the American Music Conference and former director of music education of Denver, Colo. public schools, says a child's reluctance to practice is a very normal reaction. A few questions by a parent about lessons will encourage the child to want to learn.

The idea that music practice is work instead of play often results when parents, in their anxiety to give a child everything, consider music an investment rather than an intangible asset for the child's future happiness.

Dr. Kendel says the first step in smoothing the ruffled atmosphere at first mention of "time to practice" is quieting the child's suspicion that playing an instrument is a thankless task.

Children come by music naturally. They discover it when babies, and in kindergarten they are thrilled that they can make music with simple instruments such as flutes and ocarinas.

Want To Copy Parents

The first important consideration, however, should be the family's regard for music. Children instinctively want to pattern themselves after Mother and Dad. If either plays a musical instrument, they'll want to play too.

Next, the music teacher's attitude toward the child's playing should match the home attitude — that it's fun to learn music and not just another form of homework.

Once the music lesson is no longer considered a "pain in the neck," the parent can permit the child to split his practice time into two or three units. This will keep him from getting restless and bored.

Dr. Kendel says it is up to parents to realize that the practice hour is important, if only to the child's ultimate use of music in his life.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Town Girl Wins Staff Promotion: One of the highest honors at St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, was accorded Miss Nancy Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Keith, of Gettysburg, when by unanimous vote, her own excepted, she was elected first associate and alumnae news editor of the Valley Echo.

Central Gettysburg Boys Organized: The Centra, Gettysburg Boys' Club was organized Monday evening in the Gettysburg Times office. There are 18 members. Grover Thompson was elected president; Richard Thompson, vice president; Jay Patterson, secretary, and Jack Mitchell, treasurer. In addition to the officers elected the members are: Chester Reaver, Jay McGlaughlin, Maurice Rubenstine, Harry Bender, John Smith, Robert Smith, Fred Wagner, Joseph Reaver, George Svarnas, John MacPherson, Herbert L. Grimm, James Waddle and Raymond Cullison.

Councilmen Move To Provide Work Plans For Unemployed Here: Determined to provide work projects for Gettysburg's unemployed rather than buy food for them during the winter council took action to prepare four projects and discussed about a dozen more Wednesday evening.

Councilman C. W. Epley, who presented the projects for consideration, said Gettysburg's quota of unemployed, approximately 200 must be provided with work or council will be compelled by the state and federal relief agencies to buy food for them.

Cupid Dealt Blow By State: C. F. Palmer, clerk of the Adams County courts, today called attention to a new state law effective October 1, which provides that marriage licenses will not be granted until three full days after the day application for such license is filed in his office.

As a result of the new law, Adams County will lose much of its attractivenes as a Gretna Green with couples from out of state because it will be inconvenient for them to make two trips to Gettysburg.

Retired Hershey Associate Expires Here: James B. Leithiser, for fifteen years one of the chief associates of M. S. Hershey, president of the Hershey Chocolate Corporation, Hershey, but in recent years living retired in Gettysburg, died at his home, 225 N. Washington St., this morning at 9 o'clock of complications. While Mr. Leithiser worked for the Hershey chocolate corporation he was in charge of the development of the Hershey interests at Hershey, Cuba.

'Kerchief Chain Letters: A new chain-letter racket has reached Gettysburg.

But the new racket does not involve money. It is used to bolster the depleted handkerchief stocks of Mi Lady, or to swell the cedar-lined quilt chests.

The new chain-letter stunt is operated along lines almilar to the dime or dollar chain letter scheme, but instead of sending money to the top name of the list, the receiver sends either a handkerchief or a quilt patch.

Today's Talk

OUTLOOKS

How important are the many oulooks of life! At every age they meet us and our eyes never grow weary from measuring them as guide posts in our daily living. We say of many people that they have a cheerful outlook on life. That means they are not self contained, but keep giving themselves away. Their world is the world of everyone else.

I often sat and meditated in my interesting "Outlook" at my summer island retreat in Nova Scotia. It was built by a Micmac Indian, and does much to "trade-mark" my place. You look out upon a beautiful body of water and you wonder how it all came about. Outlooks make one think. There are outlooks high among great bodies of timber, where watchful eyes keep tab in case of fires. In war there are sentries whose duty is to be on the outlook to protect an army.

My dictionary says that an outlook is "a way of thinking about things." The business man, whose business may not be good, can think either good or bad about how things stand. If he has a confident and optimistic outlook everything is in his favor. Too many fail because they do not think themselves out of trouble. Their outlook is dull and dark.

Thinking makes so many "impossible" things possible! The outlook is often everything. One can review himself, and then he can review everything ahead and make plans accordingly. In a ship at sea the man who does the outlook business is very important indeed. As pilot his whole concern is for his ship. Thus with us all, if we keep an intelligent and watchful eye upon what may be ahead, we will go far. We are guided by our outlooks. Each becomes a way station to the object of our plans and dreams. Ours must be the forward look and the will to keep carrying on to our objective and destination. Our outlooks must be those of the clear vision if we would gain our heart's desire.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Little Want Ads"

BRING ON THE CAKE

Ellen Elizabeth, fair as a queen,
Enters this morning another new teen.
The number, you ask me? Yes, I know it well,
But grandpa has promised her never to tell.
This I can say, she has come to the stage
When pretty young maidens don't mention their age.

How many candles will glow on the cake?
If I should tell you, my promise I'd break.
There'll be enough, as we gather about,
For Ellen at once with one puff to blow out.
But birthdays however the number may mount,
Are festival days that no longer we'll count.

Long last her laughter, as time quickly flies.
Long shine the twinkle that brightens her eyes.
Happy the birthdays that still are to be.
Be good to her, life, for so lovely is she.
Time, treat her gently; keep heartache away.
This is the wish of her grandpa today.

Make Arrangements For Company Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — Scott Paper Company, of Chester, Pa., and Compania Industrial de San Cristobal S.A., Mexico City, are working out arrangements under which Scott would acquire an interest in San Cristobal in connection with plans to make sanitary paper products in Mexico.

The Mexican firm makes pulp from sugar cane bagasse and manufactures various grades of paper. Scott is the world's largest maker of sanitary paper products.

The plans were announced yesterday.

Mental Defective Bill Is Proposed In Senate

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General Assembly was asked to appropriate 11 million dollars for construction of a new Pennsylvania school for mental defectives.

Sen. Whalley (R—Somerset) introduced the bill yesterday and said it was aimed at relieving overcrowding at Polk State School, Venango County.

Another new bill reaching the Senate would require that school bus service be provided in rural areas for children living within one and one half miles of the school instead of two miles as now required. Sponsors are Sens. Seyler (D—York), Wade (R — Cumberland) and Haya (D—Centre).

BUSINESS GOES ON AS USUAL IN WASHINGTON

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The image of Vice President Nixon as "acting president" — which emerged briefly during the first days of President Eisenhower's illness — is fading fast.

Key administration officials, after a second look around, have decreed a "business as usual" policy.

The raw political reality of the situation is that the vice president has no greater authority today in the affairs of state than he had before the President's heart attack. Psychologically, Nixon has been raised to a position of new prominence because he is first in line of succession in case of the President's death or incapacitation—but actually his legal position remains unchanged.

Advisory Group Meets

The fact that Nixon is not in a position to make final decisions which are given by law to the President is underlined by today's meeting of the National Security Council in which Nixon assumes the role of presiding officer in the absence of the President, a role he has had before.

The council came into being in August 1947 during the administration of Harry S. Truman.

The law designated as its members the President, vice president, secretaries of state and defense, and the directors of foreign aid and defense mobilization.

During the 1952 presidential campaign, GOP candidate Eisenhower called the NSC "more a shadow agency than a really effective policy maker" and he promised to do something about it if elected.

Increases Membership

After his election, he did raise the NSC to a higher policy-study level and to a place of greater prestige. In addition to the membership fixed by law, he called in other members of his Cabinet, executive agencies, and the military to help with the policy planning.

But despite its new position of influence in shaping national policy, the council remains an advisory group which can only recommend. The council cannot legally adopt or promote a national policy which does not have the President's approval.

Thus it is that Nixon, as presiding officer, can help the council in shaping recommendations but it is the President himself who must act to transform those recommendations into action.

Littlestown

LITTLESTOWN: American Legion Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, will hold a shrimp feed and smoker on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at the post home, E. King St. Members are urged to attend and bring their friends. Arrangements are in charge of the house committee, consisting of Harold W. Messinger, chairman, Claude Snyder, J. Donald Lemmon, Noah C. Snyder, Herman G. Kaler, Elmer W. Duttera, Clyde H. Rohrbaugh, William Pfaff, Vernon J. Study, George C. DeHoff, Herman Newman and Donald L. Beford.

Mrs. William J. Lippy, Littlestown, R. 1 was hostess to the Tuck-a-Bache Sunday School Class of St. John's Lutheran Church Tuesday evening with ten members and four visitors in attendance. Mrs. Alvin J. Groft, president, presided. The meeting began with group singing; Scripture lesson, Mrs. Groft; sentence prayers, opened by Mrs. Groft and closed by Mrs. Lippy. Reports were given by Mrs. Joseph Selby, secretary, and Mrs. George W. Strevig, treasurer.

The birthdays of Mrs. Lippy, Mrs. Groft, Mrs. Selby, Mrs. William C. Karns and Mrs. Malcolm Hess, were noted. The meeting concluded with a Bible quiz and other contests conducted by Mrs. Selby and Mrs. George Trump. The Lord's Prayer was then repeated in unison. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lippy, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Glenn Lippy. A "toot party" will be held at the next meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 25, at the church. The October program will be in charge of Mrs. Groft and Mrs. William Shadle.

Girl Scout Troop 34 enjoyed a sports night program on Tuesday evening at the community playground. Mrs. Carroll E. Arter and Mrs. Robert W. Gouker were in charge.

Christ Reformed Church will serve a roast chicken and oyster supper on Saturday, Oct. 8, beginning at 4 p.m., in the parish hall. The public is invited.

APPROVE LAND BILL

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two bills authorizing state purchase of additional land for Danville State Hospital had unanimous House approval today.

The measures were passed 208-0 yesterday and sent to the Senate. One would appropriate $15,000 for a tract along Blue Hills Drive in Riverside, Northumberland County and the other would set aside $2,600 for two acreas known as the Cook property in Danville.

Bigger in performance, power and appearance, this new 1956 Mercury Monterey coupe emphasizes the lower silhouette of the entire line of Mercurys for 1956. With 13 models in three series—Montclair, Monterey and Custom—Mercury offers an impressive variety of color and fabric combinations. A new Mercury Safety-Surge V-8 engine with 312 cubic inch displacement further enhances Mercury's acceleration and power throughout all the driving range.

ROTARIANS TELL OF VISITS

Littlestown Rotarians told of visits with other Rotary Clubs at the dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Schottle's Hotel. George P. Smith, chairman of the Fellowship and Attendance Committee, spoke of his visits and introduced the following, who spoke briefly: Ernest W. Dunbar, Arthur E. Bair St., Roy D. Knouse, Paul E. King and Dr. Howard A. Stonesifer. Visiting Rotarians present were: E. J. Powell, Upper Darby; Armor Hostetter and A. S. Sargeant, Hanover.

The Club will entertain the teachers of the Littlestown Joint School System, at a Ladies' Night banquet Oct. 11 in the social hall of Redeemer's Reformed Church.

The annual magazine campaign is being conducted by the Littlestown Junior-Senior High School students. It was initiated at a kick-off assembly Wednesday, and will close in ten days. Proceeds will go to the school's music and athletic funds.

Those from Redeemer's Reformed Church who attended the fall meeting of the Mercersburg Synod, Tuesday in First Church, Carlisle, were: Rev. Porter W. Selwell and Mrs. Selwell, Elder Harry Cratin, Deacon Robert H. Miller, Miss Mary Jane Staley, Mrs. John W. LeGore, Mrs. Charles A. Hofe, Mrs. Calvin M. Sentz Sr., Miss Evelyn Hornberger and Mrs. Jeannette Wahler.

Those from Christ Reformed Church who attended were: Rev. G. Howard Koons, Mrs. Harry C. Wildasin and Mrs. Stanley R. Sell.

The sophomore clas of the Littlestown High School will hold a skating party Friday, at 7:30 p.m., at Bankert's. A queen will be crowned and a "mystery man" will be presented. Each girl will receive a corsage.

LIVE POULTRY

Market weak. Prices lower. Most all classes were in heavy supply and clearing very slowly. Carried-over fryers and turkeys pressed for clearance as dealers offered price discounts. Increased receipts of heavy-type hens were reported late yesterday and prices declined 2 cents following a lighter trading interest. Ordinary lots of hens (fowl) and fryers practically at a standstill. Wholesale selling prices per pound in Baltimore:

BROILERS OR FRYERS—3 pounds and over, 27—28c., mostly 27—27½c.
HENS — Heavy type, 24—26c., few higher; lighter type, 16c.
PULLETS—38c.
DUCKS—Pekins, 30c.; Mussovies, 27c.
TURKEYS—Heavy type young hens, 40c.
OTHERS—Too few sales to quote prices.

CATTLE—650. Bulk of receipts being watered and fed for Thursday's market. Early sales confined to cows which sold steady to weak. Utility and commercial cows, $11 to $12.50. Canners and cutters bulked at $8 to $11. Odd utility slaughter bulls at $14.

CALVES—100. Trade very slow on a small supply. Early sales about steady. Few utility to low good vealers sold at $12 to $21.

HOGS—250. Trade slow on a small supply at about steady prices on both barrows and gilts and sows. Bulk mixed U.S. No. 1 to 3, 180 to 230 pound barrows and gilts, $17.25 to $17.50; 230 to 270 pounds, $16.50 to $17.25. Butchers over 270 pounds and under 180 pounds scarce. Few No. 2 and 3, 270 to 300 lbs., $15.25 to $16.25; 120 to 140 lbs., quoted at $14.75 to $15.50; 140 to 160 lbs., $15.50—16.50; 160 to 180 lbs., $16.50—17.25. SHEEP—50. Early supply confined to 44 head good to choice: 81 to 86 lb. spring slaughter lambs which sold steady at $21.

Western Officials Seeking 2 Slayers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Wyoming prosecutor and sheriff are due here at the weekend for a conference with the FBI before talking to two Pennsylvania convicts charged with murdering 62-year-old Herbert Diestler, of Lawndale Calif.

County Attorney William Dixon and Sheriff Earl Heflin of Natrona County, Wyoming, left Cheyenne last night for New York and Philadelphia. They said they had a Monday morning date with the FBI here, and later intend to see the accused—Kenneth Phillips, 28, and Ernest Lindsay, 22—in Graterford penitentiary.

Diestler's body was found in a shallow grave 17 miles southwest of Casper, Wyo., last Thursday night. A Natrona County coroner's jury ruled Monday night that Diestler died from four .45 calibre bullet wounds inflicted near Shawnee, Wyo., on June 19.

MALE ANKLES NOW UNVEILED

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is the year that the U.S. male comes into his own.

Now his well-turned ankles, exposed by shorter trousers and lower-cut shoes and florified by dazzling socks, rate whistles from the girls.

Socks are being turned out in every conceivable color, pattern and knit — all for the greater glory of the male ankle. Some of the untraditional colors that will be plainly visible this year include: hello, shrimp, burnt orange, flamingo, lemon, lime and champagne pink.

It seems the men are buying them, too. Since the first conservative male was won over to a pink shirt, all bars seem to be down.

The vivid tints are used in various ways — as a discreet accent against a neutral background, or as a traffic-stopping blaze of color in a bold pattern.

Yarns used in the new socks cover a wide range — dacron, nylon, wool-and-nylon, orlon-and-nylon, as well as the more familiar wool, cotton and silk.

Other new wrinkles in the sock lineup are the stretch-to-fit sock and the built-in garter support.

TO ABANDON LINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday authorized the Pennsylvania railroad to abandon operation of a four-mile branch line between Shamokin Pa., and the Natalien colliery. The track, reported as no longer needed by the public, is owned by the Shamokin Valley-Pottsville Railroad Co., which now may remove the line.

STEEPLECHASE PRIZES GO TO GRANDMOTHER

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little, white-haired Mom Adams looks as if she would be more at home at a church tea than a race track — but her stable of steeplechase horses nauls in some of turfdom's top purses.

Now at New York's famous Belmont track with a string of 26 horsen, Mrs. Clara E. Adams and her champ riding son, Dooley, hope to better their 1954 record of 26 wins, second last year throughout the United States.

Mom took over active management of the family stable in Southern Pines, N. C., in 1939, after the serious illness of her husband, Frank. Says she:

"I'll admit things were a little tough then, when I took over the stable for better or worse. But with the whole sport staging a comeback now and the Temple Gwathmey Memorial (the Kentucky Derby of steeplecashers) being raised in value this year from $15,000 to $50,000, we should do all right."

Mrs. Adams, who stands 5 feet 1 and is a doting grandma of Dooley's 3½-year-old son, Mike, not only manages but also trains her string of champion jumpers. Son Dooley is rated tops among steeplechase riders, and little Mike already is riding full-sized horses.

Commands Respect

At major tracks around the country, Mom commands the respect of the most seasoned old-timers. Her champion jumper, Errolford, ridden by her son, won the Temple Gwathmey at Belmont in 1953, and last year Dooley rode 38 winners over brush and hurdles to become the leading steeplechase jockey in America — under the canny tutoring of his mother.

No race is too big for the Adams family. In 1947, Mom decided Dooley at 19, should ride her top horse, Refugio, in England's Grand National. Dooley's bride, Cynthia, then only 16, acted as exercise boy for the horse, at Mom's urging, and the Adams entry placed seventh in a field of 59 horses and riders — a phenomenal feat in the opinion of the international racing set.

Looking ahead, Mom figures that by the time Dooley is ready to retire as a rider grandson Mike will be ready to take over the reins.

American citizens have given over $2,600,000,000 for new religious structures in the past five years, reports the American Assn. of Fund-Raising Counnel, Inc.

The average U. S. farmer now spends about $3,000 a year for feed, seed, fertilizer, petroleum products, machinery, building materials and hardware.

Equal Pay For Women Wins House Approval

HARRISBURG (AP)—A proposal to assure equal pay for women doing the same job as men was ready for Senate action today following approval by the House.

The House yesterday passed a bill that would forbid any employer in industry, trade, business or the professions from discriminating in payment of wages between men and women workers.

ADVANTAGES OF KNIFE-WHETTING ARE EXPLAINED

CHICAGO (AP) — Keeping a kitchen knife sharp is one of the homemaker's toughest problems.

So says Purley A. Crandell, an authority on the subject of knives and how to keep 'em sharp. But he says it can be made easy if we take a tip from the barber and butcher who depend on sharp blades for a living.

This may account for the fact that knife-sharpening is considered a task only for the professional.

The best method, says Crandell, is the old-fashioned whetting operation, despite all the knife sharpening gadgets yet devised. He demonstrates a new silicone carbide sharpening stone. It is used on a knife blade in the manner of whittling on a stick.

Paddle Stone

The wood-backed stone is paddled across the blade of the knife in a whetting motion with the right hand while holding the knife with the left. The operation is repeated on the other side of the blade by changing hands with tools. Two or three whettings and the job is done.

Crandell says when a dull knife is sharpened with the stone, tiny serrations invisible to the eye are returned to their normal straight position, putting a keen edge on the blade.

The habit of sharpening cutlery once a week or even once a month gives greater satisfaction when there are meat-carving jobs to do.

MATCHING SOCKS FOR 10 CHILDREN IS HARDEST JOB

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Raising 10 children is bound to create perplexing problems for a mother.

But Mrs. St. John Park says the most exasperating job is matching up socks.

The rest of it, she and her husband say, is practically duck soup. They say they have more spare time with 10 children than parents with only one.

The little Parks, six boys and four girls, range in age from 2 to 15. Seven of them are in school and that's one place where system takes over.

Sending seven youngsters off to school requires a bunch of lunches. So the parents take one large loaf of sandwich bread and line the slices up piece by piece. Mrs. Park spreads the dressing and Park follows right behind adding the filler. Then they work from each end to top and wrap the sandwiches.

So far, Park says, medical and dental bills have been fairly light. There have been no injuries and the only illness, the father says, were the four tonsillectomies and the "usual amount of runny noses."

But how to entertain such a crowd? That's easy, Park says. Dunk them in Lake Chickamauga in the summer, and, oh yes, the drive-in movies are a real bargain.

50 Cents A Carload

"We can get in with the car loaded with children for 50 cents."

Baby sitting is no problem, says Mrs. Park, 36. The family has its own professional sitters' organization.

She says the four oldest take care of the four youngest, and the ones in the middle take care of themselves.

The father, who is associated with an investment firm, keeps them in a 7½-room house, but he says "We need to add on right away."

That's right, he says, another little one is on its way.

"We are planning to have just as many as arrive," the 39-year-old Park adds, "and we'll just take them as they come . . . both male or female; there's work to be done."

Yankees Blast Dodgers Big Ace Newcombe To Win First Opening Tilt Of '55 Series

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Dreary indeed was the Brooklyn outlook today as the Dodgers, triving to win their first world championship, again came to grips with their nemesis New York Yankees in the second game of the 1955 World Series.

Downed in yesterday's opener by a left-hander, the kind they've blasted all over the National League during the regular season, the Dodgers faced the same southpaw dose today. Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, encouraged by lefty Whitey Ford's victory despite an admittedly mediocre pitching performance, came right back with Tommy Byrne (16-5).

Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers was shaken somewhat by the Yankees' savage home run barrage that blasted his ace right-hander Don Newcombe off the hill and powered them to a 6-5 victory. But he decided to entrust Billy Loes (10-4), another right-hander, with the "get even" asignment.

Fair and sunny weather was predicted.

Yankee Adds Zoom

With one game in the bag, the odds went up on the Yankees to make it six straight series victories over the Dodgers. The American League champions are now 9-5 to take all the marbles and 6-5 to take today's game despite the continued absence of Mickey Mantle from the starting lineup.

The ailing center fielder, still unable to run hard on his torn right thigh, reported after a light workout before yesterday's game that he didn't think he'd play at all in the series.

Yesterday's 63,369 cash customers saw a whale of a game.

Five home runs were blasted by both sides, one short of the record for one game. Three of them were hit by the Yankees, two by first baseman Joe Collins and one by left fielder Elston Howard. They drove in all but one of the Yankee runs.

Newcombe Is Drubbed

Newcombe, Brooklyn's pride and only 20-game winner, was the victim of all New York's homers and runs and all but one of their nine hits before finally shuffling off the mound in the sixth inning.

Ford was the winner, but he was no ball of fire either. The compact little 18-game winner was tagged for nine of Brooklyn's 10 safeties, including home runs by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider. He also issued four passes but was good enough when he had to be except in the eighth inning when the Dodgers struck back for two runs to cut the Yankees' lead to one run.

The last Brooklyn run was an electrifying steal of home by Jackie Robinson that ignited the only real argument of the afternoon. Yankee catcher Yogi Berra argued Plate Umpire Bill Summer's decision, insisting he had tagged Robinson but the American League umpire stood firm.

Turning Point

The turning point of the game came in the fourth inning. With two on and one out, Yankee Billy Martin made a dazzling stop of Pee Wee Reese's wicked smash to his left and turned it into a double play.

Ford, who now has a 2-1 series record, retired the side in order in the sixth and seventh but after weathering a storm in the eighth, was removed by Stengel.

Bob Grim sealed the victory with a scoreless ninth.

Furman football coach Homer Hobbs is looking for 60-minute performnces from ends Sid Maddox and Dick Pfeifer and tackles Dave Young and Julia Freeman.

MT. CARMEL AND CONEMAUGH TWP. ARE STANDOUTS

HARRISBURG (AP) — With the scholastic football season closing out its first month of action two defending conference champions—Mount Carmel and Conemaugh Twp.—continue to stand out as the powerhouses.

Both went into games Monday against opposition rated as tough as either team would find in its conference. Both won by wide margins.

Mount Carmel, defending East Penn conference champion, powered over Mahanoy City 24-7. The only mar in the Red Tornado's perfect record this season is the lone touchdown scored by Mahanoy City. It was the first point scored against Mount Carmel in three games.

Coach Mike Terry's lads have amassed a total of 76 points against Sayre, Tamaqua and Mahanoy City—all rugged teams.

Meanwhile, Conemaugh Twp. scampered around, over and through Ferndale in a dazzling 47-6 victory. Until the Monday game Ferndale had been rated a fair prospect to knock off Conemaugh Twp., defending Western Conference champ.

15 Straight Wins

If Conemaugh Twp. gets by Ebensburg this weekend, the Indians may go all the way again. The Monday victory brought to 15 the number of consecutive games since 1953 won by Conemaugh Twp. This year they have run up 140 points to 19 scored by opponents.

Both Conemaugh Twp. and Mount Carmel were originally scheduled to play last Friday, but their games were postponed because of rain. The postponement means a quick return to action this weekend and speculation is rampant on possible upsets.

Mount Carmel will take on Berwick Friday night. Berwick defeated Sunbury last Friday, 28-6.

The traditionally powerful WPIAL is engaged in a grueling dog-eat-dog battle to determine supremacy of double A schools in the league. The rule is one loss or tie and a team is out of competition for the crown.

Defending champion Clairton was knocked out of contention in the first game of the season by Connellsville, which has since been eliminated itself.

Likely contenders still maintaining a shaky grasp on undefeated records in league games are Allquippa, Brownsville, Butler, Penn, Rochester, Sharon and Turtle Creek, each with one win. Johnstown and Washington are in the lead currently on the basis of two victories.

19 Eliminated

So far 19 of 36 eligible teams have been eliminated from competition in the circuit in three weeks of action.

Of the leaders, Washington travels to Monongahela for another WPIAL clash with the odds heavily favoring the Washingtonians, though Monongahela has carded a respectable 6-6 tie against Monessen.

In other ction 1954 unbeaten, untied teams still clinging to their records besides Conemaugh Twp. will see action this weekend.

On Saturday strong Lower Merion, of suburban Philadelphia, will attempt to extend its unbeaten string to 16 against Ridley Twp., while Old Forge, in the East Penn, goes to Carbondale in an attempt to maintain its unblemished record.

Mahanoy Twp., one of the prime contenders for East Penn honors continued its win streak Monday by edging St. Clair 19-13. The townshippers have a day off this weekend.

Guy Lombardo's Tempo VII, winner of Detroit's Silver Cup Regatta, will compete in the International Cup Regatta at Elizabeth City, N. C., on October 1-2.

BILLY MARTIN, CAMPANELLA IN TAGGING FEUD

NEW YORK (AP)—A bitter feud is developing between Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella and New York second baseman Billy Martin and if they happen to come in contact with each other in today's second World Series game, it wouldn't surprise anyone to see them come up swinging.

It all started when Martin proclaimed a couple of days ago that Campy was gun shy—that is, he fell back on contact plays. Campanella laughed that one off, but when Martin tried to steal home unsuccesfully in the Yanks' opening 6-5 victory yesterday, the Brook catcher really got annoyed.

"Any time that shrimp thinks he's going to run over me, little as he is, I'll break every bone in his body," growled the usually amiable Campy. "Just let him take two steps toward me and I'll take care of him. He's been too smart for too long."

Aimed For Teeth

When Martin came out of the dust after being tagged out, he made a threatening gesture toward Campanella, but Roy was on his way to the dugout by then, so it didn't mean anything.

"If it had been a regular-season game instead of a World Series, I'd have punched him in the nose," snarled the scrappy Martin. "That was the second time he hit me in the neck with a tag."

Martin was referring to an incident in the '53 series when he ran into Campy, only to be tagged out.

Appraised of Martin's remarks, Campanella grunted:

"I missed tagging him where I wanted to by about three inches. I'd like to have tagged him in the teeth."

PENN STATE TO PREPARE FOR ARMY BATTLE

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Penn State's football squad tore into final drills today determined to be more than ready when it meets Army at West Point Saturday.

"We'll give Army a good go of it," coach Rip Engle said. He wouldn't predict any results of the clash at Michie Stadium, but he declared his team "is a little better off" than in the last meeting of Penn State and Army in 1950.

That year—Engle's first as Penn State coach—Army drubbed the Nittany Lions 41-7.

Engle said he was "very much pleased" by movies of his team in action last Saturday against Boston University. State won the game 35-0 at Beaver Field.

"The boys were running, pursuing and tackling," he noted. "They were playing like they really loved football."

However, while the Lions were knocking over Boston University, Army was crushing Furman 81-0—the biggest score an Army team has collected since 1944 when the famous Blanchard-Davis combination trampled Villanova 83-0.

Two Fullbacks Out

State won the BU clash without any serious injuries, but No.1 and No.2 fullbacks Bill Straub and Emil Caprara were not expected to see action against Army.

Holding down the fullback spot probably will be Joe Sabol or Jim Lockerman, who started against BU last week.

Engle is counting on a well balanced attack to keep him in the running against the Cadets. Quarterbacks Bobby Hoffman and Milton Plum both showed passing ability against BU.

Lenny Moore, who was second in the nation in ground gaining last year, collected 71 yards last week. His breakaway effectiveness will be balanced at right halfback by Billy Kane, who also showed well against Boston U.

Engle's end mea are still a question mark. In all, nine ends saw action last week with Ned Finkbeiner and Leo Kwalik the starters.

'Penn State has only won one game against Army in a five-game series dating back to 1899. The lions won that year 6-0. In 1900 it was a 0-0 tie, while in 1939 it was a 14-14 deadlock.

After that it was all Army with scores of 42-7 in 1949 and 41-7 in 1950.

Fourth Inning Double Play Was Turning Point Against Dodgers' Hope For Victory

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—What was the decisive factor in the first game of the 1955 World Series: the three Yankee home runs? The pitching of Whitey Ford and the relief work of Bob Grim?

It was none of these, in the opinion of Carl Furillo of thee beaten Brooklyn Dodgers. A great many baseball men such as Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees agreed with him.

"The turning point was that double play that Billy Martin started in the fourth inning," said Furillo. "It looked as if we had Ford on the run and then boom—"

The score was tied at 3-3 and home runs by Furillo and Duke Snider as well as a booming triple by Jackie Robinson had perhaps unsteadied Ford a bit. Then in the fourth Don Zimmer drew a base on balls. Don Newcombe forced him, but Junior Gilliam worked Ford for another walk and the Yankee dugout began to stir.

Martin Starts Play

Up came the always dangerous Pee Wee Reese. He cracked a sharp grounder deep to Martin, and the peppery Yankee second baseman made a clean stop and a fast throw to Phil Rizzuto. Despite Gillim's hard slide into second, Rizzuto's peg reached first ahead of Reese.

The Yankees went on to win 6-5 and gain a jump that has proved vital in the series nearly two times out of three. The team that won the opener has won the series 32 times and lost it 19.

To baseball men this sparkling double play at the precise moment it was needed was all important. It overshadowed the five home runs and Jackie Robinson's spectacular steal of home in the eighth.

Dodgers Score First

Furillo opened the scoring in the second inning for the Dodgers with a homer into the right field stands. After Gil Hodges grounded out, Robinson blasted a triple to deep center, and Don Zimmer singled him home.

The Yankees retaliated in the bottom of the second. Joe Collins drew a base on balls from Don Newcombe and Elston Howard promptly hit the second homer of the game—this one into the left field stands.

In the top of the third Duke Snider hit the game's third homer into the upper deck of right field. Again the Yankees drew even in their half, with a base on balls to Ford, followed by Hanke Bauer's single to left, and grounders by Gil McDougald and Irv Noren, the latter scoring Ford.

Joe Collins Homers

In the bottom of the fourth the Yankees went out ahead 4-3 on Joe Collins home run, the fourth of the game, a high poke into the lower right field seats.

The Yankee's raised their total to 6 in the sixth on Yogi Berra's single and Collins' second home run, this one higher and further into the bleachers in right center.

The Dodgers drew close to the Yankees in the eighth when Furillo singled—his third hit of the game—and Robinson was safe on Gil McDougald's error. Furillo scored on Zimmer's fly to center and Robinson advanced to third. When Ford did not pay him much heed, he took a tremendous lead and slid home safely—the 18th time in his career he has done so, and the ninth time anyone has ever stolen home in a series game.

Buddy Dike, TCU fullback who missed half the 1954 season with a fractured kidney, will play with a special protective pad developed by trainer Elmer Brown.

JOE COLLINS' HOMERS HELP MAKE UP LOSS

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—A three-year nightmare turned into a golden dream for Joe Collins, the thin, sinewy part-time first baseman of the New York Yankees.

His two mighty home runs sent the Yankees off to a 6-5 opening day victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday and erased some of the harrowing memories of his total "bust" in a similar series in 1952.

In that series against Brooklyn Collins went hitless in 12 times at bat and struck out four times in one game with Carl Erskine pitching.

"This sort of lets me off the hook," said the 32-year-old veteran, a Yankee hanger-on in recent years. "It's a wonderful feeling."

The outstanding individual player of the first game was this rawboned son of a Polish immigrant reared in the hard coal regions of Scranton, Pa., and a ball player for the last 16 years.

"I'm glove man," says Collins, pointing to five gloves, including four first baseman's mitts occupying the top shelf in his locker.

Used Mantle's Bat

His batting average in four world series is .148. In two he went hitless. For the 1955 season he batted .234.

Manager Casey Stengel, a "hunch" man, said he played Collins in the latter stages of the season only "because we had a winning streak going and I didn't want to break up the combination."

During the season, Collins hit two home runs in one game off the Chicago White Sox' Dick Donovan. Another time he got a pair of out-of-the-park belts off Cleveland's Early Wynn.

"I was using one of Mickey Mantle's bats," Collins said. "They're lighter and I can whip them around better. Also I changed my stance a little to try to get out of my slump.

"But as for slumps, I'm always in a hitting slump."

OKLAHOMA IS SELECTED TO DEFEAT PITT

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone says pitching contributes 80 per cent to the success of a team in baseball's world series. The winners pitched you in last week's forecast came to .796 with 39 correct guesses and 10 losses.

This brought the season's totals to 56 right, 18 wrong, .759.

Here are this week's picks:

Oklahoma over Pittsburgh: The Sooners didn't exactly sparkle last weekend and Pittsburgh did but Oklahoma is a strong favorite to extend college football's longest current winning streak to 21

Army over Penn State: Lenny Moore is an established backfield star for Penn State and Don Holleder still is a question mark at quarterback for Army but the Cadets get the nod.

Iowa Over Badgers

Iowa over Wisconsin: The day's upset special. Two well-equipped teams both in the line and in the backfield but Iowa has Calvin Jones in addition.

Maryland over Baylor: The country's No. 1 team will discover that they grow them rough and ready in Texas.

Southern California over Texas: A Friday night contest. Jon Arnett gambols before the home folk.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodist: Tech has won the last four meetings and no indication that either team has changed its habits.

Navy over South Carolina: South Carolina, with Mackie Prickett the hero, spilled Army a year ago. Prickett is injured this year and Navy has been fully alerted to the Carolina dangers.

Irish Over Indiana

Ohio State over Stanford: Your weekly TV morsel. The Buckeyes can't go to the Rose Bowl this season so they will make a "show" of this game.

Notre Dame over Indiana: The Irish by two touchdowns.

Skipping over some others:

Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Harvard over Massachusetts, Princeton over Columbia, Yale over Brown, Boston University over Connecticut, Colgate over Cornell.

Purdue over Minnesota, Michigan over Michigan State, Kentucky over Villanova, West Virginia over Wake Forest, Duke over Tennessee, California over Pennsylvania.

STANLEY WARNER MAJESTIC

GHS Invades Chambersburg For SP Loop Tilt Friday; Delone Host To Lancaster

Stung by a pair of losses and a tie in three previous games, a determined Gettysburg High School football squad will take the field at Chambersburg Friday evening when the Warriors and Trojans inaugurate their South Penn Conference schedule.

Chambersburg has been a nemesis for Gettysburg over a long span of years. In fact the Warriors haven't won from the Trojans on the gridiron since 1942 when a 12-0 triumph was gained. When the Warriors turned in their only unbeaten record in history in 1951, the only blot on the season was a 20-20 deadlock with Chambersburg.

Series Began In 1919

Since the inception of the series in 1919, Gettysburg won eight, lost 16, while five wound up in ties. The last stalemate was a 6-6 tie in 1952, Chambersburg winning 22-0 in 1953 and 13-0 last year.

In its only game this season Chambersburg came from behind to defeat Scotland 21-7. Using the split-T attack this year under their new coach, Galen Warren, the Trojans depend heavily on three veterans backs, Sid Wells, Bill Kolb and Larry Haulman. Up front the mainstay of the line is Nelson Carmack, an all-conference tackle a year ago.

Coach Howard Shoemaker's outfit has accounted for two touchdowns in each game, five of which have been scored by Dick Stough, one of the finest running backs in the area. However, the Warriors have been weak on the defense and have yielded eight touchdowns in losing to Westminster and Delone while tying with Shippensburg.

Delone—Lancaster

A big crowd is expected at McSherrystown Friday evening where the fast-moving Squires will open their Central Pennsylvania Catholic League season by entertaining Lancaster Catholic.

After bowing to Hanover 32-7 in a game much closer than the score indicates, the Squires bounced back with a 28-12 win over Gettysburg and a 34-0 decision over Scotland.

Coach Alex Bell has whipped together a smooth-working aggregation which has been spear-headed by Carroll Funk, quarterback, and Burnell Bevenour, a fine end.

Lancaster is expected to give the lower countians a stiff battle. One of Hanover's triumphs this season was a 45-12 victory over Roses.

Huskie End Named "Lineman Of Week"

NEW YORK (AP)—Minnesota was a two-touchdown favorite over Washington last Saturday, but the underdog Huskies chalked up a 30-0 upset sparked by the superb play of veteran end Jim Houston.

For his smashing performance Houston, a 6:1 senior, was named today as football lineman of the week by the Associated Pres.

Another end, Ron Kramer of Michigan, played a bangup game against Missouri and was a close runnerup to Houston.

Two centers, Bob Pellegrini of Maryland and Steve Delatorre of Florida, received high praise.

FULLMER BOWS TO BOBBY BOYD IN 10 ROUNDS

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The Windy City, which hasn't produced a title contender in the ring since the days of Johnny Bratton, may have one in middleweight Bobby Boyd.

Boyd, a lanky 21-year-old Negro, was in the ring with a hornet at Chicago Stadium last night and handled himself well, all things considered.

His opponent was tubby Gene Fullmer, 23, a ranking middleweight from West Jordan, Utah, by way of Ogden. From opening bell, Fullmer acted like a blacksmith trying to take out his ire on an anvil.

His crowding, flailing style placed Boyd under continuous bombardment. Boyd, with good combinations, shot across sharp rights and wicked lefts that caught Fullmer as he charged, opening a cut under his eye and bloodying his nose. Fullmer was down briefly in the third. It appeared he slipped although he took the mandatory eight count.

Gate Is Only $1,896

There was plenty of action for the national television audience and the sparse ringside gathering of 1,573 that contributed to a net gate of $1,986. Boyd, outweighing his vicious-swinging foe 161¼ pounds to 155, gained a well-earned unanimous 10-round decision.

The edge was close on all three official cards. Referee Tony Zale favored Boyd 97-96, Judge Harold Marovitz 97-94 and Judge Lou Capperilli 96-94. It made Boyd's record 35 wins in 42 bouts.

It was only the second loss absorbed by Fullmer in 33 scraps.

Archie Moore was the third Negro to get a chance at Rocky Marciano and his heavyweight title. The others were Ezzard Charles and Joe Walcott from whom Marciano won the crown in 1952.

Title Boxing Bout On Majestic Screen

Films of the heavyweight world's championship boxing bout between Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore will be shown at the Majestic Theater Friday evening and throughout Saturday.

The lone presentation Friday will be at 8:55 p.m. while showings on Saturday will be made between feature film screenings Saturday afternoon and evening.

SURGERY HELPS RESTORE MANY AILING HEARTS

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Sick and hungry human hearts are being transformed to health by a new era of bold, brilliant surgery.

Surgeons, dreaming of things once considered impossible, went pioneering so that today:

Several different operations can bring renewed life and strength to hearts damaged by attacks such as President Eisenhower suffered

Heart-lung machines can put human hearts and lungs on complete vacations while they are opened and repaired

The blood circulation of a sick child and healthy adult can be linked together during surgery

Spare arteries taken from the dead are banked, then used to replace damaged or missing sections of living persons' arteries. Even animal arteries have been transplanted into humans

Plastic Valves

Plastic valves have been substituted for damaged heart valves.

Most of these surgical advances have blossomed within the lst 10 years

There are two main technijues for helping some victims of bad heart attacks In a coronary thrombosis similar to President Eisenhower's, a clot blocks one or more of the branches of arteries that bring nourishment to the heart muscle. Recovery depends upon expansion and extension of other arteries, or growth of new arteries to nourish the area deprived of blood supply.

Bad attacks leave many persons weak, short of breath, subject to pain on exertion, often true heart cripples.

Create New Blood Supply

One remedy is to irritate the heart, stimulating the heart muscle to create a new blood supply Sterile talcum powder or asbestos powder is put inside the sac surrounding the heart The talcum technique was devised by Dr Samuel Thompson New York and the asbestos treatment by Dr Claude S Beck, Cleveland

Secondly, the heart hungry for blood can, in effect be given a new artery Dr Beck takes a piece of vein from the arm, then hooks in on the heart so some blood being pumped from the heart is fed into the heart muscle

Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Montreal, Canada, snips an artery that runs down through the chest, swings one end of it over and buries it in a tunnel in the heart muscle It becomes a third artery feeding the powerhouse of life In time, he reports, an additional network of little blood vessels appears, distributing the new supply of blood

INSTITUTIONAL STOCK BUYING IS ON UPSURGE

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp breaks and brisk rallies in stock prices since President Eisenhower's illness swing the spotlight again on the role of the institutional buyer and seller of stocks

Does he steady the market? Or does he have a part in making price swings more violent?

The volume of shares the institutional investors buy or sell daily has spurted 60 per cent in the last three years, the New York Stock Exchange reports today And 39 per cent of institutional trading volume is in blocks of 1 000 or more shares

Institutional investors include pension funds life fire and casualty insurance companies, mutual savings banks, mutual funds, personal trusts, estates, guardianships investment club, educational institutions religious foundations and profit sharing plans

Traders watching this week's nervous market have been asking What are the institutions doing? These have many of the largest holdings of stocks And when they enter the market it's news.

Under Scrutiny

A Senate subcommittee is eyeing the general role of the institutional investor in the stock market

The institutions point out that because they neither rush in rashly to buy nor panic easily and sell, they are a stabilizing influence on the market

"The Stock exchange is usually regarded as a marketplace primarily for individual members of the public" notes its president, Keith Funston He adds that this is largely still true But he says a study by the exchange spells out the growing importance of institutional investors in the market

This study is one of a series by the exchange at irregular intervals since 1952 showing amounts of purchases and sales by each type of investor

Funston notes that despite the increased interest of the life insurance companies in corporate securities two thirds of all institutional share volume is for the portfolios of personal trust funds mutual funds, estates, pension funds, closed-end investment companies and investment clubs

Halt PUC Order To Split Bridges Cost

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The state Superior Court Wednesday upheld a Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission order which fixed the division of costs between the Department of Highways and the Pennsylvania Railroad in the construction of two railway-highway bridges one in Camp Hill and the other in Falls Twp

The Department of Highways had sought to upset the PUC order which provided the railroad pay only $100,000 plus "certain fractional costs" while the remaining million dollars be paid by the state

The highways department has estimated that the Camp Hill project involving two separate structures will cost $392 924 while Rt 150 over nine PRR tracks in Falls Twp would cost an estimated $690 868

Add half a teaspoon of almond extract to a package of thawed frozen sliced peaches serve over packaged vanilla pudding or a baked custard

Any of your small fry need building up? Then give the young en an orange eggnog for a midmorning or mid-afternoon lick To make it, beat to other in a cup each of orange juice and milk a tablespoon or two of honey and a dash of salt. This makes enough for Mother to have a taste, too

ARAB-ISRAELI WEAPON CRISIS THREATENS U. S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has the makings of a first-class crisis on its hands in the Middle East, with the danger of a new Arab-Israeli war in the background.

That is the reason Secretary of State Dulles has sent George Allen, his assistant for Middle Eastern affairs, on an urgent mission to Cairo.

Allen has the evident task of trying to persuade Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser not to import such a volume and variety of arms from Communist Czechoslovakia as would upset the delicate power balance between the Arab states and Israel.

Dulles is understood to have sought to impress the dangers of the situation upon Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York. He reportedly argued that a flow of Soviet bloc arms to the Middle East now would violate the spirit of the Geneva Big Four meeting and create new tensions in the world.

Egypt Warned

Allen was prepared to warn the Egyptian government that if it brought about a radical change in the Middle East power balance the United States would be compelled to review its policies of cooperation with Egypt in the field of economic development—the current U.S. aid program is 43 million dollars—and in policies governing world cotton Egypt's foreign income is derived from cotton exports.

At the same time Allen was in position to argue that the United States had offered to sell Egypt arms in small quanities which it was believed here would not create new Middle East tensions and enlarge the dangers of a new war in that area.

Cypress Dispute

Allen left for Cairo, by way of Athens and Beirut, Lebanon, yesterday afternoon. In Athens he was to urge the Greek government to cooperate with Turkey in seeking to ease the dispute of the two nations over the island of Cyprus—a source of Middle East troubles unrelated to the Egyptian arms problem.

In Beirut it was understood that he would seek to dissuade Syrian leaders from joining Egypt in an arms race with Israel.

Two Harrisburg Banks Will Merge

HARRISBURG (AP) — Officials of the Dauphin Deposit Trust Co. and the Market Street Trust Co. said today both banking houses have agreed to a stockholders' vote on merging the two firms.

The joint announcement was made by Harper W. Spong, president of Dauphin Deposit, and C. Frank Class, chairman of the board of the Market Street Trust.

The two officials said the firms have agreed to a plan to make the Market Street Trust a branch of Dauphin Deposit subject to approval of the stockholders.

The vote will be taken at a special meeting of the stockholders in "a few weeks."

Under the merger the banks would have total assets of about 60 million dollars and deposits of approximately 54 million dollars.

Man Plunges Seven Floors To Death

NEW YORK (AP)—William S. Way, an official of the Standard Vaccum Oil Co. and a native of Williamsport, Pa., died yesterday in plunge from his seventh floor office on Broadway.

Way, about 50, landed on a third floor setback of the building. Company officials said he had been ill recently. They said his present address was Amityville, N. Y. No notes were found.

Way is survived by his widow, Mildred, a son Charles, 22, now in the Army; and a daughter, 10.

Justice Chidsey Rests Following Collapse

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Justice T. McKeen Chidsey of the state Supreme Court spent a "fairly comfortable" night at Mercy Hospital, attaches reported today.

The 71-year-old Easton justice is reported in "serious" condition. He collapsed on the bench Tuesday from what a physician said was a "weak spell brought on by strain and fatigue."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thomas Francis Yeager, 23, East Lansdowne, was killed today when he fell from an electric pole while climbing it on a bet.

Yeager, who was discharged from the Marine Corps two weeks ago, was pronounced dead at Delaware County Hospital.

Yeager, police said, bet Michael J. Reilly, 27, Drexel Hill, Pa., a lineman for the Philadelphia electric Co., that he could climb the pole faster than Reilly.

HOUSEWIVES HELP TO RUN PARIS STORE

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Thanks to an American idea, housewife-customers now help run the biggest department store in Paris.

Under a novel Council of Clients plan the store (Au Printemps) lets 70 women customers select its merchandise and review and improve its organization.

After a two-year experimental period, the store says the scheme is a great success and will be continued.

The idea came from U S consumer panels and polls, but, said a spokesman, 'We knew French people wouldn t answer poll questions at home to make criticisms and indicate their preferences So we hit on this idea instead."

Council members serve for two years on one of two committees — selection or general organization. They attend up to 14 meetings a year to examine samples and pass on merchandise or discuss displays and organization.

"Delighted To Do It"

For all this work they are paid — not a sou 'They are delighted to do it for nothing," a store spokesman insists "They know about all the bargains that exi It puts them one up on their friends." Anyway, he indicates with a shrug, women just naturally like to criticize, and wouldn't miss an opportunity.

"All we give is tea or a cocktail after the meetings."

They do not even have a card to indicate membership, and get no preferential treatment in the store, but their complaints always have the management's ear.

Customers were invited to apply for membership on the council through handbills Others were selected from address files of clients who had made big purchase or complaints

At the recent annual meeting, president P Laguionie faced the newly selected council to invite criticisms and suggestions

"Why can't you keep the store open on Mondays?" asked the first woman who popped up The old French habit of closing shops on the first day of the week came under attack from several other housewives, one pointed out "It makes a bad impression on our foreign visitors."

Opposed To Monday

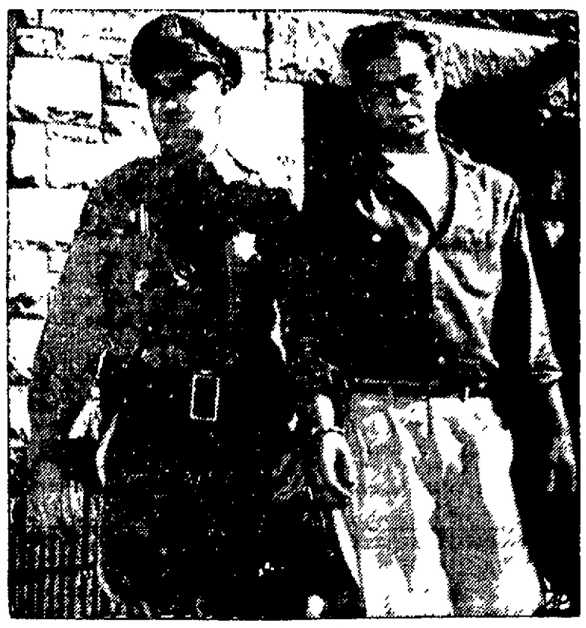

Smiling, Laguonie admitted, "I know it gives foreigners the impression that the French don't like to work." He then explained that the store's workers are dead set against it even though they would be paid 50 per cent extra under labor laws But the management supports the idea of being open Mondays, "and I don't despair of convincing the personnel," he added.

Some improvements the first council was responsible for included a free cloak room for customers, a direct elevator to the top-floor tea shop, and an on-the-premises repair shop for appliances

Like most French shops, the store has no personal credit plan (though it does sell large household items on installment). When the customers' council was asked whether it favored credit, for women's ready-to-wear, for example, they turned it down cold

Candidly, they said, what Frenchwoman would want to continue paying for a dress she was already tired of wearing?

YOUTH IS ARRAIGNED

Mother And Son Deny Alleged Father Murder

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A 36-year-old woman and her son by a previous marriage pleaded innocent Tuesday at their arraignment on a charge of murdering the woman's husband.

Mrs Stella Ciesielski, 36, and Alphonse Casner, 13, were committed to jail without bail after they entered their plea before Alderman P. J. Boland. Dist Atty Carlon O'Malley said the boy fired the shot which killed his stepfather, Anthony Ciesielski, Sunday. He said the mother and boy plotted the killing because of frequent quarrels with Ciesielski.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — Mr. and Mrs. John Mansberger have returned from Toledo, O., where they visited the latter's brothers and sisters They also visited Mr. Mansberger's sister, Mrs. Harry Gabbard and family, in Connersville, Ind.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the York Springs Methodist Church made plans for a Halloween party and a plastic and parcel post sale at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs Harold King with 10 members in attendance

The group will meet for the Halloween party October 21 at the home of Mrs. Jerry LaRue. Members may bring their families. The sale will be held September 30 at the church at 7:30 p.m. where toys and gifts will be displayed as Christmas suggestions. The articles will be displayed from noon of that day until the meeting for the benefit of those who cannot attend the party. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Martin attended the wedding of the latter's niece, Miss Donna Jean Croft, Bedford, and Walter Remale Grove, New Jersey, Sunday in the Bedford Methodist Church and the reception afterwards at the Penn Bedford Hotel. The bride is a nurse at the Polychnic Hospital, Harrisburg.

Mr. Grove, a graduate of Juniata College, is a chemist.

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Annie Smith were a nephew, Amos Wagner, Norco, Calif., and Milton Wagner, Harrisburg, Mrs. Earl Hikes and Frank Bream, Hanover; Charlotte Wahley, Mt. Tabor; Mrs. Bertha Umholtz, Delaware, and Mr. and Mrs Clinton Smith, Frederick, Md.

D B Harlacher, who was a patient in the Polychnic Hospital, Harrisburg, for observation and treatment for a week, was recently taken to the home of his son, Frank Harlacker, Harrisburg.

A covered dish supper and program were held Tuesday evening by the York Springs Fire Company Auxiliary in the fire hall with 19 members of the Cashtown Auxiliary as guests The group sang "I Would Be True" Devotions were led by the auxiliary chaplain, Mrs. George Lay.

Darlene Wonders sang, "Open Up Your Heart" and Mary Jane Reinecker read "Summer's End." Bonita Bubb and Lucille Holliday sang a duet and Mrs. John Brough read an article entitled "Neighbors" Mrs. Elmer Coulson read "Betty at the Baseball Game." There was group singing and prizes were awarded for games Members of both organizations were introduced

School Progress Is Examined At Congress

HARRISBURG (AP)—Educational leaders from every corner of the commonwealth were on hand Wednesday for the 35th annual Education Congress.

Dr. Ralph C Swan, acting superintendent of public instruction said in a statement the two-day meeting will examine recent and anticipated developments in the commonwealth's public school system.

Dr. Allen H. Wetter, superintendent of Philadelphia schools, discussed what schools should accomplish.

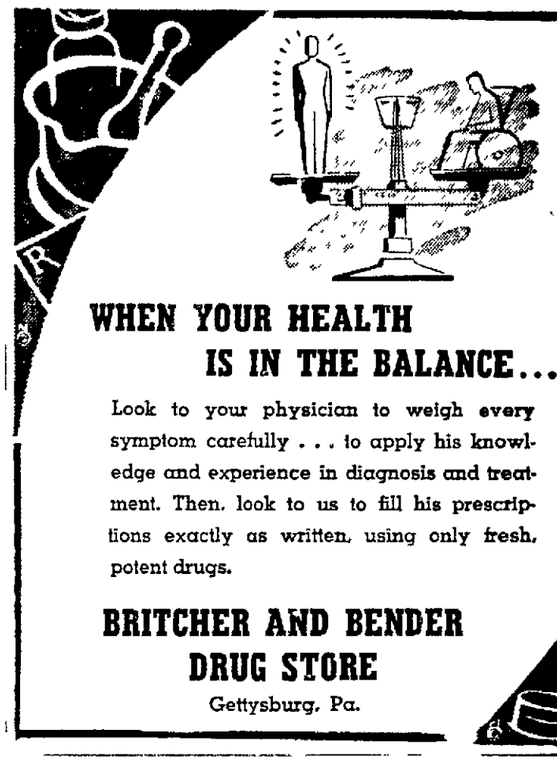

In other talks L H Snader, chief of the Secondary Education Division of the Department of Public Instruction, said the trend in education is "toward the practical," and Harry N Gaser, chief of the department's Elementary Education Division, declared a "concerted effort must be made to improve the quality of elementary education or fish being offered in our public schools today."

TOWN EXPENSES RUN $20,877.46 IN LITTLESTOWN

At the regular session of the Littlestown Borough Council Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock of the secretary, 32 N. Queen St., expenditures of $20,877.46 for Sept. 1955 were ordered paid.

Expenditures included borough fund expenses including salaries and equipment $5,519.84; water fund expenditures, $4,277.16 plus $1,170.70 to the Ford Meter Box Co. for meter installation, making a grand total of $5,447.86; sanitary sewer fund expenditures of $6,200.46; sinking fund $2,575.00; police pension fund $1,134.30.

Total receipts reported amounted to $2,154.83.

Accept Resignation

The council accepted with regret the resignation of Luther G. Myers as sewage treatment plant operator as of December 31, 1955, and tabled an application for the same position. Earl Stites was ordered to repair the town clock or have the necessary repairs made if he is unable to do the work.

Police Chief Charles R. Everhart reported the following police department activities between August 23 and Sept. 27: 25 motor code violations; 20 parking violations; 1 disorderly conduct; 14 investigations including 1 criminal, 3 juvenile, 8 special and 1 accident; 3 funeral escorts; 4 payroll escorts, meter collections of $508.79.

The council rescinded a former motion to provide leather jackets for all three policemen and passed instead a motion ordering purchase of a police blouse for Patrolman Daley and an "iron claw" for Chief Everhart.

Street Repairs

Repairs to Cemetery St. were reported complete except in the area where the gas company was expected to renew its main. Carroll St. construction was also reported complete and the work inspected and approved by the State Highway Department for payment under the matching fund. The borough accumulation for the years 1953-1954-1955 amounted to $1,074.83. Construction cost was $3,587.15 with the borough's share being $2,512.32.

Blue prints were submitted by Thomas C. McSherry and Joseph H. Rife covering development of "McSherry Park" from Columbus Ave. Consulting engineers on the water and sewer systems also reported their plans for the area.

Water permits were issued the following: Melvin A. Miller, R. 2, E. King St, Extd; Roy N. Beard, 157 W. King St. for building at 245 W. Myrtle St.; Bernard W. Little, 129 W. King St.

Water Committee Reports

The water committee reported that the water supply was exceptionally good with no water needed from the "new Sneeringer supply." They reported the necessity of general landscaping around the quarry site to comply with State Health regulations.

Present at the meeting which adjourned at 10:20 p.m. were president, James V. Yingling; councilmen, Lewis H. Fox, Harry T. Harner, Charles M. Frock, George L. Maitland, and Frank E. Stonesifer. Also attending were Burgess Roscoe W. Rittase; street commissioner, Albert D. Crabbs; treasurer, John H. Flickinger; solicitor, Daniel E. Teeter, and secretary, Roger J. Keefer.

The next meeting will take place Tuesday, October 25, at 8 p.m.

ANXIOUS MOMENT AT GENEVA — The President holds early morning conference with Secretary of State Dulles during critical stage of Big Four "summit" conference.

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS — General Eisenhower addresses paratroopers in England just before the D-Day assault in June, 1944, that led to overthrow of the Axis in Europe.

TRIUMPHAL RETURN — General Eisenhower smilingly gives the V-for-Victory sign during homecoming celebration in Kansas City, June 21, 1945, upon return from Europe.

NEW MERCURY

Graceful Lines

A new hood ornament features a bright finish block "M" with a winged effect and incorporates a Mercury head on a gold finish background in the center portion. Product identification is spelled out by the name "Mercury" in block letters individually mounted on the upper impact bar.

Chrome mouldings which sweep back along the side to new blister ornamentation incorporating horizontal wind splits accentuate the long, graceful lines. A new Mercury crest and script are located on the side of the front fender.

From the rear the new Mercury repeats the lower and wider appearance, as the rear deck ornament incorporates a reduced version of the "M" hood ornament in gold with white background. Tail lights have been restyled with more chrome in the upper section and a pronounced textured effect in the lower portion. A horizontal baffle plate at the end of the dual exhausts not only is functional but enhances the rear end appearance.

Many Colors Available

Mercury for 1956 offers the widest choice of distinctive exterior color treatment in Mercury history featuring 15 solid body colors, 32 conventional two-tones and 28 attractive new "flo-tone" combinations. In Mercury's new "flo-tone" paint treatment the roof and area below the body side mouldings are one color and the intervening area plus the hood and deck lid are a contrasting or a blending color. In Montclair models the drop belt area matches the roof and lower body color.

A three-dimensional effect is obtained in the new impact-absorbing steering wheel with recessed hub at the end of the steering column. This new three-spoke wheel provides greater protection from injury in case of accident. Instrument panel control knobs have been redesigned in bright finish metal.

A richer appearance is obtained in the upper portion of the Montclair and Monterey instrument panel by covering them with a "crushed-grain" non-reflecting vinyl.

Distinctive interior trim schemes utilize new luxurious fabrics in a new treatment of seats, doors and quarter panels. New woven plastic, vinyl and cloth materials with a wide range from ultra modern to conservative patterns are chosen to blend with exterior body colors and interior trim schemes.

BILLS RELAX SCHOOL BOARD RESTRICTIONS

HARRISBURG (AP) — A group of bills designed to relax restrictions on school administrators, including one to permit school boards to invest bequests and gifts, have been signed into law by Gov. Leader.

One of the measures, signed yesterday, will permit the boards to invest gifts made to them in obligations declared legal under a 1949 law instead of investing only in bonds of a school district or municipality.

Others affecting schools will:

Permit the sale by a school district of unused or unneeded land at a public auction but without necesarily having it conducted by a licensed auctioneer.

Provide that the pay of any certified public accountant employed by a school district of the fourth class shall be fixed by the directors of the district.

Raise the amount of money that may be spent by the school district for repairs or alterations without approval of the Department of Public Instruction in districts of the second class from $1,000 to $2,000; third and fourth class districts from $500 to $1,500.

Other bills signed into law will:

Remove $500 limitation on auditor's statement in second class townships for purchases of material, equipment and machinery for road purposes.

Permit township officers of two or more first class counties to form a joint county organization.

Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano used five punching bags of various weights for his September 21 title defense against Archie Moore in Yankee Stadium.

Horses invited to race November 11 in the $65,000 Washington International turf event at Laurel will start from a walkup position.

PITT AWARDS A SPECIAL CHAIR TO JONAS SALK

HARRISBURG (AP) — A measure authorizing a special professorship at the University of Pittsburgh for Dr. Jonas E. Salk carried unanimous House approval today.

A bipartisan proposal sent to the Senate yesterday would establish a commonwealth chair of preventive medicine at the School of Medicine at Pittsburgh.

The chair would actually be awarded to Dr. Salk who developed the antipolio vaccine while working at the school. The bill, however, does not mention his name because of constitutional restrictions.

The proposal, carrying a state grant of $50,000 to pay the salary of the professor for two years, merely says that the chair would go to a member of the medical profession who in the opinion of the Pittsburgh trustees has made an outstanding contribution in the field of preventive medicine.

Other bills passed by the House would:

Allow county commissioners outside Philadelphia, with court approval, to close the county courthouse and all county offices all day Saturday throughout the year.

Exclude men assigned to patrol the Pennsylvania Turnpike from the 1,900 man limit on the size of the state police force.

Building Uniformity Bill Goes To Senate

HARRISBURG (AP)—Uniformity of all buildings used by the state is the objective of a bill that won unanimous approval of the House yesterday. It now goes to the Senate.

The bipartisan sponsored measure also would authorize establishment of minimum specifications and standards for all material used in construction of new state buildings or repair of old state structures.

3rd Class Cities Get OK For Home Charters

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill that would permit third class cities to adopt home rule charters had the endorsement of the Pennsylvania League of Cities today.

The league's committee on organization yesterday decided to recommend revision of the measure in some particulars but did not specify what amendments it would propose.

The home rule bill, now in Senate committee after passing the House, would allow third class cities to establish a city manager form of government if they do desire.

In other action, the committee laid the groundwork for organization bylaws to be recommended at the league's convention Nov. 13-15 in Bethlehem.

A BABY NEEDS SPECIAL AIDS FOR DIGESTION

The Associated Pres

Mrs. Baker asked me the other day why all the fuss about a baby's formula. Why couldn't she just feed Amy regular milk?

The answer is: Amy is a human baby, not a calf. Cow's milk is fine for a cow's baby, but not for Mrs. Baker's baby. Amy couldnot digest cow's milk just as it comes from the cow. Amy could digest mother's milk but if we are going to feed her cow's milk we will have to change it so Amy can handle it.

Raw cow's milk forms great big tough curds in the baby's stomach. (Breast milk forms tiny crumbly curds).

The curds of cow's milk can be made smaller and softer by boiling the milk. You can boil it yourself, or you can use evaporated milk, which is heated in the process of manufacture.

Another way of softening the curd of milk is the process of homogenization.

Must Be Diluted

But even milk treated in one of these ways is too strong for most young babies. It needs to be diluted with water. However, once diluted, it is too weak to nourish the baby adequately. Therefore we must add some extra calories to the mixture. This is done by adding some form of sugar or carbohydrate.

Thus we have our basic formula, treated cow's milk plus water plus carbohydrate.

There can be many variations on this basic formula depending upon what kind of milk you use and what kind of carbohydrate.

You can make the mixture yourself or you can use one of the already prepared mixtures available.

Prepared Foods

Most of the prepared baby foods are basically cow's milk plus a carbohydrate. In some of them the butter fat is removed and a fat more closely resembling human milk fat is added. In some prepared mixtures vitamins and minerals are added.

Most babies do very well on the simple mixture you make at home. However, some infants with delicate digestive systems do much better on one of the special mixtures.

Once in a while we find a baby who cannot handle any form of cow's milk. Then we must use a formula based on some other form of protein. Goat's milk is used occasionally. There are also special mixtures using soy beans in place of milk.

Your doctor will know how to select the right formula for your baby.

Keep Germs Out

Whatever formula you use you must prepare it so that no germs get into the mixture. Germs love baby food. If you let a few slip in while you're preparing the formula they will grow rapidly in the good food. By feeding time there may be many thousand present — enough to make your baby sick.

All the ingredients you use must be sterile. Either you must boil the milk or it must come from a freshly opened can. Always boil the water you use to dilute the milk. The utensils that touch the milk mixture in preparing it and the bottles you use to store it must be boiled.

Treating tobacco plant beds in the fall is usually more successful than in the spring.

STUDYING HEN THAT TURNED INTO ROOSTER

ST CLAIRVILLE, Ohio (AP) — University of Ohio agriculture professors are seeking more data on why hens turn into roosters. They have accepted a rooster which Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F Fulton say was a hen for a year and a half. They have not announced what studies they plan, but it was explained that such transformations take place often enough to be recognized, although they may not be fully understood.

Mrs. Harlan Flemming who manages a number of poultry farms says such transformation "is not too rare and has happened in a number of cases."

She says it is caused by an unusual gland disease "which accentuates the male traits and actually turns the chicken, physically and mentally, into a rooster."

But the change caused considerable excitement on the Fulton farm. Two years ago the Fultons got 50 mail order chicks and, after culling, had 23 hens and one rooster.

Turns Troublemaker

Fulton says:

"The hens laid well and the flock was fat and contented. Then I sensed something was wrong. One of the hens turned trouble maker and the rest of the hens would gather in one corner and stare at her. Then I saw that she was growing a large comb and spurs started to grow on her legs. She would fly at the rooster and fight it."

One morning the hen-rooster crowed 12 times and several times it escaped and visited other flocks. Fulton got in touch with the University of Ohio experts and turned the chicken over to them.

He says that the hen laid at least 100 eggs before the changes started.

Here's a pretty luncheon salad. Cut away the stem ends from tomatoes and make four or five parallel cuts through each almost to the bottom. Add finely diced cucumber and radish to cream-style cottage cheese; pile the cottage-cheese mixture into each cut of the tomatoes. Garnish with salad greens and serve with French dressing.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE LIKES ITS NEW NAME

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich (AP)—Michigan State College is like a bride-to-be, happily writing and rewriting her new name.

Effective July 1, the name became Michigan State University.

The college is preparing to change stationery, signs and silverware and even will repaint the initials on the campus smoke stacks.

The business of making it legal wasn't easy, however.

Originally established as an agricultural school in 1855, the college had mushroomed into a university in all but name.

The feeling on the campus at East Lansing was that the "University" tag would put the frosting on the cake for the 100th anniversary

University Objects

When the name change proposal was first introduced in the Michigan legislature last year, an angry roar of protest was heard from the University of Michigan at nearby Ann Arbor. The proposal was hastily withdrawn But it was only a strategic retreat by MSC. When the bill came up again this year, the University of Michigan and its backers rushed in to do battle.

Arguments reached a stage of bitterness generally reserved for the intense football rivalry between the two schools UM partisans declared that the proposed change would lead to horrible confusion and would dilute the prestige of the University. Wills would be drawn up leaving money to the wrong school, they said. MSC backers tartly countered that graduates of the University of Michigan School of Law should be qualified to see that this doesn't happen.

MSC students dragged in a petition carrying 11,000 names. Letter-writers for both siden overwhelmed the lawmakers.

The sentiment was with Michigan State. A surprising 88-14 vote in the Senate approved the change. UM spokesmen admitted afterward their opposition had been "too little and too late

In the absence of, but with the approval of, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart signed the bill into law. Ironically, both are UM graduates.

There is only one chance of a hitch now. The University of Michigan may still make a court issue out of the matter and ask for an injunction to prevent the change.

Meanwhile, members of the senior graduating class were asked to vote on whether they wanted their diplomas on schedule from Michigan State College or would prefer to have them mailed out late from Michigan State University.

The majority wanted to be University graduates with only nine favoring MSC diplomas. One rebel wanted a diploma from Michigan Agricultural School.

Examine a head of lettuce before you store it If it has any withered leaves, discoloration or indication of decay, be sure to remove these.

If you use an electric washer, be sure to sort your clothes according to the temperature of the water needed for washing as well as according to the amount of soil.

SOUTHERN CAL. HAS BIG STAR IN JON ARNETT

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As a youngster living in the immediate neighborhood of the University of Southern California, Jon Arnett used to scale the high wire fence around the Coliseum to watch the Trojan football teams perform.

Things will be vastly different this fall. The welcome mat through the players' entrance might even have Jon's name on it as the blond-haired tumbling expert plays his second year on the Trojan varsity.

The 20-year-old junior, who still live near the campus, is perhaps the most prominent figure in the backfield and a key player in Coach Jess Hill's strategy on the gridiron.

Hill thinks there is no reason why easy mannered Jon won't measure up his 1954 stature, or even exceed his previous efforts. The young man wound up the 1954 campaign, including his play in the Rose Bowl against Ohio State, with nuch statistics as:

1954 Records

Times carried the ball, 96; yards gained net, 601; average 6.2.

Passes thrown, 32; completed 19; yards gained, 170.

What doesn't show is his morale value. He is a team player primarily but one who is liable to break loose with the spectacular.

Such was the case in his sophomore year. He had to beat out Aramis Dandoy Troy's all-conference halfback, to make the first team.

In his first varsity game, against Washington State, Jon came off the bench to score two touchdowns on 40 and 45 yard runs.

A week later, still a second stringer, he scored three times to break open a battle with Pittsburgh. It was 7-7 going into the fourth quarter. Final score, 27-7.

10-Second Man

After that, in a nationally televised game with Oregon, Arnett scored three touchdowns, made 179 yards in 18 trips with the ball, completed four out of five passes and was named "Back of the Week" in The Associated Press poll.

Jon is an outstanding gymnast, a 10-second man in the 100 yard dash, an outstanding broad jumper, all of which contributes to his skill as a running halfback. He weighs about 180 pounds, standin 5-11 and is a tremendous competitor.

DOGS

by Farley Manning

STRANGE FRIENDS

Many stories are told of unusual friendships which have sprung up between dogs and other animals. Dogs and horses generally get along well together, and many trainers of race horses insist on having a dog around the stable because of the quieting effect on their high-spirited charges.

Newspapers frequently carry stories of canine mothers which have adopted families of another species, including kittens and even baby chicks. Stories have been recorded of many cat-and-dog friendships, but seldom has a tale of a dog's loyalty to another animal come to light which matches this one:

The Olso family lives in a suburban village not far from New York City with their two pets. Trigger is a lean, black and white English setter that spends every waking hour roaming the nearby woods and fields. Silver is the biggest white rabbit you ever saw, and was usually content to stay in her hutch hour after hour munching on clean raw carrots and lettuce leaves.

One day recentlynthe Olsons discovered that Silver was missing. They searched diligently through the surrounding woodland area without finding a trace of their lost pet. Fearful that their extremely tame rabbit would become an easy victim of a fox, they called in all the neighborhood children to help seek Silver, but two days went by with no results.

Perhaps you have guessed the end of the story. Yes, on the third day Mr. and Mrs. Olson were sitting on their porch when they spied a tired and bedraggled Trigger, the English setter, laboriously making his way to the house. Firmly, but as gently as a mother cat carrying a kitten, he was holding the puzzled rabbit by the nape of its neck. The condition of the dog's coat indicated that he must have carried his rabbit friend a good distance, and his action certainly proved that friendship crosses many barriers in animal life, even as it does among us humans.

YOU'RE AS SMART AS YOUR PET

Given the opportunity, will animals instinctively balance their own diets to fill their nutritive requirements? Or are they no smarter than humans who eat the things they like the best?

Actually, most of the recorded research seems only to prove that nature has done a good job of furnishing reasonably well balanced diets for most animals—or that evolution has done a good job of growing animals that can get along on the diets available.

The Canadian Department of Agriculture made tests with six foxes, in the weaning, half grown, and adult stages allowing them to select their foods from several types of cereals, cod liver oil, bone meal, limestone, whole egg powder, fish, ground beef liver, tripe, horsemeat and yeast. None of the group chose a nutritionally balanced diet. Instead, raw meat made up 98.8 per cent of all food consumed.

Within five weeks, two of the pups had rickets and all of them showed the effects of the poor diet.

And at Swift's Nutritional Research Kennels researchers in animal nutrition have been studying the question for 21 years to improve the nutritive qualities of Swift's dog foods.

And what are the findings?

"Well, first of all," says Dr. H. E. Robinson, director of research, "we found that no dog can select as good a diet as we can select for him. And secondly, if we offer him food that he likes very much and food that he needs very much but doesn't like, he will fill up on the food that he likes and seldom touch the food he doesn't like."

So apparently, cynics to the contrary, animals are no smarter than men

WAR DOGS

Dogs have fought at the sides of their masters in time of war or served them in other capacities at the battle front from earliest days. Some of the greatest military leaders never ventured into a military campaign without their favorite pet. Alexander the Great, during his march of conquest through Asia, was saved by his ferocious pet, Perites, who awakened as a would-be assassin poised a dagger above the heart of a great leader. Perites lunged for the murderer and dragged him down, but the poison point pricked the loyal dog and he died instead of his master.

Both as personal guards and as soldiers under orders, dogs have proved their courage, zeal and usefulness in battle. The Gauls bred large strong animals especially intended for war. They wore a kind or armor, bristling with spikes and curved knives, jointed and light enough to permit free movement, but heavy enough to protect the bodies.

The invention of gun powder modified the dog's usefulness as a combat soldier, but other capacities came to the fore. During the American Revolution, the recruiting of soldiers with their dogs was encouraged, and during the Russo-Japanese War in 1904, the Russians were enthusiastic about ambulance dogs.

In World War I, hundreds of dogs were trained by the English to be messengers at the front or for guard duty and Red Cross service. The French used sled dogs to haul ammunition and supplies in high mountain fighting. The Italians harnessed St. Bernards in teams to drag machine gun carriages.

The career of war dogs reached a new high during World War II. Thousands of trained animals were used on both sides of the conflict. The Germans trained approximately 200,000 dogs for war. The Russians mobilized some 50,000 animals. When the United States entered the conflict thousands of dogs were mobilized and trained, most of them donated by patriotic owners. These dogs were employed for sentries, scouts, messengers, sled and pack work. The remarkable record which these loyal animals set for themselves during their war service leaves no doubt of their indispensible value in time of war

YES, WE DELIVER

HE did it...

Any idea how this man feels?

In a split second, he had seen it coming... slammed on the brakes... heard the thud... and the silence. In another split second, he fought down his panic... leaped from the car—hoping, praying—that it wasn't bad.

It was.

He had three children of his own... all school age. He was a good man, a good father and—usually—a good, careful driver.

But this time, his mind had been elsewhere. As he had come abreast of the parked car, he was looking ... but he wasn't seeing.

ST. JOSEPH HI STUDENTS PLAN VILLANOVA TRIP

Approximately 35 members of St. Joseph's High School will attend Villanova College for a publications conference for Catholic High School students, Saturday, October 8.

Miss Louella Lansinger will again direct the glee club of St. Joseph's High School. Glee Club officers elected for this current year are: Joan Watkins, president; treasurer, John Haley; secretary, Jean Sell; and librarians, Jean Watkins and Mary Louise Dukehart.

New school equipment at St. Joseph's includes a tape recorder and a camera donated by the Class of '55. The class of '55 and the Class of '56, together, purchased a record player.

AA Officers Elected

Arlene Lingg was elected president of the Athletic Association, under the direction of Prof. Dominic Greco. Joan Watkins and William Van Branckle were chosen secretary and treasurer. James Sanders and Anita Landis were selected as student managers. Prof. Greco stressed the fact that cooperation was the most important factor for the association to function as a profitable organization.

This afternoon the freshmen were given an official welcome by the Seniors with a welcome dance set for Friday evening in the high school auditorium from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The pronghorn antelope is the only mammal with hollow pronged horns, and the only cud chewer to shed its horns each year.

PTA Has First Fall Meeting Wednesday

The first regular meeting of the Public School Parent-Teachers Association met Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria with President Paul Beale in charge.

Mrs. John Richards gave the treasurer's report which showed a balance of $229.31. As a member of the membership committee Mrs. Richards urged all parents to join the association.

Daniel Naill and Edgar Emerick were appointed representatives to the bicentennial committee to represent the P.T.A.

Arvin P. Jones, principal, invited the parents to attend a program Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 10:40 a.m. presented by the Antrim Bureau, featuring a naturelogue by Frank W. McLaughlin, an authority on wild life. Part of the program will be a full length color movie.

Mrs. Alma S. Jones spoke on the aims and objectives of the P.T.A.

The banner for the clas having the most parents present was won by the third and fourth grade, Miss Mary M. Fiery, teacher.

The next meeting will be held on the fourth Wednesday of October.

STEEPLE DRIVE CONDUCTED BY ELIAS CHURCH

The finance committee of Elias Evangelical Church will conduct a campaign closing next Sunday for the repair and restoration of the church tower and steeple. About $3,650 is required to cover the restoration of the 140-year-old steeple. The only change made in the steeple since its erection has been the addition of a cross to the steeple top.

A food and bake sale will be held in the fire hall on Oct. 8 for the benefit of the upkeep of the Lutheran cemetery. Home-made pies, cakes, rolls and other goods will be offered. Sale will begin at 10 a.m.

Young people from Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church will attend the district rally at Jefferson, Md., Sunday afternoon and evening, Oct. 9. The rally will be held at St. Paul's Church.

Church Activities

Church activities during the week include: Membership instructions, Friday, 7:30 p.m. in the church; choir rehearsal Tuesday, junior choir at 6:30 p.m., youth and chapel choir, 7:45 p.m. G. Thomas Wilhide, John D. White Jr. and John Gartrell have been appointed acolytes for October. Mrs. Charles Sharrer, Mrs. E. R. Shriver, Mrs. J. W. Houser and Mrs. Edward Meadows have been named to the altar committee for October.

An oeffring of $10 was made to the hurricane flood relief as a result of a special church and Sunday School collection.

Scout Program Is Held By Ki-Wives

A Girl Scout program was held by the Ki-Wives at a meeting Monday evening at the Taney Inn under the direction of Mrs. Robert Smith. She introduced the speaker, Mrs. Truman Cash, Westminster R. D., corresponding secretary for the Carroll County Girl Scout district.

Mrs. Glenn W. Speicher of Uniontown, gave a talk on Scouting. She introduced Margaret Davis, Carol Reedy, Julia Sebourne and Tanney Bixler, Westminster Senior Girl Scouts. They described the four programs offered to Senior Scouting.

Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, vice president, presided at the business meeting. Various projects were discussed. It was announced that there are 27 charter members in the organization.

Mrs. Felix Westine will be in charge of the program next month when the women will plan to make Christmas gifts at home.

Emmitsburg

EMMITSBURG — The Women's Society of Christian Service of Tom's Creek Methodist Church met in the social room of the church September 26 with the president, Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner, presiding. The devotional program was read by Mrs. Jean McCauley on "The Korean People" church work and missionary work. Fifteen members and one guest were present.

The church board held its regular meeting the same evening. Following the meeting a period of fellowship was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner and Mrs. Maude Baumgardner.

WOMEN ARE INJURED

Ruby Roderiquez and Euloquin Ramos, Idaville, suffered bruises of the body Saturday afternoon when the auto in which they were passengers ran off the Gettysburg pike five miles south of Mt. Holly Springs and struck a guard post. Police said the car was driven by Fernando Colon, Hillsburg, Fla., who is employed harvesting fruit crops near Gardners. Damage to the car was estimated at $200.

Taneytown

TANEYTOWN — Lee Livingston of the Taneytown High School faculty, accompanied by a group of seventh grade pupils, toured Carroll County today to learn the geography, resources and places of interest in that area. The trip was conducted by Gerald Richter.

Mrs. Catherine Myers and Andrew Mason attended the Carroll County Teachers Association Advisory Council meeting Tuesday at the Westminster High School.

The ninth and eleventh grade students took the California Achievement tests this week. Mrs. Urith Shipley was in charge of the testing program.

High School librarians met last Thursday at the Westminster High School. Mrs. Virginia Sanders represented the Taneytown school.

Joseph Jodl, instrumental music instructor, will conduct a testing program in the elementary school and the seventh grade of the high school in order to discover talent and to use the tape recorder for rhythm and pitch.

Students who pass the test will be invited with their parents to an instrumental display at the Elmer Wolfe High School Wednesday evening, October 12, at 8 o'clock. Educational benefits derived from a musical education will be the topic of the meeting.

The Carroll County soccer season opened in Hampstead last Friday pitting Taneytown against Hampstead. The latter took 18 shots at the goal while Taneytown took 11. Taneytown has the only penalty kick of the game. Meredith, Hampstead goalie, made six saves and Halter, Taneytown goalie, made eight.

The game ended in a scoreless tie. Walkersville defeated Taneytown 2-1 in a practice game at home Monday.

RUSSIANS ARE WORRIED OVER IKE'S ILLNESS

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A highly placed Western diplomat said today that Soviet leaders are so deeply concerned over President Eisenhower's illness that they have decided to go slow in dealing with the West.

The diplomat said Kremlin leaders told him in Moscow they do not want to make any long-term foreign policy commitments until they learn when and whether Eisenhowr will return to active leadership of the United States.

The Russians, he said, are especially suspicious of Vice President Richard Nixon.

The diplomat, who asked that his name not be used, is visiting Europe on leave from his post in a foreign embassy in the Soviet capital.

Is Highly Regarded

"President Eisenhower," he said "is very highly regarded by such men as Bulganin, Khrushchev and Molotov. In my talks with them since Stalin's death they refer to him as the same sort of friend they had in Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Nikolai Bulganin is the Soviet premier, Nikita Khrushchev the first secretary of the Communist party and V. M. Molotov is foreign minister.

"Eisenhower made a tremendous impression on Khrushchev and Bulganin at Geneva," said the diplomat. "They told me and they told Dr. Adenauer (Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German government) that Eisenhower is a sincere man who wants peace."

The diplomat said the Kremlin leaders are worried lest President Eisenhower's illness lead to an East-West situation similar to the one that developed when Harry Truman succeeded Roosevelt at the end of the war in Europe.

"They are afraid," he said, "that Eisenhower may step down from the leadership and somebody else take over—somebody they neither know nor trust."

USSR RELEASES WAR PRISONERS

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, keeping its promises to the Germans, is releasing 9,626 German war prisoners.

The Moscow press today published a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet ordering 8,887 of the prisoners freed outright.

The Presidium said the other 749, because of the "special gravity" of their offenses against the Russian people, would be handed over for further disposition to the East or West German governments, depending on their original residences.

The big question in the West has been whether the Russians would give West Germany or Communist East Germany credit for negotiating the prisoners' release.

The Presidium's decree divided the credit. It said the action was being taken in response to requests by both West and East Germany and because of the long period since the war ended.

Hearty Meal in a Hurry

CORNBURGERS

1 lb. ground lean beef
¼ cup finely cut onion
½ cup finely cut green pepper (can omit)
2 tablespoons hot shortening
1 tablespoon Ivory White flour
1 teaspoon Morton salt
⅛ teaspoon McCormick pepper
½ cup Leadway catsup or chili sauce
1-lb. can whole kernel Del Haven corn, drained
8 sandwich buns, split
½ cup Pet evaporated milk

Cook meat, onion and green pepper in hot shortening in a skillet until meat loses its red color. Stir often with a fork while cooking to break up the meat. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over meat and blend in. Mix in well the catsup and corn. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Stir in milk. Heat until steaming hot, but do not boil. To serve, spoon the hot meat mixture into split sandwich buns, allowing 2 to a serving. Makes 4 servings.

JANET JIGSAWS VICIOUSLY TO MEXICAN COAST

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hurricane Janet, considered the most vicious killer of the season's tropical storms, continued to move relentlessly toward the Mexican coast today.

Janet, already charged with taking the lives of hundreds in a little more than a week, was expected to hit a 150-mile stretch between Veracruz and Tuxpan.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Janet packed winds estimated up to between 125 and 150 m.p.h.

Torrential rains were forecast for the mountains to the west from Veracruz to Ciudad Victoria. Seas were expected to be rough along the coast as far north as Port O'Connor, Tex.

Janet, born Sept. 21, entered the Gulf of Campeche after slashing at the 225-mile-wide Yucatan Peninsula. A spokesman for President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico estimated the hurricane killed 150 or more persons in Yucatan and said the list of injured might run to several thousand.

Amateur radio operators in New Orleans picked up reports from Corozal, British Honduras, that 18 persons had been killed. The Rev. Philip Pick, a priest, radioed that preliminary reports showed 11 persons had been killed in Corozal, a town of 2,000, and seven others in nearby communities.

The messages said 500 persons had been made homeless in the city by winds he estimated at 150 miles an hour. Corozal was south of the hurricane's center.

These reports from Corozal put the death toll somewhat higher than dispatches received early today in Guatemala. The Guatemalan reports said six persons had been killed, and added that the hurricane had leveled most of Corozal province.

The Navy kept a full search for a hurricane hunter plane that vanished Monday morning with 11 men aboard.

FORTY HOURS' SERVICE CLOSE

Twenty-nine priests, including three monsignori were present in the sanctuary at the solemn closing of Forty Hours devotions at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church Tuesday evening.

The Rev. Fr. Richard Hartnett, of Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Catholic Church, McSherrystown, who led the public recitation of the Rosary during the services, asked that it be said "for the recovery of President Eisenhower."

More than 150 men took part in the procession including Holy Name members, college students and Puerto Ricans here for the harvest season.

Priests at the service included Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, V.F., Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Church, McSherrystown; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harold E. Keller, V.F., St. Mary's York; Rt. Rev. Msgr. William F. Culhane, Mt. St. Mary's College.

3 DEMOCRATS TALK POLITICS AT LUNCHEON

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP)—Three of the Democratic party's top men ate breakfast together at Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's Pedernales River ranch here today and probably had a lot to say about politics.

In addition to Johnson, Senate majority leader they were Adlai Stevenson, titular head of the national party and House Speaker Sam Rayburn who hopes to get the South back into the Democratic column in 1956.

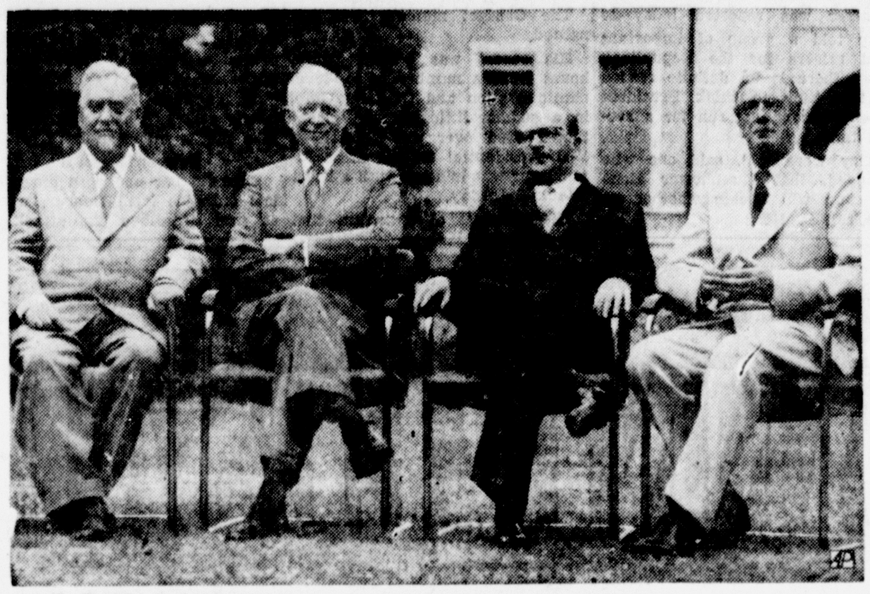

They spent the night as Johnson's guest after Stevenson's lecture before a crowd of 5,500 at the University of Texas in Austin last night.

Stevenson steered clear of serious politics in his speech, and refused to answer most reporters' questions, saying he had promised not to talk politics before his nonpartisan lecture under auspices of a University of Texas student committee.

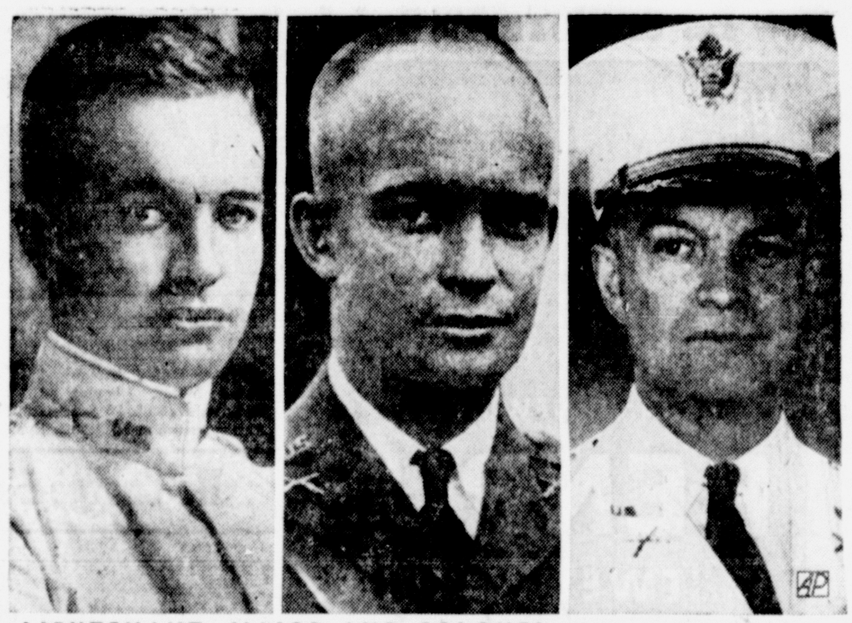

Asked if he still intended to wait until November to announce his political plans, Stevenson's reply was "Yes."

Much of Stevenson's 50-minute paid lecture stuck closely to the general subjects of trade and aid, and the need to back up talk about trade with other nations with performance.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

NEW PRR PLAN CUTS DIVISIONS FROM 18 TO 9

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will be two of the nine divisions to be created under the Pennsylvania railroad's management reorganization plan which goes into effect Nov. 1.

The Philadelphia division will direct PRR activities to Harrisburg, Pa.; the Cumberland Valley to Winchester, Va.; lines to Reading and Pottsville, Pa., and various branches.

Pittsburgh will headquarter lines to Wheeling, W.Va.; Steubenville, Ohio, and Rochester, Pa.; northeast to Red Bank; suotheast to Brownsville and Uniontown, Pa., and east to Johnstown, Altoona and Harrisburg.

The nine divisions will operate in place of the present 18 divisions and three regional, all interdependent.

Other regions in and around Pennsylvania will be:

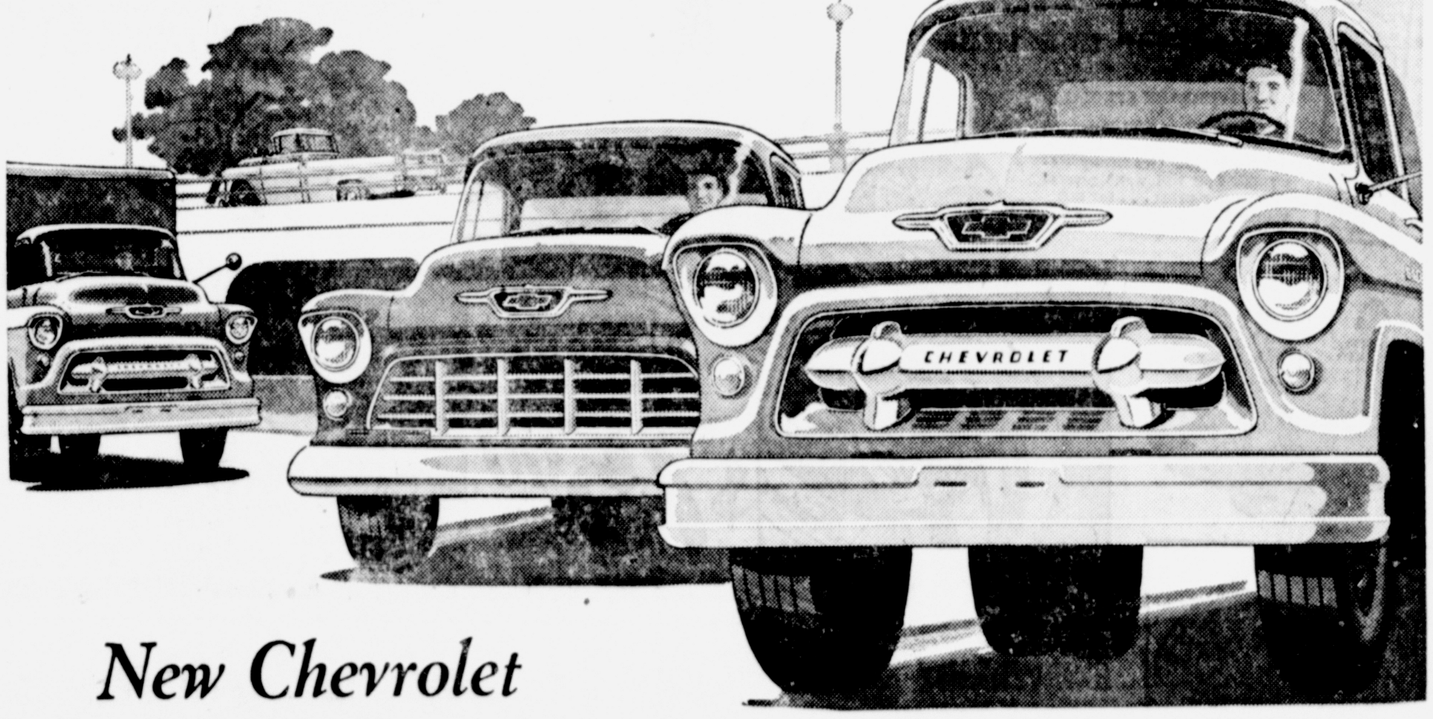

Chesapeake — Headquarters at Baltimore, lines from Philadelphia to Baltimore and Washington, to Cape Charles and the Delmarva Peninsula, and from Baltimore to York, Pa., with branches.

Northern—Headquarters at Buffalo, lines between Harrisburg, Williamsport, Pa., Olean, N.Y., Buffalo, and Erie, Pa.; between Williamsport and Sodus Point, N.Y.; between Sunbury and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; between Lock Haven and Tyrone, Pa.; between Olean and Rochester, N.Y.; between Oil City, Pa., and Buffalo, and between Red Bank and Driftwood, Pa., with branches.

Lake — Headquarters at Cleveland, the area from Rochester, Pa., to Crestline, Ohio, and lines to Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, to Erie and Ashtabula, Ohio, as well as lines from Columbus to Sandusky and from Cleveland to Marietta, Ohio.

Major railroads of the United Staten had 467 new locomotive units on order on Aug. 1, 1955. One year ago on the same date only 133 new locomotives were on order.

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

New Chevrolet
Task-Force Trucks

They're the most modern trucks on the road. If you don't get all the advantages they offer, you stand to lose money on the job today . . . and again at trade-in-time!

Most modern power—V8 or 6
In most new Chevrolet truck models, you have your choice of V8* or 6. Chevrolet's new truck V8's have the shortest stroke of any V8 in any leading truck! That means less friction and wear per mile. The valve-in-head sixes are new editions of the engines that have long been famous as the "work horses" of the truck world! And all Chevrolet truck engines have a modern 12-volt electrical system for quicker starting, better ignition and a greater electrical reserve.

The truck driver's "dream cab"
That's the closest we can come to describing the new Flite-Ride De Luxe cab. What truck driver wouldn't go for features like these: panoramic windshield for wider, safer vision; concealed Safety Step that stays clear of snow, mud and ice; High-Level ventilation that provides a more constant supply of outside air in all kinds of weather.

Most modern truck styling
We call it Work Styling—and you get it only in new Chevrolet trucks! Two fresh, functional styling treatments are offered—one for light- and medium-duty models, another for heavy-duty models. Your Chevrolet truck will do your job better—and look better doing it!

Most modern features throughout

*V8 standard in L.C.F. models, an extra-cost option in all others except Forward Control models.

PILOT READY TO FLY PRESIDENT TO GETTYSBURG

DENVER — President Eisenhower's personal pilot is already making plans to fly the Chief Executive back to his Gettysburg farm when and if his doctors give the word.

Lt. Col. William G. Draper, who flew hundreds of wounded soldiers across the Atlantic in World War II, said it would be "no problem at all" to transport the stricken President in the four-engined Columbine III.

The big Superconstellation could easily be converted into an "ambulance plane" with every safeguard to assure against any mishap during the 1,688 mile flight.

Draper, who has already discussed the problem with flight surgeons at Denver's Lowry Air Force Base, said flying is considered by far the safest method for transporting the President. No consideration is being given to moving Mr. Eisenhower by train.

Leave in Four Weeks

The President's pilot said he would prefer to fly into Washington National Airport, but could land at Hagerstown, Md., some 35 miles from Gettysburg. The President presumably would be driven the 85 miles from Washington to Gettysburg by ambulance.

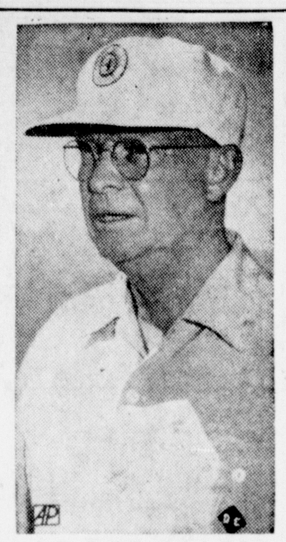

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist said in his cheerfully-worded report on the President's condition yesterday that Mr. Eisenhower could be flown to Gettysburg in about four weeks, if he continues to progress satisfactorily.

Draper said the President could easily be lifted into the plane on a mobile "elevator" of the type normally used to load and unload cargo. This would avoid any physical exertion or the necessity of carrying stepped-ramp by stretcher.

The Columbine, which was put into service only last year, always carries a supply of oxygen which would be available for use in any emergency.

With 40,000 daily trains and 600,000 employes British railways transport more than one million passengers a year.

Unless eggs are kept in a tight container they are apt to absorb strong flavors of other foods near them.

IKE THE GOLFER — The President wears white long-billed golfing cap given to him by golf course officials in Denver, Colo., 12 days before he suffered heart attack.

Wedding

Desenberg—Lehmer

Nancy Louise Lehmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lehmer, Dillsburg R. 2, became the bride of Navy Seaman Recruit Ronald Allen Desenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Desenberg, Rossville, September 18 at 2 p.m. at St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Rossville. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. James Nace.

Louise Ness, Rossville, the bridegroom's aunt, served as bridesmaid.

Ray A. Ness, Rossville, the bridegroom's uncle, was best man. Organist Arlene Stough, Dillsburg, played "I Love You Truly," "Because," "The Lord's Prayer" and the traditional wedding marches.

A reception was held for 75 guests at the home of the bride's parents. The couple is now residing at Rossville after returning from a trip to Pittsburgh.

The bride attended Northern Joint High School and is employed at Graybill Manufacturing Company, York. Seaman Desenberg also attended Northern Joint High School and joined the Distlefink batallion and was sworn in at Kutztown on July 4. He received boot training at Bainbridge, Md., and will report September 30 to Key West, Fla., for further assignment.

Cyprus, 43 miles from Turkey, is a historic island with 500,000 population. Most of its inhabitants are Turkish and Greek.

GOP CABINET MEMBER GIVES VIEW ON IKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cabinet member was reported today to have told a group of important fund raisers for the Republican party there is no definite reason at this time to think President Eisenhower cannot run for a second term.

They were told, said one who attended, that Eisenhower alone can and will decide whether he will run in 1956.

The Cabinet member was not named.

His report was echoed within hours from a number of top-level administration and GOP quarters, in a sudden lifting of the gloom that settled over the Republican 1956 presidential outlook after Eisenhower was laid low with a heart attack Saturday.

The outburst of optimism that Eisenhower might yet lead the party's ticket in the 1956 presidential race was based on an assessment in high administration quarters here that Eisenhower's heart attack was "the lightest kind that a man can have."

Denver Reports

This did not jibe with the medical bulletins from Denver, which at first described the attack as "mild" and later as "moderate—neither mild nor severe." Also, it appeared to ignore the fact that Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, told reporters that fingers must be kept crossed for the first two weeks after the attack, due to the possibility of complications.

The optimistic outlook did not jibe, either, with reports from Denver, where personal friends said it would be "unthinkable" to subject Eisenhower to the burdens of a 1956 political campaign and another four years in office.

Robin Roberts has led the National League in the number of innings pitched for the last four years and the Phillie standout figures to make it five straight this year.

THANKS MANY WHO AIDED BOY SCOUTS ON TREK

Attorney Eugene R. Hartman, chairman of the Black Walnut District Boy Scout Committee, today expressed his appreciation and thanks to those who assisted in the recent trek to the Washington area.

Hartman addressed a letter to committeemen which read in part as follows:

"The district chairman would like to commend Lieut. Col. Donald G. Williams, district camping chairman, for the excellent manner in which he set up the program, accommodations and meals for the scouts on the recent trip to Washington. It was, by far, the best organized, most educational and most recreational trip this district has ever had. I am sure I can speak for the parents as complimenting Col. Williams for making arrangements for the scouts to sleep in barracks, rather than on the damp ground Saturday evening.

"The district chairman also wants to commend the United States Air Force for their gracious acceptance of 120 scouts and in going out of their way to feeding, sleeping and entertaining us during our trip.

Commends Others

"Much praise is also due Dr. Frank T. Watson, district commissioner, for the orderly manner in which the trek was planned, regulated and led and for the excellent patch that he had prepared to award the boys for attending.

"The district also extends its thanks to the Gettysburg Construction Company and to Kerrigan's Paint Shop for the use of trucks to carry the equipment on our trip and to C. William Zhea and Edwin Motter for driving those trucks. Wolf's Bus Line, who furnished the transporation, were more than accommodating in shuttling us back and forth to the various places our program called for visiting, and last, but by no means least. The district chairman wants to commend the scouts themselves for their excellent conduct during the trip.

"There was not one occasion of any scout stepping out of line, and on Sunday morning when they went to church, all you parents would have been proud of the appearance of the boys and the manner in which they conducted themselves during both the Protestant and Catholic services. Their conduct during the whole trip and their courteous attention to the leaders at all times showed good home training on every parent's part and that the results of the scouting program in Black Walnut District are beginning to make an impression on all the boys."

Littlestown Scouts "Hike And Cook Out"

Brownie Troop 45 hiked from the engine house to the home of their assistant leader, Mrs. John Kump, near town Wednesday where a cookout was held.

Participating were: Peggy Altoff, Jane Basehoar, Sally Busbey, Jacqueline Elder, Carole Flickinger, Jean Hornberger, Joyce Hymiller, Judy Knight, Judy Koontz, Carolyn Kump, Barbara Muller, Barbara Pittenturf, Marianne Rudisill, Carol Stuller, Susanne Stuller, Jacqueline Wagaman, Loretta O'Donnell, Suzanne Weaver, Kathryn Weikert, Sharon Zumbrum, and the two new members who were received into the troop on Wednesday, Rebecca Keagy and Faith Redding.

Troop 45 will meet next Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in the engine house when each Brownie is asked to bring along one of each kind of fall or wild flower she can find.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

Mrs. George Schaefer, Prince St., was hostess to the Abigail Kammerer Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the monthly meeting Tuesday evening. Mrs. Charles E. Ritter, president, presided. Reports were given by Mrs. Schaefer, secretary, and Mrs. L. Robert Snyder, treasurer.

Those taking part in the discussions on "Pastors Transplanted," and "Youth at The Crossroads," Carl H. Baumgardner, Mrs. David S. Kammerer Sr., Mrs. Robert W. Gouker, Mrs. L. Robert Snyder, Mrs. Mahlon Bucher, Mrs. Charles E. Rabenstine, Mrs. Fred F. Blocher and Mrs. Milton Harner.

Mrs. Roy Dunkleberger will be the guest speaker at the annual thank-offering service on Sunday, Oct. 30. The second annual women's missionary convention will be held in First Lutheran Church, Chambersburg, Oct. 18. Several of the members are planning to attend. The guess package, given by Mrs. Schaefer, was received by Mrs. Gouker. The meeting concluded with the missionary benediction repeated in unison. Refreshments were served.

The society will meet Oct. 25 at the home of Mrs. Fred F. Blocher, E. Myrtle St., with Mrs. Milton Harner as leader for the topic discussion.

Preparatory and Holy Communion services will be held in St. John's Lutheran Church, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Christ Reformed Church and Grace Lutheran Church, Two Taverns, Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Luke's Union Church, near White Hall, will sponsor a public oyster supper on Saturday afternoon. Serving will begin at 4 p.m., in the parish hall.

Former Two Taverns Resident Expires

D. Calvin Rudisill, 91, formerly of Two Taverns, died in Grandview Hospital, Sellersville, Pa., Wednesday at 1 p.m. He was a son of the late John and Ann Bowman Rudisill. His wife, Mrs. Clara V. Stockslager Rudisill, died in November of 1939.

Surviving are three children: Rev. Dr. Earl Rudisill, Philadelphia; Mrs. Lewis Snyder, Perkasie, Pa., and John C. Rudisill, Hanover; four grandchildren; two great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Daisy Bittle, Littlestown R. 2.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Littlestown, will officiate. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Gettysburg.

Friends may call at the Funeral Home Saturday from noon until the time of the funeral.

A physician has assured Billy Hunter, ex-Yankee shortstop, that he will suffer no ill effects from the ankle he fractured on August 19 while playing for Denver.

When Del Miller sold the 15-year-old harness racing stallion Adios he received almost 24 times as much as he paid for the standardbred in 1948. He paid $21 000 at auction and sold Adios for $500,000.

Nixon Is Mentioned As GOP Nominee If Ike Dosen't Run But Many Leaders Undecided

By DONALD SANDERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Great indecision exists among professional Republican party workers over who would be the GAP's strongest candidate next year if President Eisenhower elects to return to private life.

Vice President Nixon was mentioned far more frequently than any other GOP figure by state Republican chairmen, national committeemen and national committeewomen reached by The Associated Press.

But almost two thirds of those replying to a questionnaire either declined to name a "strongest candidate" other than Eisenhower or mentioned from two to half a dozen men whom they termed equally good.

This uncertainty cannot be considered unusual. It was only five days ago that Eisenhower suffered a heart attack and thus set many party leaders to thinking for the first time about an alternaive.

Many Won't Speculate

Many of the 116 party leaders reached declined to speculate on a presidential nominee next year, if Eisenhower does not run, even though it was understood they would not be quoted by name if they did not wish to be.

Twenty-three named Nixon as being currently the strongest possible standard bearer next to Eisenhower. Some said he had gained this stature by his own efforts; others indicated they regard him as a logical successor now because of his position as vice president.

But 74 party leaders declined to voice any opinion, and 10 more mentioned up to a half a dozen possible candidates as strong, without ranking them in any order. more of those in the latter category included Nixon; several did not.

Others designed as the "strongest candidate" by two or more party officials were Chief Justice Earl Warren, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Milton S. Eisenhower; one each mentioned Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. William F. Knowland of California.

Similarly inconclusive were the party officials' replies to the question: "Do you believe Eisenhower should run again?"

More or less firmly, 5 said he should and 12 said he should not. The vast majority said he should if physicians tell him he is ound and would not be endangering his health.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Sanitary Water Board yesterday ordered these coal mine operators to halt operations until they have received drainage permits:

Selix Pinoschio, strip mine in Bigler Twp., Clearfield County; George Brehony, deep mine; Kluchinsky Coal Co., deep mine, and J. and J. Coal Co., deep mine, all Mahanoy Twp., Schuylkill County.

USSR MAINTAINS SILENCE ON ARMS FOR EGYPT ISSUE

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union kept silent Wednesday toward an American-Britishrequest that the Communists help in limiting the sale of heavy arms to Egypt and the Middle East.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan broached the issue to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at dinner here last night following Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's announcement that Red Czchoslovakia had agreed to swap such arms for Egyptian rice and cotton.

Dulles and Macmillan repeated to Molotov their desire, expressed in a statement earlier Tuesday, "to avoid an arms race which would inevitably increase the tensions" in the Middle East. In their statement they added the hope that other governments would be guided by the same aim.

The Soviet foreign minister did not comment, other than to say he would communicate the U.S.-British view to Moscow.

Pointing up the specter of an arms race, Israel's ambassador to Washington, Abba Eban, hinted to newsmen there that his government might ask for U.S. weapons if Egypt gets the Red arms.

In their statement Dulles and Macmillan in essence said they want Middle Eastern countries to have sufficient arms to keep order at home and repel aggression from abroard—but not enough to disturb the Arab-Israeli balance of power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that Americans are smoking more cigarettes now that, in its view, the "main impact" of the cigarettes-health controversy apparently has passed.

Reporting on "the tobacco situation," the department said Americans 15 years of age and over will smoke an average of nearly 10 pounds of tobacco in cigarettes during 1955.

That would represent a 1.2 per cent increase over last year but fall 4.8 per cent shy of the 1953 figure—a record.

Grow basil in a pot on your kitchen window. Keep the soil moist and pinch off the small leaves so the herb will "spread." Basil is, of course, a must for tomato sauce; it is also delectable in green salads and in vegetable soups. If you use it in the soup, mince it and add at the moment before serving.

GOP'S DISLIKE FEE INCREASE FOR VEHICLES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republicans reacted cooly Wednesday to Gov. Leader's highway program, calling for increases in license fees of passenger automobiles and light trucks.

Chairman Wade (R—Cumberland) of the Senate Highways Committee said he favored increasing state aid for local roads from 36 million dollars to a biennium to 60 millions, but added:

"I'm not too sure that there is a need for increasing the fees for passenger automobiles and light trucks by as much as the governor asked."

Questions Figures

Rep. Smith, House Republican floor leader, questioned Leader's use of figures in his message to the Legislature Tuesday.

"Gov. Leader must give the Legislature accurate and honest information before he can ask for bipartisan support for his highway program."

The governor asked for:

1. Increased registration fee for Pennsylvania's 3 million passenger cars by $5 a year to $15.

2. Boost light truck registration fees from $16.50 to $20 for one-ton vehicles (R license tags); from $26 to $30 for 1½ ton (S); $35 to $40 for 2-ton (T). These trucks would be allowed heavier loads, (R) from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds; S, from 7,000 to 8,000 pounds and T from 11,000 to 12,000 pounds.

3. Increase the biennial allocation to municipalities for local road construction and maintenance from 36 million dollars a biennium to 6 millions.

4. Boost the borrowing capacity of the Highway and Bridge Authority from its present limit of 80 million dollars to meet whatever increased fund-matching requirements is set up by the federal government.

Under the Leader program introduced in the form of legislation in the House Tuesday night, the Authority would be able to borrow approximately an additional 23 million dollars in the next two years.

STRAWBERRY SYRUP

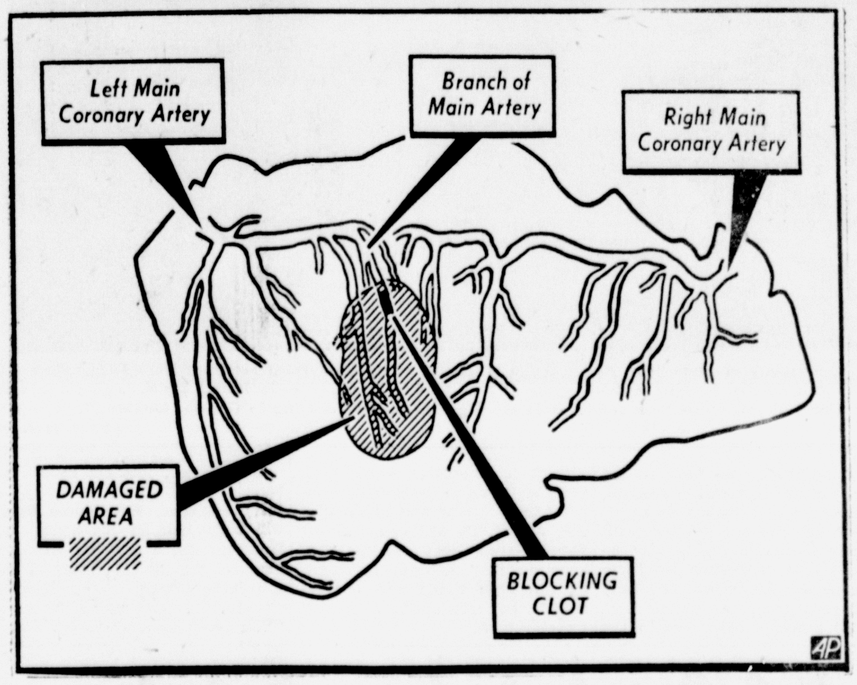

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—The nurse on duty at the University of Connecticut infirmary jumped to her feet when a student walked in, his white shirt splotched with red.

"What's wrong?" she cried.

"I'd like to have this sliver removed," the student said, holding out his hand. He explained the red on his shirt was strawberry syrup. He works in an ice cream shop.

If you have a swivel-blade vegetable parer that is razor-sharp, you can make attractive carrot fancies for a salad garnish. Pare the carrots and cut paper-thin lengthwise slices from them; refrigerate the slices, covered with iced water. The carrot slices will curl up into attractive shapes after a while and may be drained and used. Besides being used atop a salad, they are also attractive perched over black olives in a glass bowl.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A THROMBOSIS HITS

This is a simplified sketch of the human heart as it would appear if cut down the middle and folded outward—to show what happens when a coronary thrombosis occurs. In this case the blood clot, known as the thrombus, has formed in a branch of one of the main arteries. Like a plug, it has stopped the flow of blood to the heart. Shaded area represents the possible size of an area in the main heart wall which could be damaged because it has been deprived of its blood supply. (AP Wirephoto)

Hoover Commission Expires On Keynote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover Commission, whose keynote was economy in government, went out of existence Wednesday on a consistent note. It returned $83,000 in unspent funds to the Treasury.

During its two-year life, the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, received $2,848,534 from congress to finance its search for ways to streamline federal operations and cut expenditures.

The commission actually halted its work by law last June 30, but it was given another 90 days for liquidation chores. That time was up Wednesday.

OPERATE ON ACTRESS

BOSTON (AP)—Stage actress Katharine Cornell is scheduled to undergo an operation today for the partial removal of a lung lobe.

She entered New England Deaconess Hospital yesterday where her physician, Dr. Richard H. Overholt, described the ailment as a "small, chronic lung abscess."

The hospital said she will be able to fulfill a planned November tour.

WILSON STALLS ARMED SERVICE EXPENSE CUTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson was reported Wednesday to have concluded after a new survey that it would be militarily unwise for the armed services to cut their spending any further this year.

Informants said Wilson had assured Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes that the Defense Department would continue every effort — "look under every log" for more economy, as Humphrey has asked all government departments to do.

But they said the Pentagon chief also informed the administration's fiscal leaders that the only way savings approaching a billion dollars could be brought about in the military establishment would be by:

1. Cutting down the numerical armed forces strength, called the "force level.

2. Reducing contracts for planes, ships and other weapons and equipment, or

3. Through a combination of both.

Marie Dionne Will Enter Convent Again

QUEBEC (AP)—Marie Dionne, one of the quintuplets, is back at the Roman Catholic convent she left 16 months ago.

Authorities at the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament said Marie, now 21, had been permitted to return Sept. 12 as a novice instead of starting again as a postulant. She also resumed her religious name, Sister Marie-Rachel.

She first entered the convent in November 1953 but left in May 1954 because of poor health and extreme homesickness. She cannot become a permanent member of the order until she has served as a novice for two years.

Russia Is Given Warnings To Stay Out Of Arms Race To Win Middle East Favor

By A. I. GOLDBERG

NEW YORK (AP)—Two strong warnings by the West to Russia on Berlin and Middle East arms stood out today as the most significant outcome of the Big Three foreign ministers' meetings here.

A caution to stay out of an arms race for Middle East favor and stern notice that Russia's recognition of East Germany does not relieve her of responsibility for the Soviet zone of Germany proved, one authoritative informant said, "that we are not being lulled by words about the spirit of Geneva.

"When one party at Geneva by its acts starts muddling up tensions all over again, in other quarters, then the spirit of Geneva is being violated and we must say something about it," he added.

Outline Big Four Talks

The U.S., British and French foreign ministers concluded their talks yesterday on the framework for the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva beginning Oct. 27. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed readily to procedural details in private talks and at social meetings with his Western counterparts.

He even promised to tell his government of British and U.S. displeasure over reports that the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia figure in deals on arms for Egypt—arms the Egyptians said they could not get from the West because of excessive conditions they said the West demanded.

There were later reports that the Russians have offered to supply Saudi Arabia with arms.

Plans Other Issues

But on his side Mototov has served notice that he may ask the Big Four meeting in Geneva to agree to take up other questions besides the ones set for the ministers by President Eisenhower, Premier Bulganin, Prime Minister Eden and Premier Faure at the summit meeting in July.

A hint of that showed last night when the Soviet foreign minister talked with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan for an hour and 25 minutes in a meeting requested by Molotov, and opened up the question of pushing an election to unify Indochina.

Western sources also fully expect the Russians to demand a seat at the council table for East Germany—which the Ruslans announced last week would be recognized as a country—when the Big Four meets in Geneva.

That is a balking point for the West. In the official communique issued by the ministers after three sessions, they said that first priority is given unification of Germany by the West.

RULING ALLOWS ADDED LENGTH FOR TRANSPORT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader Wednesday signed into law a bill allowing trucks for transporting new cars to increase their overall length up to 30 inches beyond the maximum length for all other vehicles of the tractor-semi trailer type.

Other bills signed into law Wednesday will:

Eliminate the one-year residence requirement for persons filing for a divorce in Pennsylvania.

Authorize commissioners of first class townships to accept land given to the township for road purposes or street or park improvement.

Appropriate $600 to Elk Township, Warren County, for road maintenance on the Cornplanter Indian Reservation during the next two years.

Create a board in fourth to eighth class counties for the valuation and assessment of property for county, borough, town, township and school tax purposes and provide for appeal of assessments.

Credit members of police forces of municipalities to credit time spent in the military service during the Korean conflict toward their pension or retirement eligibility.

Allow employes of third class counties who served in the military service during the Korean conflict to be eligible for the same retirement benefits of the county as those serving in other wars.

Pronghorn antelope can run at 20 to 30 miles an hour with ease.

STUDENTS GET FLYING LESSONS IN ARIZONA HIGH

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — When King, 18, got his high school diploma he went down to the airport and got his private pilot's license.

He was one of 522 students in College Aviation Department, which is as much a part of the public schools as the physics, English or art departments.

The Phoenix schools are among the few with full-scale flying as a regular part of the curriculum. The set-up is accredited by the Civil Aeronautics Authority which says this is the kind of aviation education it would like to see open to all Americans.

The staff, four full-time instructors, four part-time instructors, a secretary and a director, is paid on the regular faculty scale, out of school district taxes. The department's offices and classrooms are at the airport. Maps and charts line the walls and the atmosphere, says Director Irvine B. Watts, "is strictly aviation." The department's laboratory hangar has seven light planes and three heavier planes for advanced students who are working for a commercial pilot's license.

The planes are serviced by aircraft mechanics students at Phoenix Technical High School. ACAA-approved instructor checks out their work.

500 Licenses, Ratings

Students pay about $150 in a school year to use the planes. More than 500 licenses and advanced ratings have been awarded to Phoenix Flying School students by the CAA since 1949.

In 26,000 hours in the air, the only blot on the school's safety record is a broken landing light run over by a nervous student. Cost: $11.67. The pilot is now flying four-engine Constellation reconnaissance planes for the Navy.

Watts says not one student has ever become lost on a flight. He credits this record to careful ground instruction.

When a teen-ager reports for flying, he gets an hour of ground instruction, then an hour in the air — right away. For every hour in the plane there's an hour on the ground, studying maps, naviagtion, meteorology and theory of flight.

After the students get the thrill of their first solo flight, they go back to dual instructors for three hours so the instructors can keep them away from bad habits.

Some students drive out to the airport in expensive sports cars, more show up in jalopies held together with string and baling wire. Kay James, 19, who soloed a year ago, attends because she "just loves to fly." William Mattingly, 20, has been flying only one semester, but he's out to be a commercial pilot.

Dan Armer, just out of the Air [illegible] tural engineer. He figures flying will help him in his work. Jay Brashear, 24, a reporter-photographer for the Phoenix Gazette, has a private license and is training [illegible] a commercial rating. He says: "You never know when you'll have to get to something in a hurry.'

Watts says reliability and self-confidence come naturally to a young pilot who has taken his plane on a 100-mile flight over open country, with only a map and a compass to guide him.

He pointed out Mike King. Only a few days before Mike won his wings, he came back to the classroom, dispirited over a bad landing.

"No alibis for him," Watts said. "That kid is learning how to profit by his mistakes. He came up to me and said: 'I just didn't do anything right . . . I guess it's back to more dual work for me until I straighten out.' "

What's behind this? Watts puts it this way:

"When you're up in the air you're alone. You're your own boss and you're free — free with life and death, maybe yours or somebody else's.

"Even at 18 years old the kids don't forget what that means."

Shilen Resigns Post; Takes Air Force Job

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Health Department Wednesday announced the resignation of Dr. Joseph Shilen, director of the Bureau of Industrial Hygiene and a department employe for 15 years.

Dr. Shilen said he had accepted an appointment as chief of the preventive medicine and occupational health services branch at Olmsted Air Force base at nearby Middletown.

BIG THREE FOREIGN MINISTERS MEET

PARENTS' PRIDE ENCOURAGES YOUNG MUSICIAN

CHICAGO — A parent's pride in a child's accomplishments is an important encouragement for a budding musician.

Dr. John C. Kendel, vice president of the American Music Conference and former director of music education of Denver, Colo. public schools, says a child's reluctance to practice is a very normal reaction. A few questions by a parent about lessons will encourage the child to want to learn.

The idea that music practice is work instead of play often results when parents, in their anxiety to give a child everything, consider music an investment rather than an intangible asset for the child's future happiness.

Dr. Kendel says the first step in smoothing the ruffled atmosphere at first mention of "time to practice" is quieting the child's suspicion that playing an instrument is a thankless task.

Children come by music naturally. They discover it when babies, and in kindergarten they are thrilled that they can make music with simple instruments such as flutes and ocarinas.

Want To Copy Parents

The first important consideration, however, should be the family's regard for music. Children instinctively want to pattern themselves after Mother and Dad. If either play a musical instrument, they'll want to play too.

Next, the music teacher's attitude toward the child's playing should match the home attitude — that it's fun to learn music and not just another form of homework.

Once the music lesson is no longer considered a "pain in the neck," the parent can permit the child to split his practice time into two or three units. This will keep him from getting restless and bored.

Dr. Kendel says it is up to parents to realize that the practice hour is important, if only to the child's ultimate use of music in his life.

LAWMAKER'S WIFE ORGANIZES HER SPENDING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Aime J. Forand, wife of the Democratic congressman from Rhode Island, guesses the reason her sister clubwomen put her in charge of exacting and responsible club duties is because she's "such a fuss-budget."

"I have my pocketbook all organized," she told me, "It holds separate little coin purses, sometimes as many as four. One is for my house money, one for my own spending money. Another holds a little surplus fund. There's one I never touch. It's for emergencies. I call it my mad money."

Now and then, the congressman's wife puts aside an extra $5 from her household account to build up a fund "to buy something special, like china or silver."

"With it," she told me, "I bought all of my beautiful Minton china service. Now, I'm buying my silver. You don't feel it that way."

Has Many Hobbies

Mrs. Forand, whose husband is now serving his ninth term in Congress, is a woman of many hobbies. "All my whole life is a hobby," she says, "for everything is interesting to me.' She's especially interested in gardening, her association with the solons' wives' Congressional Club for the good fellowship it brings, and she likes to cook.

"I'm especially proud of my pies — any kind of pie," she adds, "It's my pie crust that always brings me the compliments." Guests invited to the Forands' small dinners and picnic parties in the carefully tended yard of their suburban Washington home also praise the hostess's New England Chowder — "the kind with the tomatoes."

Always Liked Politics

The congressman and his wife have been interested in politics since their courting days. Rep. Forand, who nerved as secretary to two former Rhode Island congressmen who later became judges, was first elected to Capitol Hill in 1936. He had to quit school at 13 and took a 60-hour, $4.50-a-week job in the textile mills of his district. He got his secretarial training at night, his wife said.

Mrs. Forand has helped her husband in all his campaigns, and like her husband made speeches and radio talks in French. People of French descent make up the state's second largest population and comprise a large portion of the Congressman's district of 350,000 voters.

WHITE DONKEY AUCTIONED OFF BY DEMOCRATS

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A white donkey is heading for Pink Hill, N. C.

He's the little fellow bought in absentia at the recent auction here of the Women's National Democratic Club by the girl who was running the show, Mrs. Martin L. Friedman, wife of a local lawyer who was a White House staff assistant during the Truman administration.

The donkey was one of many items, some of historical importance, offered in the club's annual "White Donkey Sale" which brought the club around $5,500. It was the donation of Frederick Zeehandelaar, New York business man, who imported it from Mexico.

Mrs. Friedman bid $75 and much to her surprise, won it. Having no use for a live donkey around here, she decided to send it to the four children of her sister, Mrs. Hazel Stapleton, who makes her home with her father, The Rev. N. P. Farrior, Presbyterian minister, at Pink Hill.

"The National Democratic Donkey," as Pink Hillers intend to call it, was one of 289 items on sale.

Wilson Cane Is Tops

Bringing top money, $625, was a gold-headed cane that once belonged to President Wilson.

A coonskin cap donated by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) brought $35; one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's handkerchiefs brought $44; a pair of Cordell Hull's monogrammed silver compotes, $40; an original flower painting by Mrs. Dean Acheson, wife of the former secretary of state, $75; two 18th century globes, donated by Stanley Woodward, former U. S. ambassador to Canada, $105.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) paid $45 for a silver and glass inkwell used by Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House; an autographed album of

Associated Press Women's Editor

Little girls don't mind covering up their pretty dresses when Mom outfits the whole family in matching wrap-around aprons, decorated to the taste of the wearer.

For helping in the kitchen, keeping clean before a party or just saving on laundry problems, the cover-up apron is the answer to a busy mother's needs.

Though the aprons are made from separate patterns, they are exactly alike with snug front buttoning, brightly constrasting binding and big cobbler pockets. The individual touches come from the applique decorations — an apple and a glass of milk for little sister, an ice cream soda and a cupcake for big sister nd a doughnut and coffee for Mom.

Loal sewing center experts suggest you select lightweight denim in gay colors, perhaps making two aprons each for the children. The grown-up apron requires three yards of 39-inch fabric, the smaller sizes proportionately less.

You can make full use of the attachments for your sewing machine in making these aprons. The buttonholer will make quick work of the buttonholes; the automatic zigzagger will take care of stitching on the appliques; the multi-slotted binder will save hemming and facing by stitching on the bind-smoothly and quickly.

Transfer designs for the appliques are included with the patterns. These may be ironed onto the scraps of the fabric used for the appliques. When cutting out the designs, be sure to leave an inch all around each piece. Baste the cutouts in place and stitch around the design with the automatic zigzagger set for a narrow satin stitch. close to the line of stitching Be sure to put on appliques before attaching pockets to aprons.

Margaret Truman's records brought $15; and an autographed lithograph of Adlai Stevenson, donated by the former presidential candidate, $42.

A childhood doll, donated by Tallulah Bankhead, daughter of the late speaker of the House, was brought by Mrs. James P. McGranery, wife of the former attorney general.

The sale began at 10 a.m. and lasted far into the night. Rep. Kenneth Gray (D-Ill), accomplished former auctioneer, presided over the evening session, adding much to the liveliness of the occasion with his tobacco-market shoutings.

When a polka-dotted bow tie, donated by Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams of Michigan, brought an initial bid of $2, typically Rep. Gray harangued: "We don't want to rent it, we want to sell it." The bidding went up to $7 when it was finally sold.

SURGERY HELPS RESTORE MANY AILING HEARTS

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Sick and hungry human hearts are being transformed to health by a new era of bold, brilliant surgery.

Surgeons, dreaming of things once considered impossible, went pioneering so that today:

Several different operations can bring renewed life and strength to hearts damaged by attacks such as President Eisenhower suffered.

Heart-lung machines can put human hearts and lungs on complete vacations while they are opened and repaired.

The blood circulation of a sick child and healthy adult can be linked together during surgery.

Spare arteries taken from the dead are banked, then used to replace damaged or missing sections of living persons' arteries. Even animal arteries have been transplanted into humans.

Plastic Valves

Plastic valves have been substituted for damaged heart valves.

Most of these surgical advances have blossomed within the lst 10 years.

There are two main technijues for helping some victims of bad heart attacks. In a coronary thrombosis similar to President Eisenhower's, a clot blocks one or more of the branches of arteries that bring nourishment to the heart muscle. Recovery depends upon expansion and extension of other arteries, or growth of new arteries, to nourish the area deprived of blood supply.

Bad attacks leave many persons weak, short of breath, subject to pain on exertion, often true heart cripples.

Create New Blood Supply

One remedy is to irritate the heart, stimulating the heart muscle to create a new blood supply. Sterile talcum powder or asbestos powder is put inside the sac surrounding the heart. The talcum technique was devised by Dr. Samuel Thompson, New York, and the asbestos treatment by Dr. Claude S. Beck, Cleveland.

Secondly, the heart hungry for blood can, in effect, be given a new artery. Dr. Beck takes a piece of vein from the arm, then hooks in on the heart so some blood being pumped from the heart is fed into the heart muscle.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Montreal, Canada, snips an artery that runs down through the chest, swings one end of it over and buries it in a tunnel in the heart muscle. It becomes a third artery feeding the powerhouse of life. In time, he reports, an additional network of little blood vessels appears, distributing the new supply of blood.

INSTITUTIONAL STOCK BUYING IS ON UPSURGE

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp breaks and brisk rallies in stock prices since President Eisenhower's illness swing the spotlight again on the role of the institutional buyer and seller of stocks.

Does he steady the market? Or does he have a part in making price swings more violent?

The volume of shares the institutional investors buy or sell daily has spurted 60 per cent in the last three years, the New York Stock Exchange reports today. And 39 per cent of institutional trading volume is in blocks of 1,000 or more shares.

Institutional investors include: pension funds, life, fire and casualty insurance companies, mutual savings banks, mutual funds, personal trusts, estates, guardianships, investment club, eductional institutions, religious foundations and profit sharing plans.

Traders watching this week's nervous market have been asking: What are the institutions doing? These have many of the largest holdings of stocks. And when they enter the market it's news.

Under Scruting

A Senate subcommittee is eyeing the general role of the institutional investor in the stock market.

The institutions point out that because they neither rush in rashly to buy nor panic easily and sell, they are a stabilizing influence on the market.

"The Stock exchange is usually regarded as a marketplace primarily for individual members of the public" notes its president, Keith Funston. He adds that this is largely still true. But he says a study by the exchange spells out the growing importance of institutional investors in the market.

This study is one of a series by the exchange at irregular intervals since 1952 showing amounts of purchases and sales by each type of investor.

Funston notes that despite the increased interest of the life insurance companies in corporate securities, two thirds of all institutional share volume is for the portfolios of personal trust funds, mutual funds, estates, pension funds, closed-end investment companies and investment clubs.

Halt PUC Order To Split Bridges Cost

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The state Superior Court Wednesday upheld a Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission order which fixed the division of costs between the Department of Highways and the Pennsylvania Railroad in the construction of two railway-highway bridges, one in Camp Hill and the other in Falls Twp.

The Department of Highways had sought to upset the PUC order which provided the railroad pay only $100,000 plus "certain fractional costs" while the remaining million dollars be paid by the state.

The highways department has estimated that the Camp Hill project, involving two separate structures, will cost $392,924, while Rt. 150 over nine PRR tracks in Falls Twp. would cost an estimated $690,868.

Add half a teaspoon of almond extract to a package of thawed frozen sliced peaches; serve over packaged vanilla pudding or a baked custard.

Any of your small fry need building up? Then serve the youngster an orange eggnog for a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack. To make it, beat together an egg, a cup each of orange juice and milk, a tablespoon or two of honey and a dash of salt. This makes enough for Mother to have a taste, too.

A BABY NEEDS SPECIAL AIDS FOR DIGESTION

The Associated Pres

Mrs. Baker asked me the other day why all the fuss about a baby's formula. Why couldn't she just feed Amy regular milk?

The answer is: Amy is a human baby, not a calf. Cow's milk is fine for a cow's baby, but not for Mrs. Baker's baby. Amy could not digest cow's milk just as it comes from the cow. Amy could digest mother's milk but if we are going to feed her cow's milk we will have to change it so Amy can handle it.

Raw cow's milk forms great big tough curds in the baby's stomach. (Breast milk forms tiny crumbly curds).

The curds of cow's milk can be made smaller and softer by boiling the milk. You can boil it yourself, or you can use evaporated milk, which is heated in the process of manufacture.

Another way of softening the curd of milk is the process of homogenization.

Must Be Diluted

But even milk treated in one of these ways is too strong for most young babies. It needs to be diluted with water. However, once diluted, it is too weak to nourish the baby adequately. Therefore we must add some extra calories to the mixture. This is done by adding some form of sugar or carbohydrate.

Thus we have our basic formula, treated cow's milk plus water plus carbohydrate.

There can be many variations on this basic formula depending upon what kind of milk you use and what kind of carbohydrate.

You can make the mixture yourself or you can use one of the already prepared mixtures available.

Prepared Foods

Most of the prepared baby foods are basically cow's milk plus a carbohydrate. In some of them the butter fat is removed and a fat more closely resembling human milk fat is added. In some prepared mixtures vitamins and minerals are added.

Most babies do very well on the simple mixture you make at home. However, some infants with delicate digestive systems do much better on one of the special mixtures.

Once in a while we find a baby who cannot handle any form of cow's milk. Then we must use a formula based on some other form of protein. Goat's milk is used occasionally. There are also special mixtures using soy beans in place of milk.

Your doctor will know how to select the right formula for your baby.

Keep Germs Out

Whatever formula you use you must prepare it so that no germs get into the mixture. Germs love baby food. If you let a few slip in while you're preparing the formula they will grow rapidly in the good food. By feeding time there may be many thousand present — enough to make your baby sick.

All the ingredients you use must be sterile. Either you must boil the milk or it must come from a freshly opened can. Always boil the water you use to dilute the milk. The utensils that touch the milk mixture in preparing it and the bottles you use to store it mus be boiled.

Treating tobacco plant beds in the fall is usually more successful than in the spring.

STUDYING HEN THAT TURNED INTO ROOSTER

ST. CLAIRVILLE, Ohio (AP) — University of Ohio agriculture professors are seeking more data on why hens turn into roosters. They have accepted a rooster which Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Fulton say was a hen for a year and a half. They have not announced what studies they plan, but it was explained that such transformations take place often enough to be recognized, although they may not be fully understood.

Mrs. Harlan Flemming who manages a number of poultry farms says such transformation "is not too rare and has happened in a number of cases."

She says it is caused by an unusual gland disease "which accentuates the male traits and actually turns the chicken, physically and mentally, into a rooster."

But the change caused considerable excitement on the Fulton farm. Two years ago the Fultons got 50 mail order chicks and, after culling, had 23 hens and one rooster.

Turns Troublemaker

Fulton says:

"The hens laid well and the flock was fat and contented. Then I sensed something was wrong. One of the hens turned trouble maker and the rest of the hens would gather in one corner and stare at her. Then I saw that she was growing a large comb and spurs started to grow on her legs. She would fly at the rooster and fight it."

One morning the hen-rooster crowed 12 times and several times it escaped and visited other flocks. Fulton got in touch with the University of Ohio experts and turned the chicken over to them.

He says that the hen laid at least 100 eggs before the changes started.

Here's a pretty luncheon salad. Cut away the stem ends from tomatoes and make four or five parallel cuts through each almost to the bottom. Add finely diced cucumber and radish to cream-style cottage cheese; pile the cottage-cheese mixture into each cut of the tomatoes. Garnish with salad greens and serve with French dressing.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE LIKES ITS NEW NAME

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich (AP)—Michigan State College is like a bride-to-be, happily writing and rewriting her new name.

Effective July 1, the name became Michigan State University.

The college is preparing to change stationery, signs and silverware and even will repaint the initials on the campus smoke stacks.

The business of making it legal wasn't easy, however.

Originally established as an agricultural school in 1855, the college had mushroomed into a university in all but name.

The feeling on the campus at East Lansing was that the "University" tag would put the frosting on the cake for the 100th anniversary.

University Objects

When the name change proposal was first introduced in the Michigan legislature last year, an angry roar of protest was heard from the University of Michigan at nearby Ann Arbor. The proposal was hastily withdrawn But it was only a strategic retreat by MSC. When the bill came up again this year, the University of Michigan and its backers rushed in to do battle.

Arguments reached a stage of bitterness generally reserved for the intense football rivalry between the two schools. UM partisans declared that the proposed change would lead to horrible confusion and would dilute the prestige of the University. Wills would be drawn up leaving money to the wrong school, they said. MSC backers tartly countered that graduates of the University of Michigan School of Law should be qualified to see that this doesn't happen.

MSC students dragged in a petition carrying 11,000 names. Letter-writers for both siden overwhelmed the lawmakers.

The sentiment was with Michigan State. A surprising 88-14 vote in the House and a 23-2 margin in the Senate approved the change. UM spokesmen admitted afterward their opposition had been "too little and too late."

In the absence of, but with the approval of, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart signed the bill into law. Ironically, both are UM graduates.

There is only one chance of a hitch now. The University of Michigan may still make a court issue out of the matter and ask for an injunction to prevent the change.

Meanwhile, members of the senior graduating class were asked to vote on whether they wanted their diplomas on schedule from Michigan State College or would prefer to have them mailed out late from Michigan State University.

The majority wanted to be University graduates with only nine favoring MSC diplomas. One rebel wanted a diploma from Michigan Agricultural School.

HOUSEWIVES HELP TO RUN PARIS STORE

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Thanks to an American idea, housewife-customers now help run the biggest department store in Paris.

Under a novel Council of Clients plan the store (Au Printemps) lets 70 women customers select its merchandise and review and improve its organization.

After a two-year experimental period, the store says the scheme is a great success and will be continued.

The idea came from U.S. consumer panels and polls, but, said a spokesman, "We knew French people wouldn't answer poll questions at home to make criticisms and indicate their preferences. So we hit on this idea instead."

Council members serve for two years on one of two committees — selection or general organization. They attend up to 14 meetings a year to examine samples and pass on merchandise or discuss displays and organization.

"Delighted To Do It"

For all this work they are paid — not a sou. "They are delighted to do it for nothing," a store spokesman insists. "They know about all the bargains that way. It puts them one up on their friends." Anyway, he indicates with a shrug, women just naturally like to criticize, and wouldn't miss an opportunity.

"All we give is tea or a cocktail after the meetings."

They do not even have a card to indicate membership, and get no preferential treatment in the store, but their complaints always have the management's ear.

Customers were invited to apply for membership on the council through handbills. Others were selected from address files of clients who had made big purchase or complaints.

At the recent annual meeting, president P. Laguonie faced the newly selected council to invite criticisms and suggestions.

"Why can't you keep the store open on Mondays?" asked the first woman who popped up. The old French habit of closing shops on the first day of the week came under attack from several other housewives, one pointed out. "It makes a bad impression on our foreign visitors."

Opposed To Monday

Smiling, Laguonie admitted, "I know it gives foreigners the impression that the French don't like to work." He then explained that the store's workers are dead set against it even though they would be paid 50 per cent extra under labor laws. But the management supports the idea of being open Mondays, "and I don't despair of convincing the personnel," he added.

Some improvements the first council was responsible for included a free cloak room for customers, a direct elevator to the top-floor tea shop, and an on-the-premises repair shop for appliances.

Like most French shops, the store has no personal credit plan (though it does sell large household items on installment). When the customers' council was asked whether it favored credit, for women's ready-to-wear, for example, they turned it down cold.

Candidly, they said, what Frenchwoman would want to continue paying for a dress she was already tired of wearing?

YOUTH IS ARRAIGNED

Mother And Son Deny Alleged Father Murder

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A 36-year-old woman and her son by a previous marriage pleaded innocent Tuesday at their arraignment on a charge of murdering the woman's husband.

Mrs. Stella Cienialski, 36, and Alphonse Casner, 13, were committed to jail without bail after they entered their plea before Alderman P. J. Boland. Dist Atty. Carlon O'Malley said the boy fired the shot which killed his stepfather, Anthony Ciesielski, Sunday. He said the mother and boy plotted the killing because of frequent quarrels with Ciesielski.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — Mr. and Mrs. John Mansberger have returned from Toledo, O., where they visited the latter's brothers and sisters. They also visited Mr. Mansberger's sister, Mrs. Harry Gabbard and family, in Connersville, Ind.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the York Springs Methodist Church made plans for a Halloween party and a plastic and parcel post sale at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold King with 10 members in attendance.

The group will meet for the Halloween party October 21 at the home of Mrs. Jerry LaRue. Members may bring their families. The sale will be held September 30 at the church at 7:30 p.m. where toys and gifts will be displayed as Christmas suggestions. The articles will be displayed from noon of that day until the meeting for the benefit of those who cannot attend the party. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Martin attended the wedding of the latter's niece, Miss Donna Jean Croft, Bedford, and Walter Remale Grove, New Jersey, Sunday in the Bedford Methodist Church and the reception afterwards at the Penn Bedford Hotel. The bride is a nurse at the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg.

Mr. Grove, a graduate of Juniata College, is a chemist.

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Annie Smith were a nephew, Amos Wagner, Norco, Calif., and Milton Wagner, Harrisburg; Mrs. Earl Hikes and Frank Bream, Hanover; Charlotte Wahley, Mt. Tabor; Mrs. Bertha Umholtz, Delaware, and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith, Frederick, Md.

D. B. Harlacher, who was a patient in the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg, for observation and treatment for a week, was recently taken to the home of his son, Frank Harlacker, Harrisburg.

A covered dish supper and program were held Tuesday evening by the York Springs Fire Company Auxiliary in the fire hall with 19 members of the Cashtown Auxiliary as guests. The group sang "I Would Be True." Devotions were led by the auxiliary chaplain, Mrs. George Lay.

Darlene Wonders sang, "Open Up Your Heart" and Mary Jane Reinecker read "Summer's End." Bonita Bubb and Lucille Holliday sang a duet and Mrs. John Brough read an article entitled "Neighbors." Mrs. Elmer Coulson read "Betty at the Baseball Game." There was group singing and prizes were awarded for games. Members of both organizations were introduced.

School Progress Is Examined At Congress

HARRISBURG (AP)—Educational leaders from every corner of the commonwealth were on hand Wednesday for the 35th annual Education Congress.

Dr. Ralph C. Swan, acting superintendent of public instruction said in a statement the two-day meeting will examine recent and anticipated developments in the commonwealth's public school system.

Dr. Allen H. Wetter, superintendent of Philadelphia schools, discussed what schools should accomplish.

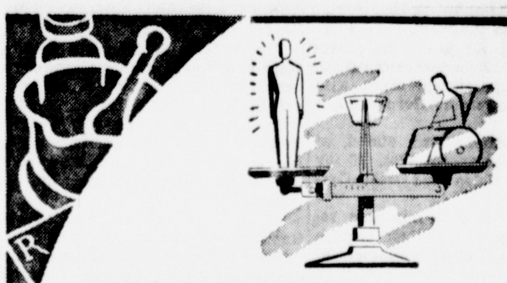

In other talks L. H. Snader, chief of the Secondary Education Division of the Department of Public Instruction, said the trend in education is "toward the practical," and Harry N. Gaser, chief of the department's Elementary Education Division, declared a "concerted effort must be made to improve the quality of elementary education being offered in our public schools today."

WESTERN BIG 3 AFFIRM UNITY AGAINST EAST

NEW YORK (AP)—The Western Big Three in a joint statement said Wednesday they do not recognize any East German regime—a move apparently intended to keep Berlin accessible to the West.

They said the Soviet Union remains responsible for carrying out obligations previously made with the three powers on Germany and Berlin.

The statement was aimed at agreements reached Sept. 20 by the Soviet Union and East Germany.

The three foreign ministers reaffirmed the view of their governments that "final determination of German frontiers must await a peace settlement for the whole of Germany."

One German Government

They reaffirmed also their stand that "the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany) is the only German government freely and legitimately constituted and therefore entitled to speak for Germany as the representative of the German people in international affairs."

The Big Three statement was issued by Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Pinay.

Soon afterward they sat down for their second day of meetings preliminary to a Big Four foreign ministers' conference with Russia starting Oct. 27 at Geneva. Sitting in with them was Henrich von Brentano, West German foreign minister.

Ferris Calls Charge Trick Against GOP

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Donald W. Van Artsdalen of Bucks County Wednesday investigated charges that County Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris embezzled funds in his care.

The accusation was made Tuesday by three Democratic county leaders. Ferris, who is also Republican county chairman, labeled the charges false and branded them "a political trick."

Van Artsdale said he had asked state police and the state attorney general's office to help in his investigation of the charges.

"The charges are not true," said Ferris, a 50-year-old Ottsville tavern operator who is seeking re-election as coroner in the Nov. 8 general election.

"They are trying to discredit the Republican party through me."

The charges were aired at a news conference by county Democratic Chairman James B. Bowen, County Commisioner John T. Welsh and Gilbert J. Kraus of Furlong.

OPEN NEW SERVICE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Wednesday announced train service between Philadelphia and Levittown. The new service will go into effect October 30.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader Wednesday appointed subject to Senate confirmation, Ernest W. Hoffman, East Berlin, York County, as justice of the peace in Washington Towrship.

DRASS BROKERS UNDERGO PROBE

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Securities Commission sought further court action Wednesday in an inquiry of stock transactions of the J. H. Drass Co., Inc., Sunbury brokerage firm.

Frank N. Happ, commission chairman, said a hearing before Northumberland County Court would further develop the company's status.

The firm was placed in receivership pending an inquiry into what commission investigators term a $100,000 shortage in the company's accounts. The receivership was ordered Sept. 15 by Judges William I. Troutman and Robert Fortney, of Northumberland County Court.

Happ said the commission held a two-hour hearing in Harrisburg yesterday "to see what it could do to alleviate the condition of the people of Sunbury in this case."

The firm, one of the largest brokerage houses in central Pennsylvania, has more than 300 active accounts.

One firm official, who declined quotation by name, said that because of the frozen accounts many investors stand to lose stock value in the general market decline that followed President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Special Egg Award Goes To Mount Joy

HARRISBURG (AP) — Winners of five special awards totaling $525 for quality in eggs laid by more than 1,000 hens in the 1954-55 state egg laying test were announced Wednesday by Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning.

Top prize of $250 went to the Greider Leghorn Farm, Mt. Joy, whose pen of 13 leghorns produced eggs with a quality score of 9812 per cent over 50 weeks.

George M. Anthony, Strausstown, winner of the state egg laying test which closed last week, finished second in the quality test with a 98.09 per cent score and a prize of $100.

Another ward went to Ralph C. Bolton, Schafferstown, 97.65 per cent, $50.

REDS INSULT CHINA'S YEH

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and other top Communint delegates stalked from the U. N. Assembly chamber Wednesday when Nationalist China's Foreign Minister George Yeh started a policy speech.

Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon also left the room as Yeh began his declaration in which he told the Assembly that any improvement in East-West relations in not due to Soviet good will. It is due, he said, "to the policy of strength adopted by the free world."

It was recalled that last year when Assembly delegates paid tribute to the late Soviet delegate, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Nationalist Chinese were absent.

Only the heads of the Soviet, Polish, and Czechoslovak delegations — and Menon — left the room. Other members of each Soviet bloc delegation remained in their seats.

Yeh told the Assembly that collective security measures in Europe and Asia have served as the main block to the advance of world communism.

Tower City Man Sets Fire To Hotel Room

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) — John Snesavage, 41, of Tower City, was charged with arson Tuesday after setting fire to his hotel room in a fit of anger at his wife's leaving him, police said. The fire spread and badly damaged the hotel's entire second floor.

Police quoted Snesavage as saying he used a pick to smash a refigerator, bed, tables and other furniture in the room and then set fire to the room, in the three-story Stone Hotel.

Fire companies from five towns were called to quell the blaze.

Snesavage was held without bail in Schuylkill County Prison following his arraignment.

A record of 3½ million cars were scrapped in 1954.

Slayer 'Loses Head' When Child Bites Him

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Roscoe Lane Jr., 23, was charged with homicide Tuesday after admitting that he beat a three-year-old boy fatally Monday, police said.

Detectives quoted Lane as saying he "lost his head" and struck little Earl Sanders when the boy refused to stop eating candy and bit Lane who was trying to take the candy away.

Lane was visiting in the child's home while the boy's mother, Mary Sanders, was away at work. Lane and the Sanders family are negroes.
